HAPPY NEW YEAR!—IN AMERICA

FAVORITE TUNES DIALED OUT BY ASCAP DEMANDS

Radio Stations Have New Fare Ready.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

New York, Jan. 1 [Wednesday].—A new musical bill of fare for America's radio listening audience was offered today promptly at the end of the old year.

Because of the prolonged deadlock between radio broadcasters and the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, the bulk of musical compositions written and copyrighted during the last half century faded from the air. In its stead the radio industry introduced its composers, its new arrangements of favorites and dipped deeply into the public domain field of uncopyrighted tunes.

674 Stations Quit ASCAP.

Broadcast Music, Inc., the melody factory built by radio to compete with ASCAP, announced that 674 stations thruout the country had contracted to use its music. ASCAP claimed 127 stations with expectations of signing more than 200.

The fight arose last spring when ASCAP proposed a new five year contract and sought to boost the fees to be paid for its music by several millions annually. Radio said ASCAP had raised the ante from four to nine million dollars a year.

Since April, when it was created, BMI has been turning out music to meet the radio appetite. In the popular song field BMI is offering "There I Go" and "Practice Makes Perfect." Henceforth ASCAP will not be able to push such popular tunes as "Trade Winds" and "Two Dreams Met."

Turn to Old Masters.

Owners of the 28½ million radio receiving sets operating in this country may expect to hear a great deal more of such old reliables as Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Haydn, Schubert, and Mozart. The works of such American composers as Victor Herbert, George Gershwin, Ferde Grofe, Jerome Kern, Sigmund Romberg, Cole Porter, Irving Berlin, and Billy Hill are controled by ASCAP, and therefore taboo.

Here is an example of a program of BMI and public domain music played over WOR, key station of the mutual network in New York and New Jersey, by Guy Lombardo's orchestra, tonight:

New arrangement of "Auld Lang Syne," the band's theme song; "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," "No Foolin'," "Stop Running Around My Heart," "Frenesi," "I Give You My Word," "My Favorite Song," and "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Watch for Infringement.

ASCAP, too, is planning a finish fight. At midnight employes of the society in 31 cities started machines to record musical programs played on the radio to catch any infringement of copyright. Gene Buck, ASCAP president, who wrote the lyrics for 20 Ziegfeld shows, was reported ill in bed as a result of his work on the firing line for the society.

BMI announced it had taken out $1,000,000 insurance of which one-fourth was written by Lloyd's of London, to indemnify any station or advertiser sued by ASCAP.

BMI INCORPORATED IN ILL.

Broadcast Music, Inc., which becomes one of the main sources of music for radio starting today, yesterday filed papers of incorporation in Illinois with the county recorder's office. BMI, as it is known to the trade, was organized over a year ago by the National Association of Broadcasters to provide new sources of music for the broadcasting industry in the face of the expiration last midnight of a five year contract with the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers [ASCAP].

BMI stock is offered only to the radio networks and broadcasting stations.

BMI in Illinois is authorized to operate with a capital stock of 100,000 shares with a par value of $1 a share. Of this 57,946 shares have been issued. This, together with a surplus of $231,784, give it a total capital of $289,730. Local BMI offices will be opened in the Woods theater building, 54 West Randolph street. James Cairns, who has been associated with Chicago music publishing interests, will be the manager.

Save 500 Left on Island by Nazi Raiders

SINGAPORE, Jan. 1, Wednesday (AP).—Five hundred men, women, and children landed by German commerce raiders Dec. 21 on the Emirau island of the Bismarck archipelago have been rescued by an Australian ship and taken to Australia, it was announced officially today.

The rescued persons included British, French, and Norwegian nationalities. There were 70 women and 7 children in the group.

Seized in "Several Months."

Admiral Sir Geoffrey Layton, commander in chief of Britain's China station, said the situation was not so alarming as it first appeared, the survivors having come from ships sunk over several months and not from a sudden wave of sinkings within the last few weeks.

The passengers and the seamen were said to have come from the following ships: Rangitane, Holmwood, Notou, Ringwood, Triona, Triadic, Triaster, Vinni, Turakina, and Komata.

The admiral said the British and Australian navies were "well aware of the activities of the raiders and appropriate measures are being taken."

FATE OF 7 SHIPS BARED.

The Turakina, Notou, and Holmwood previously had been reported sunk, but this was the first disclosure of the fate of the seven others.

Largest of the newly disclosed losses was the Rangitane, a 16,712 ton British steamer. The others, of which two were Norwegian and the remainder British, ranged down to 3,000 tons.

DODE FISK YEARNED FOR A JOLLY FUNERAL, AND HE WILL GET IT

Columbus, O., Dec. 31 (AP).—Dode Fisk's funeral will exemplify the merry performances he fashioned in life. The 81 year old retired circus owner, who originated the "Dode Fisk Great Combined Shows," died today.

Long ago the showman stipulated the proceedings of his funeral. And Thursday his friends will abide by his wishes.

The requiem will be sounded by a violin, saxophone, and piano. Then a band will play:

1. "McCloud's Reel" [five times].
2. "The Music Goes 'Round and 'Round" [three verses].
3. "Du Rang's Hornpipe" [five times].
4. "Happy Days" [three verses].

William S. [Doc] Waddell, minister and former showman, was asked to come from the Masonic home at Springfield to be the "master of ceremonies." Fisk had written:

"Doc will tell all the good things about me and leave out the bad things."

The service will conclude with "The Devil's Dream" [five times].

There will be a single flower—a sunflower. Fisk's wife, Lulu, was instructed to "dress as if she were going to a party."

Fisk was born at Wonewoc, Wis. He sold his circus in 1909 to John Robinson and then took over the management of the new Gayety theater in Chicago.

GETTING SOAKED FOR NEW YEAR NO JOKE IN HAVANA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Dec. 31.—Several hundred thousand merrymakers of Havana and some 3,000 Americans whose cruise steamers chose this stopping place for New Year's eve, joined tonight in a tumultuous and roaring welcome to 1941.

Other thousands of Cubans welcomed 1941 in their homes and probably had the most fun at the midnight hour. They had the unpunished privilege of throwing buckets of cold water from their balconies or windows, drenching the passersby in the street. Rich or poor, in full dress or diplomatic regalia, it mattered not who the victim was. If his clothes were ruined and his evening spoiled, it was his own hard luck, at the stroke of midnight he should have been under shelter and remained there for the 15 minutes the artificial rainstorm lasts.

The custom is a century old. Traditionally the householder is throwing out the evils, bad spirits, and hard luck that have pursued him during the year. Many a tourist tonight paid for his ignorance of the custom.

U. S. May Take Raw Material for Arms Rent

Washington, Dec. 31 (AP).—The possibility of receiving payment in raw materials for some of the war implements which may be lent or leased to Great Britain was raised today by President Roosevelt, as congress squared away for a battle royal on the whole lease-lend program.

At a press conference, Mr. Roosevelt said that rubber, tin and other commodities might prove acceptable repayment for American fighting equipment sent to England and destroyed beyond repair. The principal problem just now, he indicated, was drafting legislation which would assure the return of the implements or their equivalent in other goods.

A reported inquired whether replacements might involve British islands in the Atlantic, but the President dismissed that idea as silly.

May Be in Annual Message.

A little earlier the President's secretary, Stephen Early, told reporters that Mr. Roosevelt probably would discuss the lending-leasing plan in his annual message to the new congress, to be delivered in person on Monday. But, he added, Mr. Roosevelt probably had not decided whether to go into detail or cover the subject in a general way.

The day also brought a striking development in the aid-to-Britain program with the announcement that England had purchased three new flying boats of the Atlantic Clipper type from Pan-American Airways.

At his press conference, Mr. Roosevelt was asked whether his statement of Sunday night that there was no intention of sending an American expeditionary force into the European war applied to the navy and air force as well as the army.

Mr. Roosevelt replied that he had read all kinds of things in newspaper interpretations of his remarks that he had never thought of in his life.

Discusses Lending Plan.

The possibility of permitting England to pay for war implements later with raw materials, arose out of an explanation by the President of how the lease-lend plan might work out. He took, for example, three guns supplied to Great Britain under the scheme.

One might never be fired and could obviously be returned intact, he said; the second might be made as good as new by minor repairs, and returned. The third might be demolished by a Nazi bomb, and in that event another would have to be supplied to replace it. It was then that a reporter inquired whether the third gun might not be paid for in rubber, tin, or some other commodity, and the President replied affirmatively.

CHICAGO GIVES GAY SALUTE IN LOOP AND HOME

City in Merry Mood —from A to Z.

Revelry in New York

New York, Dec. 31 (AP).—The nation's biggest small town threw the nation's biggest celebration tonight on the threshold of a new year.

In Times Square, the traditional center of New Year hysteria, the customary cacophonous crowds milled amid the bright lights and boarded up windows under the surveillance of 1,489 policemen.

Amid the annual "biggest and best" appraisals of the revelry's scope, about the only tangible one was the report by 22 Times Square hotels that reservations were 50 per cent ahead of last year. But top prices, at places like the Waldorf Astoria, remained at the recent level of around $15 per person—a far roar from the roaring '20's $50-and-up assessments.

It's the New Year.

Chicagoans with $12.50 hotel reservations and Chicagoans who spent dimes for cowbells and whistles gave 1941 a joyous welcome this morning. Stay-at-homes entertained friends at watch parties.

Hotel dining rooms and the night clubs were crowded to their last table. Hotel men said there were more patrons than last year and that they spent more freely. The revelers in the more expensive places came formally dressed, but they had no more fun than the thousands who thronged State street in a drizzling rain to roar a tumultuous welcome to 1941.

A Patriotic Motif.

Many of the festive New Year's caps were red, white, and blue in recognition of the American spirit.

Thousands attended watch services in the churches. Other thousands planned to attend early masses this morning.

Reporters talked with many of the happy crowd in the loop, obtaining this optimistic cross section of Chicago opinion as to the year to come:

ABRAHAMS, CHARLES, 3156 Eastwood avenue, tailor—Happy New Year! We're going to keep out of war.

CLANCY, BERNARD, 7619 Michigan avenue, a traffic policeman—Give me another order of 1940 and I'll be a happy Irishman. That includes no war.

DOWNING, JOHN, 1807 North Mayfield avenue, federal employé—Better weather's all I'm asking of 1941. I'm going to make a resolution to quit coming downtown in the rain.

EPSTEIN, MAX, art patron—The new year? I expect the girls to be more beautiful than ever.

FITZPATRICK, CHARLES, 508 West 44th street, elevator operator—The new year's going to bring prosperity and that will mean an office job for me.

HAAS, MRS. ROY R., San Antonio, Tex., wife of a beauty college owner—I'm hoping for no war and greater prosperity for us all.

McCLOUD, MRS. W. F., 3432 Franklin boulevard—The new year is going to bring peace and happiness and prosperity. Mr. McCloud, a railroad man—That's a big order, and it'll be enough if we get it.

ROSE, DON, Congress hotel—I think 1941 will bring an armistice within 60 days.

WATERBURY, JIMMY, 1244 North Dearborn street, steel worker—I'm looking forward to happiness and more prosperity in 1941. And I think we'll keep out of war. Maybe the war on the other side of the Atlantic will end.

HAPPINESS—FROM A TO Z

Some of Chicago's millions who celebrated New Year's eve in private homes—one chosen under each letter in the telephone book—told last night what they were doing and thinking. It was a cheerful cross-section of beliefs and hopes for 1941.

The answers as Chicagoans gave them, uncoached, follow:

AABYE, LEWIS, 11946 Yale avenue—The year 1940 was swell, and we all hope 1941 is going to be better. We're just listening to the radio and

PEACE CRUSADERS OFFER A PLEDGE: 'AMERICA FIRST'

In 1941—America First!

At the threshhold of the new year, the Chicago chapter of the America First committee last night offered that resolution to Americans, with the suggestion that pressure groups which have spent the old year urging that this country join in Europe's war should reinstate the United States as their primary concern and work for peace.

Gen. T. S. Hammond.

To help accomplish this objective, the committee planned the most intensive nonpolitical campaign in Chicago's history. It will continue to be the organization's goal that this country keep out of foreign wars and that it proceed at top speed in rearming for its own defense.

Stressing the need for speed, an appeal was sent out from the new headquarters of the Chicago chapter at 80 East Jackson boulevard for hundreds of volunteer workers to organize neighborhood chapters and stir up an avalanche of antiwar letters to President Roosevelt and congressmen.

Appeal for Volunteers.

Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, chairman, and Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, vice chairman, united in requesting immediate coöperation by those who would save this nation from another war. Volunteers should report at once to the headquarters, they said.

In addition to the hundreds who would set up local chapters, hundreds are needed to type or address in long hand letters to citizens asking them to make known their wishes to the government.

"Chapter organizers will be encouraged to find vacant stores which can be used rent free for meetings during this national emergency," Mrs. Fairbank said.

Free Movie to Be Shown.

"A motion picture entitled 'America First' has been produced to be shown free of charge in these neighborhood centers of American activity. It shows grim world war scenes, when American boys fought and died in Europe a single generation ago, and pictures of maimed veterans still in hospitals.

"This patriotic film also displays the magnitude of American industry which if properly employed will arm America so strongly that no nation or combination of nations could hope successfully to attack us."

Mrs. Fairbank announced the appointment of two other officers of the Chicago chapter—Miss Cornelia Howe, daughter of a vice president of the Erie railroad, as secretary, and George A. Ranney Jr., son of the president of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, as treasurer. This virtually completes the initial setup of the Chicago chapter.

Jugo-Slavia Dissolves Unions, Forbids Activity

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Dec. 31 (AP).—The ministry of interior decreed dissolution of all trade unions today and forbade any further union activity. No reason was given for the decree.

LONDON, BERLIN GREET 1941 IN WAR BLACKOUT

Fetes Subdued in Enemy Capitals.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 1 [Wednesday].—Altho German air raiders were absent, Londoners welcomed 1941 on a subdued scale. The blackout kept the normally noisy New Year's eve crowds off the streets, except for small groups in Piccadilly Circus and around St. Paul's cathedral. Shuttered hotels entertained groups of revelers, but most Britons remained in their homes or in air raid shelters.

Searchlights in the Sky.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 1 [Wednesday].—Blacked out Berlin, traditional capital of New Year's revelry in Germany, greeted the new year as a ghostlike city. The police curfew sounded, as usual, at 11 p. m., and thereafter the capital's streets were deserted. Behind shuttered windows the residents toasted 1941 in small family groups. Searchlights instead of the many colored rockets reminiscent of peacetime groped thru the sky.

Petain Predicts Hungry 1941.

VICHY, France, Dec. 31 (AP).—Chief of State Marshal Henri Philippe Petain predicted in a New Year's eve message that "the year 1941 will be hard."

"We will go hungry," he warned, because of poor crops and the war blockade. He appealed to peasants to "draw from the earth whatever she can give" and to the "ingeniousness" of the public to fill out its diet however it can. He besought workers "not to become discouraged" if "some industries come to a dead halt" for lack of materials.

"The war and the blockade will continue," Petain said. "That does not depend on us."

British Pound Bardia.

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 31 (AP).—The British middle east command reported today that Italian defenders of besieged Bardia, pounded relentlessly by artillery, "continue passively to await events."

Indications still were lacking of an early British attempt to storm the Italian port in Libya which has been under British siege for two weeks.

It was believed here the British would refrain from a costly assault, preferring instead to starve out the Italians.

Turn Back Armed Units.

ROME, Dec. 31 (AP).—Italian shrapnel bombs and machine gun bullets from the air today were reported to have turned back British armored units attempting to approach Italian positions in Libya, presumably in the region of besieged Bardia.

Turkey Votes More for Arms.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Dec. 31.—The Turkish parliament today passed a law allotting an additional 40,000,000 Turkish pounds for national defense. [The value of the Turkish pound is not quoted on the American exchange.]

Recall Envoy to Russia.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 31 (AP).—Diplomatic dispatches from Bucharest, Rumania, today said that Grigore Gafencu, Rumanian minister to Moscow, had been summoned home. Gafencu has been attempting a policy of rapprochement with Russia, and his return was interpreted to mean that the Iron Guard did not approve.

An early end to Russian diplomatic representation in Bucharest was foreseen by diplomatic dispatches, which declared that the soviet union planned to deal with Rumania in the future thru the embassy in Berlin. This was taken to mean that Russia would view Rumania as a conquered country.

It was reported Russia had protested vigorously against a campaign by the Iron Guard for recovery of Bessarabia, the province annexed by Russia last summer.

Ireland Fears Food Shortage.

DUBLIN, Dec. 31 (AP).—The food position of Ireland is rapidly becoming more serious, Agriculture Minister James Ryan warned in a broadcast tonight.

Stressing the danger of a shortage, Ryan said, "Within a short period supplies of imported food may be cut off entirely. If we are to survive the dangers that lie ahead, all essential foodstuffs must be produced at home."

Ryan added that he had the power to take over the land of farmers who failed to make progress in tillage of 20 per cent more arable land by February.

CIVILIANS MUST JOIN FIRE WATCH, BRITAIN DECREES

Heavy Raid Loss Blamed on Carelessness.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 31.—Workers in the City—the financial district—today continued clearing up débris of Sunday night's German raid. Typists, clerks, and warehousemen were busy from early morning removing ledgers, papers, office equipment, and stocks so that business could be transferred to new premises. Office executives could be seen holding conferences on street corners amid whole blocks of charred and burned out ruins.

Many streets barred to traffic yesterday were cleared today. Traffic was eased, but fire fighting equipment still cluttered many areas.

Sir George Wilkinson, lord mayor, pledged that the people who were homeless as the result of the raid would be helped immediately thru the air raid distress fund. He also promised that new offices would be found for businesses bombed out of their old quarters.

Compulsory Civil Defense.

Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison, broadcasting tonight, announced the government had decided to make it compulsory for householders, workers, and employers to perform part time service, not only as fire fighters, but in other unspecified aspects of the civil defense.

"The compulsion applies to every one of every grade—managers and office workers, as well as manual workers," he said.

Morrison, citing the results of the fire bomb raids on Sheffield, Liverpool, and Manchester, as well as London, envisaged a vast civilian army, millions strong, ready to deal with incendiary bombs or act in the civil defense at any time.

Must Not Await Force.

Morrison urged the people not to wait for compulsion, but immediately to form a civil defense home guard so that not a single building in British towns would be left unwatched.

"You can stop a fire bomb from starting a fire by smothering it, and the regular fire brigades must be left free to fight the big blazes. Every group of houses and business premises must have its firewatching party," he said.

German air activity over Britain today was said by the air ministry to have been limited to isolated attacks by a single plane in Kent and Sussex, in which some houses were damaged and a "few" people injured. Up to midnight London had been free of raids.

GREAT BRITAIN'S POSITION

Altho Britain is congratulating herself on the fact that she has not been invaded and on her military successes in the Mediterranean against Italy, comparison of Britain's war position a year ago with that today does not lend itself to facile optimism.

A year ago Leslie Hore-Belisha, then minister of war, told American newspaper men at the front, "We are winning the war comfortably." No one believes that any more. And while it may be true Britain's army and navy are better than they were a year ago, war production has been speeded up, and the country no longer is hypnotized into complacency by illusory hopes, it is equally true the United Kingdom now is facing dangers that she did not even dream were possible last New Year's.

Four Home Perils Listed.

These dangers on the home front are:

1. Direct invasion.

2. The growing threat of starvation and the lack of raw materials as results of the sea blockade.

3.—Demoralization and disorganization of civil life and production by the German air force's day and night bombardments.

4.—Economic and financial ruin as the result of the unprecedented cost of the war, which, as far as the old capitalistic order is concerned, promises a Pyrrhic victory even in a German defeat.

And in the battle for the empire the prospects of a stalemate in the Mediterranean, as well as possible extension of the hostilities to the far east are further dangers.

France's Collapse Costly.

None of these perils was considered to exist even remotely when the French army, then rated by many authorities as the greatest fighting machine, stood beside Britain on what was regarded as an impregnable wall, the Maginot line; when the combined French and British navies controlled every port from Norway to the Mediterranean; when the economic and financial resources and man power of the two great empires were pooled in economic war frontiers that almost surround the enemy, leaving open only the back door to Russia. And the Russian transportation problem was believed so unsolvable that the German war machine could be expected to crack up any moment and the German people, starved into submission, to rise against Adolf Hitler.

Since then Britain has lost the assistance of the French army, a large part of the French fleet, her trade with most of Europe, and the returns from her private investments from practically the entire continent of Europe. Despite this, she is continuing alone in the war which, with all this assistance, failed to turn the tables on the enemy. On top of this Britain was forced to take on another enemy [Italy] with a population hardly less than that of the United Kingdom.

During the year Britain has suffered two serious military reverses. Her troops were driven from Norway and France, not to mention Holland and Belgium. She suffered minor reverses and has been forced to abandon Somaliland. For the first time in British history she abandoned an integral part of the British Isles when she withdrew from the channel islands of Guernsey and Jersey and others, which are now occupied by the Germans. For the first time in history she is engaged in a battle for Britain while conducting a major war overseas.

Altho it is admitted that the battle for Britain remains to be fought, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and government spokesmen have been reassuring the public that the nation never has been better prepared to resist invasion.

Warns of Starvation Menace.

Minister of Food Lord Woolton today warned the nation that the food situation now is more serious than in the last war and that Britain faces the danger of starvation unless the public husbands foods, uses substitutes, and tightens its belt.

The effect of the blitzkrieg on British war production, altho the actual destruction of materials, equipment and the loss of manhours cannot be estimated yet, has made it clear that it already has presented a gigantic postwar reconstruction problem.

Another effect of the blitzkrieg has been to divert from war production hundreds of thousands of workers, as well as enormous quantities of materials, vital to defense against it. It has created problems of evacuation, housing, feeding, succoring, and hospitalization, which in themselves in peacetime would have constituted a major catastrophe. Its impact on homelife, in separating wife from husband and children from parents, has created domestic difficulties that in peacetime would be regarded as tragic. And even where the transport system has not been damaged, the blackout makes travel to and from work a dangerous business.

War's Cost Expands.

A year ago the cost of the war amounted to 4,000,000 pounds [about $16,000,000] daily for Britain. Today the war costs the country about $38,000,000 a day.

Because of the war effort, imports have been expanded so that the first 11 months of 1940 showed an adverse visible balance of trade of 611,508,000 pounds [about $2,446,032,000]. To meet this, Britain has been spending foreign holding investments of its citizens to the extent that American experts estimate these will be exhausted, as far as the United States is concerned, next autumn.

As far as the war effort is concerned, the country already has passed thru what may be described as a major revolution. Politically the government has powers scarcely less than those of Hitler, but it justifies this on the ground that they are exercised more humanely and only where, in the government's opinion, the war effort makes it necessary. British citizens have been forced to turn over all foreign currency and negotiable stocks and bonds to the government and accept as payment unexportable sterling at a rate fixed by the government.

Sliding Toward Socialism.

For months there has been a growing demand that the government state its war aims. Letters to the press indicate that, altho there is some divergence of opinion on the form the British society will take after the war, every one agrees it is sliding toward socialism. Even church dignitaries are demanding a fairer distribution of wealth, wider opportunities for education, and elimination of class privilege.

ROBBERS RAID TAILOR SHOP.

Three young robbers forced Fred Loehndorf and his wife, Elizabeth, both 60 years old, into the living quarters in the rear of their tailor shop at 4609 North Wolcott avenue yesterday, bound and gagged them, and fled with $8 from the cash drawer.

BARE LEOPOLD'S NOTE TO F.D.R. ON DAY OF COLLAPSE

Saw 'Extermination Without Profit to Allies.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 31.—The full text of the letter sent to President Roosevelt by King Leopold of Belgium after he surrendered the Belgian army of 300,000 men to Germany last May 28 is contained in the quarterly bulletin of the Belgian-Luxembourg Chamber of Commerce in Switzerland, which was received here today.

King Leopold.

King Leopold transmitted the letter to Mr. Roosevelt directly after the surrender, but the President never chose to inform the public of its contents. It was said Mr. Roosevelt's secrecy was due to his belief that the letter, if known, would have an adverse effect on the morale of the allied armies. France at that time was still in the war.

Written on Day of Surrender.

The bulletin, dated as of October, states that Leopold wrote the letter May 28, the date of surrender. The text of the letter, as translated, follows:

"Mr. President,

"In the midst of the general confusion provoked by the prodigiously rapid political events which we are living thru and whose compass is incalculable, I insist upon affirming that Belgium and her army have fulfilled their whole duty.

"Belgium kept all its international engagements, first of all by scrupulously maintaining its neutrality, then by defending foot by foot the whole extent of its territory.

Driven to the Sea.

"Attacked by enormous forces, our army reached in good order a powerfully organized line of defense, in liaison with the armies of the guarantors to whom we had appealed. But the military events which took place outside of our territory forced us to evacuate this battlefield and imposed a series of falling-back movements which drove us to the sea.

"Then our army was used up regardless of the cost in a four day battle, brought into common accord with the allied armies. We were finally surrounded on extremely limited territory, inhabited by a very dense population, and already invaded by hundreds of thousands of civilian refugees who were without shelter, without food, without drinkable water, and swarming from one place to another as a result of aerial bombardments.

"Yesterday my last means of resistance were destroyed under the weight of an overwhelming superiority of troops and airplanes. Under those conditions, I sought to avoid a combat which would have today led to our extermination without profit for the Allies.

Refused to Desert Troops.

"No one has the right to sacrifice uselessly human lives. I intend to continue, whatever may happen, to share the fate of my army and of my people.

"Having been solicited for several days to leave our soldiers, I repulsed this suggestion which, for the chief of an army would have been a desertion.

"Furthermore, in remaining on the national soil, I desire to sustain my people during the ordeal it is going thru.

"The soliictude which the United States has always manifested for Belgium makes it my duty to expose to you without delay the reality of the facts.

[Signed] "Leopold."

Altho the means by which this message was transmitted to the President has never been officially explained, it was apparently given by King Leopold to John Cudahy, American ambassador to Belgium, and sent by him in code to Washington. Mr. Cudahy stated a few days after the Belgian capitulation that Mr. Roosevelt already was in receipt of a personal message from the king explaining his action.

Husbands Drafted

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Matuzas.

Mr. and Mrs. Gail C. Wurth.

Anthony Matuzas, 32 years old, of 4340 Drexel boulevard, yesterday became the first married man in Cook county to be drafted for military service. He attained that status when Grover Betson, 32, of 4540 Oakenwald avenue, filed a last minute appeal for deferment because he is married. Both Matuzas and Betson are registrants of local draft board No. 6.

Matuzas, a gasoline station attendant and truck washer, has been married for eight years. His wife, who earns $108 a month as a telephone operator, was not listed in his questionnaire as a dependent.

Gail Charles Wurth, 23 years old, of 6251 Warwick avenue, became the second married man to be drafted. He is a registrant of board No. 57, and like Matuzas will report Friday morning at the 122d field artillery armory, 234 East Chicago avenue. Wurth was single on Nov. 14 when he filled out his draft questionnaire, and was placed in class 1-A. He was married Dec. 7, but the board decided his wife was not a dependent because she lived with her parents and works part time.

VATICAN GUARDS TO GET MUZZLE LOADING GUNS

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 31 (AP).—The Vatican's fur helmeted Palatine guards are to be given "new" guns as soon as they can be cleaned of the last century's rust.

No reason was given by Vatican sources for replacing the guards' modern rifles with an 1840 model of the muzzle loader except that it appeared to conform to the pope's wish to restore the uniforms and equipment of antiquity. Two men are needed to handle the "new" gun, one to fire it and the other to reload. Ballistics experts say it can carry 1,000 yards.

The Palatine guard, as it now exists, dates back to Pope Pius IX., who decreed in 1850 that the Vatican's two bodies of militia, the Civici Scelti and the Capotori, should be united in one and called the Guardia Palatina d'Onore.

Hungary Bans Nazi Party's Paper for 2 Week Period

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 31.—The Nazi party's daily paper Magyarsag was banned today for two weeks for "not following national interests."

STRIKE BY C. I. O. HALTS WORK ON DEFENSE ORDER

Union Accused of Bolting Harvester Parley.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Dec. 31 [Special.]—C. I. O. members broke off negotiations and precipitated a strike that closed the International Harvester company's big truck works here despite the urgent efforts of a government conciliator, C. M. Harrison, plant superintendent, charged tonight.

The walkout made idle 3,300 employés of the factory, which has been filling national defense orders. Harrison said it was the first strike in the nearly 20 years of the plant's existence.

A picket line 2,000 strong, including the wives of many strikers, formed at the plant early this morning. Officials of Local 57 of the United Automobile Workers of America, who ordered the walkout, said the pickets would be maintained until the dispute is settled.

Negotiations Halted.

In a statement tonight, Harrison said the union broke off negotiations three times and called the strike in the absence of David T. Roadley, a government conciliator who had flown to Washington, D. C., to consult his superiors.

"The union precipitated the strike," he said, "despite the efforts of a government conciliator to mediate the dispute, refusing to give the government representative the opportunity to bring about a peaceful settlement which is so indispensable today to our national defense production."

Harrison pointed out that the strike was called within 24 hours after President Roosevelt had called upon defense industries to continue operation without interruption by strikes or lockouts.

"In my opinion the present strike was altogether unnecessary," Harrison asserted. "Our management is perfectly willing to deal with labor. There never has been any question about the company recognizing the union and dealing with it."

Twenty per cent of the entire current output of the factory was devoted to defense orders, mostly in the manufacture of parts for navy vehicles. The plant produces 100 trucks a day and has a weekly payroll exceeding $100,000.

Demand Concessions to Draftees.

While halting production for the nation's armed forces, the strikers conversely numbered among their demands numerous claims for military service advantages. They asked the company to grant $25 a week to employés conscripted, vacation pay in advance for draftees, payment of group insurance premiums for draftees, and guarantee of return to work without restrictions after service.

They also asked definite leaves of absence for local and international union activities and for service on defense commissions without effect on their seniority rights.

Other demands included 15 minute lunch periods with pay, a night shift bonus, overtime adjustments, and various forms of seniority. Altho they had not previously asked for a wage increase, A. T. Atwood of Detroit, regional director of the U. A. W. A., said this demand would be added to points the union is insisting upon.

PICKETS FROM CHICAGO.

In Chicago yesterday officials of the C.I.O. Farm Equipment Workers Organizing committee said they would send 75 or 100 delegates to Fort Wayne Saturday to join the picket line and "pledge solidarity" to the automobile workers in their strike at the International Harvester truck works.

'HOPE FOR PEACE' SENT ITALY'S KING BY ROOSEVELT

Greeting Called Move to Split Axis.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 31 [Special].—In a New Year's greeting to King Victor Emmanuel III. of Italy, President Roosevelt expressed the hope that the Italian people may be enabled to enjoy the "blessing of a righteous peace" during the coming year.

Only two days ago the President lashed the axis powers in his "fireside" chat. He termed the people of Italy accomplices of the Nazis whose intention, he said, is to enslave Europe and dominate the world. He also discounted the possibility of peace, saying the "United States has no right or reason to encourage talk of peace" until the aggressor nations abandon present war plans.

Despite administration warnings against any unusual interpretation of today's message, Washington classed it among the moves to drive a wedge between Italy and the other partners to the totalitarian axis.

Follows Churchill's Plea.

This view was all the more persistent because of two developments during the last week: [1] The speech of Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain, directed to the Italian people and calling upon them to repudiate the régime of Premier Mussolini which, he charged, had dragged them into the war, and [2] Sunday night's radio address of President Roosevelt in which he again pledged all possible assistance to Britain [short of war] in her conflict with the axis powers.

The President's message technically was in reply to one received by him from the Italian king. It is not a general custom for the President to exchange New Year's greetings with heads of states, but for some years the Italian monarch has followed the practice and the President has responded. The king continued the custom this year and Mr. Roosevelt, in his reply, used such language as opened the way for the interpretations reported above.

Message Translated.

Following is a translation of the message from the king to the President, dated at Rome on Dec. 23:

"His excellency, President Roosevelt,

"Washington.

"On the approach of the new year I wish to express to you, Mr. President, all my most cordial good wishes for the people of the United States and for you personally.

VITTORIO EMANUELE."

The President's reply, dated the White House, Dec. 30, was as follows:

"His majesty, Victor Emmanuel III., King of Italy.

"Rome.

"I greatly appreciate your majesty's cordial message. I extend to your majesty my most sincere wishes for your personal welfare and my hope that during the year to come the Italian people may be enabled to enjoy the blessing of a righteous peace.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

AMERICANS AND BRITISH DISPLAY UNITY IN MADRID

Diplomats Laud Teamwork of Their Two Missions.

BY MAURICE ENGLISH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Spain, Dec. 31.—The traditional year-end party for the American and British residents in Madrid last night was turned into a demonstration of Anglo-American solidarity against the axis in consequence of President Roosevelt's speech Sunday night.

Speech a Decisive Act.

The transformation of the function, which was held in the British-American club and attended by virtually all citizens of the two countries resident in this capital, was accomplished in speeches by American Ambassador Alexander Weddell and British Ambassador Sir Samuel Hoare, both of whom referred to the diplomatic teamwork they have pursued on their missions.

Sir Samuel expressed the opinion that the Roosevelt speech was "likely to prove one of the most decisive acts of the entire war."

The party began with a brief speech by Weddell in which he said he looked forward to increasing solidarity between the United States and Britain. In reply, Hoare expressed his thanks to the American ambassador for helping him fulfill his mission here—part of which has been to try to reconcile Spain to the semi-strangulating effects of the British blockade. He also declared that he hoped that the "two greatest nations on earth would continue marching forward toward a common destiny."

Spaniards Omit Comment.

The Spanish press published lengthy extracts from the Roosevelt speech without comment. Whereas six months ago a similar speech might have been briefly summarized on the inside pages, it was given front page play and the headlines emphasized the firmness of the President's attitude toward the axis. Reference to the Monroe Doctrine and relations with South America were cut out of the text reproduced here, however.

Spaniards celebrated the passing of the old year and the coming of the new by the traditional ceremony of eating 12 grapes at midnight while clocks and church bells sounded the hour. This ritual is supposed to bring happiness and marriage within the new year to any one who finishes eating the grapes exactly on the final stroke of 12.

Germans Rip Down British Flag—from Own Building

CRISTOBAL, Panama Canal Zone, Dec. 31 (AP).—Employés of the German owned Hamburg-American line today tore down, stamped and spat upon the red ensign of the British merchant fleet which had been hoisted over their office in the night by pranksters. A noisy crowd, attracted by the appearance of the "red duster" over the Nazi premises, witnessed the incident. After ripping down the ensign the Germans hastily withdrew inside the building.

IT'S ROOSEVELT'S OWN WAR, SAYS CHURCH JOURNAL

Assails Him for Attack on Peace Seekers.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The Christian Century, influential religious journal, says in an editorial in its current issue that last Sunday's fireside chat of President Roosevelt "is a trumpet call to war."

The journal says:

"It is profoundly regrettable that Mr. Roosevelt did not speak before the election as he spoke in his fireside chat. If he had done so the people would have had the opportunity which has been denied them from the beginning to register their convictions on the question of peace or war.

"The fact that no declaration of war in the technical sense is asked is of no consequence. The President's picture of America's entire resources and economy transformed into an arsenal for Great Britain puts us into the war almost as far as Canada is in it. Thereafter, a declaration of war is a mere formality.

"People Given No Voice."

"The tragedy of all this is that the people of the nation have had no voice in the determination of this fateful decision. It is, in the last analysis, the President's war. It is his war in the sense he himself described in his Chautauqua speech in 1936, in which he maintained that 'the day to day decisions' of the executive could lead the nation to the brink of war regardless of anything congress might do.

"The executive acts of the President for the last three years, accompanied by the exercise of the incomparable means at his disposal for creating a popular war psychosis, have brought about a situation in whose development the people have had no voice.

"By cracking the party whip over the heads of the majority [in congress], by inoculating the minority with the all pervasive hysteria, and by branding, as he now does, the independent senators and representatives with the stigma of 'appeasers' and virtually as agents of the dictators, or as disrupters of the 'national unity,' the President has taken the nation steadily down the ways for the fatal plunge into the sea of bloody conflict.

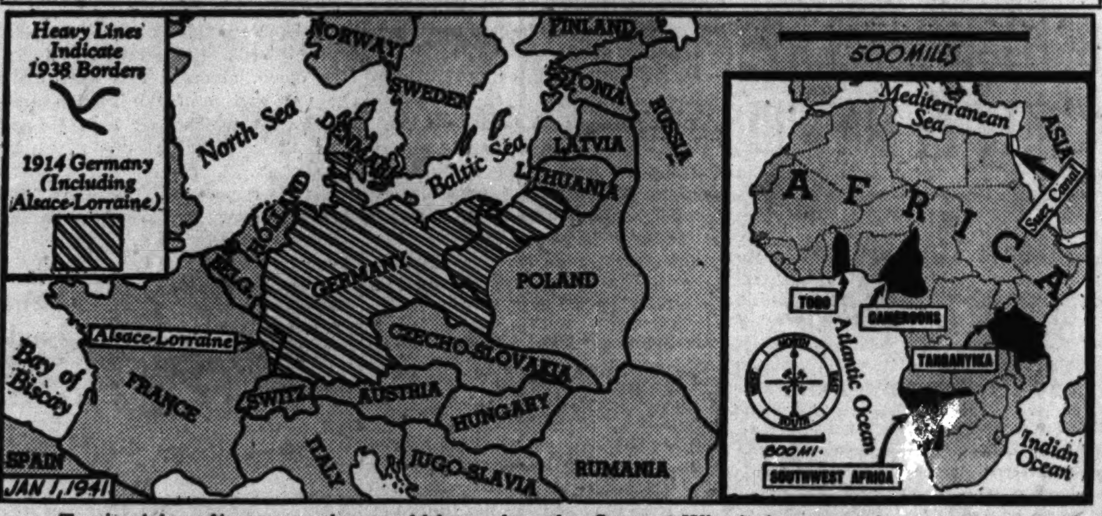
"Turns His Back on Efforts."

"The American people would like, above all things, to be in a position to explore the possibilities of a negotiated peace," the editorial continued. "And now in his latest utterance, the President has turned his back upon all attempts at pacification. He heaps vials of scorn upon the advocates of a negotiated peace, calling them 'appeasers' and their proposals 'nonsense.' He identifies them with the 'defeatists' who believe 'that the axis powers are going to win anyway.'

"This shifty substitution of 'dictated' peace for 'negotiated' peace, in order to pillory those who cherish peacemaking as the true rôle for America is unworthy of the President of the United States.

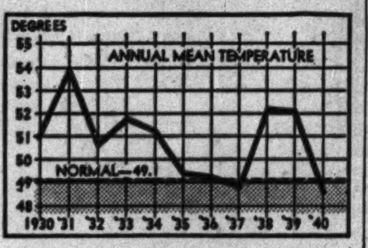
"The President has by no means convinced American opinion that this is our war. During the last three weeks a mighty volume of protest has been registered against the organized forces leading to belligerency."

Senator Wheeler Proposes Terms for Peace

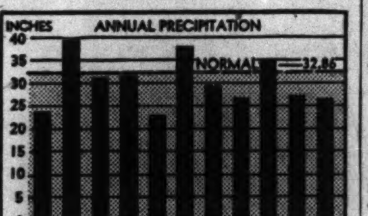


Territorial readjustments that would be made under Senator Wheeler's proposed peace plan include restoration of Germany's 1914 boundaries with autonomous Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, restoration of independence to France, Holland, Norway, Belgium, and Denmark, return of Alsace and Lorraine to France, and restoration of colonies to Germany, as well as internationalization of the Suez canal. Inset map locates former German colonies in Africa.

The Year's Weather



Diagrams compare the average temperature and rainfall in 1940 with those in recent years, and show that the year was slightly cooler and somewhat drier than the average.



Washington, D. C., Dec. 31 (AP).—Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] said today he had received more than 1,000 telegrams about his speech last night urging a peace move by the United States and that 93 per cent of them were favorable. The response, he said, was the greatest evoked by any speech he has ever made.

The messages included one from Harry Woodring, former secretary of war, which said: "Helen [Mrs. Woodring] and I have just listened to your powerful effective voice and speech. God preserve and bless you as well as America." Another, from Col. Charles Lindbergh, said: "Your address excellent and timely. Believe it will have great effect."

British Silent on Peace Proposals of Sen. Wheeler

LONDON, Dec. 31 (AP).—Authoritative source today said they had "no comment" to make on the peace proposals of Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D.-Mont.] outlined in a radio address last night. The press subordinated the proposals to a British news agency [Reuters] dispatch from Washington, D.C., which said: "It is generally felt that America now faces a moral and material war against Germany."

HIRAM JOHNSON LAUDS AMERICA FIRST CRUSADE

United States Senator Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.] pledged coöperation with the peace crusade of the America First committee as he passed thru Chicago yesterday en route to Washington. He arrived with Mrs. Johnson on the Forty-niner and changed trains for the east at North Western station.

"The America First committee is doing great work," Senator Johnson said. "I will be glad to do everything possible to help the committee. Propaganda heretofore has been virtually all on one side, directed toward getting America into this war. It's high time the people were given information about the other side of the question."

Senator Johnson, who is 74 years old, showed signs of his recent attack of influenza.

'Lot' of Nazi Activity Exists in Mexico, Asserts Wallace

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 31 (AP).—United States Vice President Elect Henry A. Wallace said tonight "there is a whale of a lot" of Nazi and fifth column activity in Mexico. He said he had not, personally, seen any evidences of this activity, but that "most certainly" did not mean it did not exist.

VICTORY NEARER FOR CHINA IN 1941, OFFICIAL ASSERTS

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 31 (AP).—Vice Premier and Finance Minister Dr. H. H. Kung told the nation in a New Year's message today that China would be nearer victory in her war with Japan in 1941. Kung declared a financial, economic, military and diplomatic review of 1940 showed the nation definitely had progressed.

Britain's temporary closing of the Burma road to traffic in war supplies to China was the greatest blow of 1940 but, after the reopening, China's international position was better than before, he said.

The latest British and American loans have raised China's foreign exchange reserve fund by 50 per cent, Kung said. He outlined for 1941 a financial program which included increases in excess war profit taxes, enforcement of a new income tax, and continued repayment of interest and capital of loans secured by customs and salt revenue.

Britain to Requisition All Tankers Privately Operated

LONDON, Dec. 31 (AP).—The shipping ministry today announced that the British government was requisitioning all tankers still under private control. The statement said all ocean going merchant ships had been requisitioned.

MARSHALL ASKS U. S. TO REVEAL NAZI PEACE BID

New York, Dec. 31 (AP).—Verne Marshall, head of the No Foreign War committee, today called upon President Roosevelt and the state department to make public what he termed the "agenda" for a "sound, just, and honorable economic peace" which he said W. R. Davis delivered to the state department in October, 1939.

Marshall asked whether he would make public the contents of the agenda in view of the state department's announcement that it had received no "feasible" peace plan, replied:

"I am not a part or seeking to be a part of this administration. As much as I detest its pose of neutrality, while thinking of war, I would not have the presumption to make public on my own authority a document of such world-wide importance as that which Mr. Davis laid in the hands of Assistant Secretary of State A. A. Berle Jr., in October, 1939."

He declared that "the state department can't get away with any statement to the effect that the agenda from Berlin, offering to permit President Roosevelt to sit as a mediator, was not feasible." Marshall said he had accepted the offer of the Columbia Broadcasting system to speak over their facilities from 9:15 to 9:30 p. m. tomorrow.

PUBLISHER HEADS NEW YEAR LIST OF BRITISH HONORS

King Creates a Viscount and Four New Barons.

LONDON, Dec. 31 (AP).—King George VI of Great Britain selected Lord Camrose, 61 year old owner of London's conservative Daily Telegraph and Morning Post, to head his New Year's honors list today. Camrose, now a baron, was made a viscount.

The list, the second of the war, also created four new barons and three baronets and conferred other distinctions upon men and women in many fields of endeavor, in which plane, arms, and ship production were prominently represented. It was the eighth honors list of the monarch's reign.

The List of Honors.

The new barons created were:

Field Marshal Sir William Edmund Ironside, 60 years old, former chief of the imperial general staff and former commander of the British home forces.

Lord Hugh Cecil, 61, churchman and member of the distinguished Salisbury family, and provost of Eton since 1936.

Sir Robert Kindersley, 69, who started work at 15 for 10 shillings a week [about $2] and lately captained Britain's voluntary war savings campaign, raising more than 475,000,000 pounds sterling [$1,900,000,000].

Sir Boyd Merriman, president of the probate, divorce, and admiralty division of the High Court of Justice, which decides the fate of seized "enemy" ships and cargoes. He was the judge who gave the present duchess of Windsor her divorce from Ernest Simpson on May 3, 1937.

86 Columns of Awards.

New baronetcies went to Sir William Coxen, 73, former lord mayor of London, who raised 5,000,000 pounds sterling for war charities; Sir Kenneth Lee, 61, former director general of the ministry of information, and Hugh Lett, president of the Royal College of Surgeons.

The long list, filling 86 columns, included many naval and royal air force recipients of awards. Among them was Lord Louis Mountbatten, the king's cousin, who was created companion of the distinguished service order.

Commanding a flotilla, he brought the destroyer Kelly safely to port in May after it was crippled by a torpedo and attacked by German warplanes. Again, in November, he brought the destroyer Javelin home after a torpedo and bomb attack.

Women Receive Honors.

Several women were on the honors list, four becoming Dames Commander of the Order of the British Empire. They were Irene Vanbrugh, 73, veteran actress; the dowager marchioness of Reading, chairman of the women's voluntary services; Viscountess Craigavon, widow of the late prime minister of Northern Ireland, and Miss Marjorie Maxse, the latter for services to the children's overseas reception board.

The Order of Merit, which has but 24 members, was given to Prof. Gilbert Murray, 74, noted Greek scholar, who was the Charles Eliot Norton professor of poetry at Harvard in 1926.

Actress Engaged

GALE STORM.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 31 (AP).—Two fledgling film players who met when they were brought here as finalists in a talent contest a year ago announced today they will be married next April. They are Gale Storm of Dallas, Tex., and Lee Bonnell of Indianapolis, Ind.

WARNS JAPANESE TO EXPECT NEW PRESSURE IN 1941

TOKIO, Dec. 31 (AP). — Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoe warned Japan in a New Year statement today to "prepare fully to meet any eventualities on the assumption that various international pressures may be imposed upon Japan in the new year."

Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka, in reviewing Japan's foreign policy and looking ahead to "what the new year will bring to this country particularly and to the world in general," declared:

"In my innermost heart I fear lest this year prove most tragic and unfortunate for all of mankind. I pray God and wish that all truly God fearing people thruout the world will coöperate with me in saving this year from degenerating into the first year of destruction of modern civilization."

CALLS AMERICAN PLANE ENGINES BEST IN WORLD

Says Public Misinformed on Foreign Models.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 31.—Science enters the year 1941 in the hope that the experimental methods and powers which it has made available to mankind in relatively recent times may save civilization from the fate of other races and lead the way to peace and progress.

Dr. Irving Langmeier.

This thought was expressed today by Dr. Albert Francis Blakeslee, geneticist of the Carnegie institution of Washington and retiring president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. The president elect, announced today, is Dr. Irving Langmuir, associate director for research of the General Electric company and a chemist who has won many international honors.

While Dr. Blakeslee was stating the duty of scientists to fight with all the moral energy at hand to keep free research and expression alive in this and other lands, a practical method of American scientific and fighting progress was explained by Dr. Jerome C. Hunsaker of the engineering section of the association. He is head of mechanical and aeronautical engineering at the Massachusetts institute of technology.

Can Meet War Demand.

This country, Dr. Hunsaker said, can meet the war time demand for more speed and more armor in airplanes by the development of a 2,000 horse power fighter to compete with the 1940 European 1,200 horse power plane.

"We have the engines and the knowledge of how to install them for high speed," he said. "Production for war is not like production for domestic consumption. The business man trained in commerce may insist on freezing the design and going into production for three years on the same article in order to recover his investment in engineering costs. In war technical progress on the part of the enemy can make such a three year program disastrous.

U. S. Engines Most Powerful.

"The test of war has shown that the German fighting planes have a real speed of about 350 miles an hour, and that their British opposite numbers make the same speed or a little more. In the meantime progressive improvement in the installation of the American air cooled engine has brought up the speed of our fighter planes.

"The largest European type engines used by Germany and England develop about 1,200 horse power, and this year, 1941, we shall have similar engines in quantity production here. Two new types of American air cooled engines are already developed and in production in the 2,000 horse power size. Nowhere else in the world are engines of such power available."

[American defense orders include about half a billion dollars in aircooled radial engines, three quarters of which will range in power between 1,500 and 2,000 horsepower.]

Brazil Will Be Faithful to Pan-Americanism—Vargas

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Dec. 31 (AP). — President Getulio Vargas said in a luncheon speech today that Brazil would be faithful to Pan-Americanism and neutrality and would willingly oppose any aggression.

U. S. STILL FAR SHORT OF WAR, WELLS ASSERTS

LISBON, Portugal, Dec. 31 (AP).—H. G. Wells, arriving here aboard the American Export liner Excalibur, today said he believed the United States still was far short of entering the European war.

"Opinion there is still sharply divided," the British writer said, but added that he had found American opinion virtually unanimous in favor of aid to England. Wells plans to leave soon for London.

The Excalibur brought 45 other passengers. Among them were five members of a Japanese trade mission and two Japanese newspapermen on their way to Berlin.

BOY STABBED CHASING THIEVES.

Thomas Dahlgren, 15 years old, 5825 Wentworth avenue, a sophomore at Englewood High school, was stabbed in the arm yesterday by Edward Norman, 14, of 3803 Wentworth avenue, colored, when Dahlgren attempted to seize three colored boys who robbed a woman of her purse.

ARMY PLANNING EXPEDITIONARY FORCE IN ALASKA

Maps Military Bases Only Few Miles from Russia.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 31.—The United States army is planning to station a sizable expeditionary force in Alaska, it was learned today. Altho no details were made available, it was understood that the huge northern territory will have a series of military and naval bases which will make it second only to Hawaii as a Pacific fortress.

The administration's policy of picking up the white man's burden in the orient, which was laid down by England in order that her full strength might be mustered against Germany, is behind the move to garrison Alaska.

Altho hostilities in the far east repeatedly directed attention to the great strategic importance of Alaska, both for the defense of American commerce and the northwestern coast of the United States, development of the territory's defenses was proceeding at a leisurely pace until the conclusion of the Rome-Berlin-Tokio alliance.

Spurred by Russ Activities.

On the promulgation of this alliance the army and navy pressed forward their program for the creation of land, air and naval bases and began consideration of an expeditionary force of regulars and guardsmen in the northland. The plans also were spurred by soviet Russia's construction activities on Big Diomede Island in the narrowest part of Bering strait, only one mile from Little Diomede Island, which is in United States territory.

The strategic importance of Alaska lies in the fact that it is this country's closest approach to Asia. It lies but a few miles from Russian territory and within bombing range of Japan. Ships traveling the great circle route between Seattle and oriental ports often pass within sight of the Aleutian islands and are 2,000 miles away from Hawaii, the nation's most heavily fortified Pacific base.

Treaty Scrapped by Japs.

Under the terms of the Washington naval treaty of 1922, the United States agreed not to fortify the Aleutian Islands, but retained the right to fortify other islands off the coast of Alaska. The treaty expired in 1936 by Japanese abrogation.

A naval board early in 1939 found that naval air bases in Alaska would be essential in time of war as links in the patrol of the eastern Pacific and the defense of Alaska and the Pacific northwest. Military experts also said Alaskan bases would be of vital importance in the conduct of offensive operations against an enemy in the Pacific.

The naval board recommended development of bases at Kodiak and Unalaska and expansion of the existing base at Sitka. The recommendations were approved by congress with the addition of an army air base near Fairbanks and an appropriation of almost 15 million dollars for the coast guard in Alaska.

Has Own National Guard.

At the same time Alaska, which has a population of about 35,000, began building up its National Guard and established a reserve officers training corps at the University of Alaska.

On the outbreak of the world war steps were taken to develop airports over the territory, ostensibly for civilian purposes, but it was also recognized that these would have strategic value in the event of war. Under the vast defense expansion program work on Alaska bases was speeded and construction of barracks begun in the vicinity of the bases. It is expected that these will house the expeditionary force.

The army this winter is testing skis and snow shoes at Fort Custer, Mich. The tests will be translated into equipment and tactics of the expeditionary force to be sent to Alaska.

In connection with defense developments in Alaska the United States is reported to be seeking the grant of a "corridor" from Canada as a highway over which troops and supplies could be moved to the territory in the event of an emergency.

It has been reported that the granting of the corridor might be accomplished under a deal similar to that which brought this country eight Atlantic naval base sites on British possessions in trade for 50 destroyers.

MANILA CHEERS NEW YEAR; MORE TROOPS VISIBLE

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 1, Wednesday (AP).—It is New Year's day in this far eastern outpost of America.

There are wars just across the China sea to the west. There is threatened Japanese expansion to the southward. German sea raiders are reported in waters not far distant. The United States is steadily strengthening its defenses in these islands.

But it's New Year's day as usual. Thirteen hours earlier than in New York, Manila began its celebration last night. Hotels, clubs, night spots—all were the scenes of festivities by American celebrators. Noticeable was the increase in men in United States uniforms—of the army, navy, and air corps.

2 CROSS BORDER U. S.-CANADA AIR LINES APPROVED

Toronto Will Get Thru Service to N. Y.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 31.—Establishment of two new air services—one Canadian and one American—between cities of the United States and Canada was recommended here today by examiners of the Civil Aeronautics board. Authority for the services may be granted under an agreement reached by Canadian and state department officials in August, 1939.

The examiners said the CAB should authorize Trans-Canada Air Lines to fly nonstop between Toronto and New York City, and at the same time should allow American Airlines to extend its passenger and mail lines from Buffalo, N. Y., for 50 miles across Lake Erie to Toronto. Toronto and American business interests have been seeking such a service for years.

First Step Under Agreement.

The recommendation is the first step in a general linking of Canadian and United States cities under the governmental agreement of last year. At that time representatives of both governments met in Toronto and decided that such international traffic should be encouraged. They decided that either country's air carriers could be given rights to conduct such an international line.

Immediately after the results of the conference were announced several American companies as well as Trans-Canada Air Lines, the governmentally subsidized Canadian company, applied for rights to a number of routes. The examiners in today's report dealt negatively with some of these applications as well as the two positive recommendations.

Based on Reciprocity.

Altho the examiners did not say so the recommendations today were partly based on the ideal of absolutely equal reciprocity between Canadian and American air line operators. American lines already operate into Montreal from New York, and into Winnipeg from Pembina, N. D. Hence the suggestion that Trans-Canada be given the nonstop Toronto-New York run.

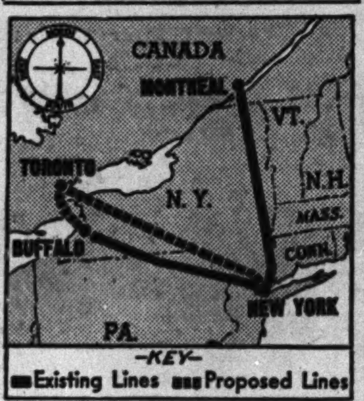
Concerning this route the examiners said that a nonstop service into New York would be a vast improvement over present arrangements for both passengers and mail. Passengers bound by air from Toronto to New York must go by rail to Buffalo before boarding American Airlines planes, and mail follows the same procedure.

Discuss Buffalo Service.

Of American Airlines' Buffalo-Toronto service the examiners said: "Either American or Pennsylvania-Central Airlines could serve equally well. But it is clear the bulk of the thru rail traffic movement is along American's line and that such traffic would be most conveniently served by a thru one line operation rather than being required to change carriers at Buffalo. It is concluded that American can therefore give better service."

The examiners suggested denial of American's application for nonstop New York-Toronto service; Northwest Airlines application for nonstop Chicago-Toronto service, and Canadian Colonial Airways' application to operate between New York and Toronto via four American cities.

Favor Air Routes



Broken lines indicate extension of American Airlines route to Toronto, and new line for Trans-Canadian Airlines from Toronto to New York recommended to air board.

NEW YEAR BAN ON NOVA SCOTIA'S LIQUOR ORDERED

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, Dec. 31 (AP).—A strictly nonalcoholic advent of the new year was faced by Nova Scotians who failed to buy their liquor in advance.

Without warning, the Nova Scotia liquor commission—only lawful outlet of intoxicants in the province—announced last night that its stores would remain closed today, tomorrow, and Thursday. There was no elaboration of the decision.

SEE A BRITISH SUB ATTACK 4 ITALIAN SHIPS IN ADRIATIC

One Vessel Reported to Have Been Sunk.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Dec. 31 (AP).—A British submarine attacked four Italian merchantmen convoyed by two destroyers in the sight of passengers on a Jugo-Slav coastal steamer today and was said to have sunk one of the Italian vessels.

Earlier, an Italian transport was reported sunk off the Jugo-Slav port of Bar, farther south in the Adriatic.

[Reuters, British news agency, quoted Belgrade reports that a British warship had sunk four Italian transports loaded with guns and motor cars in the Adriatic yesterday.]

Dislodge Italians Near Klisura.

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 1, Wednesday (AP).—The Greek army pounced on enemy reinforcements and captured 500 prisoners in dislodging Italians from heights near the key town of Klisura, in central Albania, a spokesman declared tonight.

The reinforcements, the spokesman said, had been rushed to the Klisura sector to halt the Greek advance on that mountain junction of the road leading to Valona, Adriatic port now the main objective of the Greek offensive.

A general headquarters communique reported the repulse of an attack by the Italians on an undisclosed sector.

Capture One Tank.

One tank, eight guns, and other material were taken, the communique said, and reported in addition that two Italian planes were shot down on Tuesday.

In the coastal sector north of Chimara, the Greeks' army of the snows was reported to have captured all the fortified crags after a five day battle.

Capture of the 500 near Klisura brought to 1,200 the number of prisoners taken within the last few days, the spokesman said.

Better weather and widespread action by both British and Greek planes aided the whole Greek military situation in Albania, said dispatches from the front.

Battle in Snowstorm.

The fighting north of Chimara, which is 30 miles south of Valona, was described by an observer as one of the major battles of this war, barely more than two months old. There a thousand prisoners were taken—some of them Alpine ski troops—military stores of great value were seized, and the defenders of the difficult mountain positions were "completely crushed," a report from the front said.

Part of the battle was fought day and night in a blinding snowstorm.

On the northern front, the pilot of a Greek bomber reported he had blown up an Italian ammunition dump and bombed troop concentrations. Off the Ionian Island of Levkas, a British fighter was said to have knocked a trimotored Italian seaplane into the water, later dropping a rubber boat for the floundering crew.

Open Assualt on Greeks.

ROME, Dec. 31.—Italian warships and dive bombers have opened a furious assault on the Greeks, their harbors, airdromes, supply bases, and communications, the high command announced today.

Greek supply centers on the coasts of both Albania and Greece were bombarded yesterday by "our naval units," with "visible effects," a communique said.

Dive bombers were turned loose on Greek military preparations, bridges, and roads; fighters sprayed marching columns, concentrations, and motor convoys with machine gun bullets.

The high command listed Salonika and Preveza as places where harbors and military objectives were hit with bombs, and said airfields at Janina and Kotzani were attacked "with excellent results," two enemy planes being destroyed on the ground.

A victorious combat with a squadron of British Hurricane fighters also was reported. One of the Hurricanes was said to have been destroyed.

Tunnels at Corfu Shelter 6,000 Greeks from Bombers

BY DANIEL DE LUCE.

CORFU, Dec. 28 [Delayed] (AP)—The Greek island city of Corfu is dead above ground, but in slimy tunnels 6,000 women, children, and old men live in fear of Italian bombs.

I saw them today, cooking soup over charcoal fires, nursing babies, and sewing clothing in odorous caverns ankle deep in mud.

They had existed like this since Nov. 1, a miserable 58 days, of which more than 50 were marked by Fascist air raids. Bombs have killed about ninety persons and injured that many more. Corfu, so-called Queen of the Ionian Isles, is an easy target for Italian pilots. It lies off northwest Greece near the Albanian border, and across the Strait of Otranto lies Italy. Not one antiaircraft shell has been fired in defense of the island.

Today was exceptionally quiet, yet four alarms had sounded by 1 p. m.

Debris Piled High.

No peasants came to market. I walked by many shops and homes which were either closed because of bomb damage or blasted to ruins. In the town's newest quarter, debris rises in huge mounds where four or five story apartment houses were smashed by attacks more than a month ago.

The Compiello district near the waterfront was littered with wreckage. I inspected a shattered concrete vault where a 200 kilogram [about 441 pound] Italian bomb interrupted a Christmas dance of 22 young Greeks. All were torn to bits.

Authorities estimated that 40 per cent of Corfu [it was a city of about 30,000 population] was uninhabitable. Another 20 per cent is badly damaged but can still afford shelter.

Five Churches Ruined.

Five churches lie in ruins, but hundreds of devout Greeks worship from dawn to dark in St. Spiridion's. The hard pressed Greek government has dispatched medical aid and established relief agencies for a thousand impoverished families.

Funds have been set up to send 500 mothers and children to the country. Public health physicians express sharp concern over thousands of tunnel dwellers during the damp winter months.

Water seeps down the rock walls and turns cavern floors into bogs. Some of the islanders have only straw for beds.

But the people of Corfu retain their spirit. They told me the Italians could bomb them to kingdom come, but the Greeks would fight on.

MOTHER AND SON UNITED AFTER 14 YEAR SEPARATION

Mrs. Letha Whittaker of 4237 Kenmore avenue had a happy day yesterday. She was reunited with her son, Ora Lester Brewer, 18 years old, whom she had not seen for 14 years.

In 1925 her husband, William Brewer, died. She came to Chicago seeking work and left Ora with his paternal grandmother in Quincy. Three years later the mother married Frank Whittaker and wrote to Peoria for her son to come and live with her. She was informed that Ora was not there.

Recently Ora enlisted in the army and was sent to Fort McClellan, Ala. A week ago, on furlough in Peoria, he learned his mother was in Chicago, and talked to her on the telephone. Then he returned to camp, obtained additional leave and came here for the reunion.

SEAWAY SCHEME NEAR A REALITY, SAYS PRESIDENT

Substantial Accord with Canada Reported.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 31.—With a triumphant smile, President Roosevelt today reported that his plans for revival of Great Lakes-St. Lawrence hydroelectric and navigation project as a defense measure are nearing completion.

He reported substantial agreement has been reached by United States and Canadian officials engaged in conversations looking toward the adoption of his scheme.

The next step, he added, will be to talk to leaders in congress with a view toward putting over the project which he adopted as his own when he was governor of New York.

Won't Seek Senate O. K.

Mr. Roosevelt again indicated that he will seek to put over the plan without obtaining senate ratification on the ground that it is essential to national defense. Altho he reported substantial agreement has been reached he said it had not been decided whether the plan would be presented to congress in a treaty or in a legislative program.

The President received a full report on the status of the waterway negotiations from Undersecretary of State Adolph A. Berle, long an advocate of the development, who has been in charge of the American officials working for the project.

The project has been the source of international controversy for more than 20 years.

Million Already Allocated.

Early this year negotiations for a new treaty collapsed. Mr. Roosevelt revived the negotiations again by suggesting that the project be approached from the angle of national defense.

In October, Mr. Roosevelt announced he had allocated a million dollars in August out of the huge defense fund voted him by congress for preliminary borings for construction of a power dam in the St. Lawrence river near Messina, N. Y.

DICTATORSHIP SET UP TO RULE ALL ITALY'S INDUSTRY

Controler Over Raw Materials Named.

ROME, Dec. 31 (AP).—Italy tightened her war economy another notch today by establishing a virtual dictatorship over her industry.

Renato Ricci. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

This all-powerful post fell to 45 year old Renato Ricci, minister of guilds and veteran Fascist party stalwart. He will have the final say in the handling and distribution of all raw materials and will determine which products are to be turned over to the army and which may be left for civilian consumption.

Power to Ration Product.

Ricci was given power to ration industrial products and apportion raw materials among industrial establishments according to the nation's war requirements.

The announcement of the strict control over industry followed by four days the appointment of Giuseppe Tassinari, minister of agriculture, as dictator of food with control over production and consumption.

Control Cattle Slaughter.

Still another decree, published today in the official gazette, clamped down severe control on the slaughter of cattle and hogs.

NAZIS DENOUNCE F. D. R. AS HITLER CRIES, 'I'LL WIN'

Papers Assail Speech by the President.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 1, Wednesday.—On this New Year's day Adolf Hitler's order of the day to his army and his proclamation to Germany shared the first and second pages of German newspapers with bitter denunciations of President Roosevelt for his fireside talk on Sunday night.

The official Voelkischer Boebachter said: "Roosevelt is steering his country into a danger which clear thinking Americans must recognize." Other headlines said: "Roosevelt's Bad Conscience." They appeared above editorials giving the German view of Mr. Roosevelt's speech in helping the British.

This was the first the public has heard of the speech, the contents of which were not divulged directly.

Hitler Predicts Victory.

Assurances that 1941 will be the year of complete victory for Germany marked the proclamations of Hitler, his army chiefs, and aides.

"Armed as never before, we stand on the threshold of the new year," Hitler told his soldiers in his order of the day. "The year 1941 will bring us the completion of the greatest victory of our history."

In his proclamation to the German nation, the Fuehrer declared that this war "is not an attack on the rights of other people, but against the arrogance and greed of a thin capitalistic upper crust which has not yet recognized that the days when gold governed the world are over—that, on the contrary, a new era is starting, in which the human will be the decisive factor in the life of the nation."

Refers to Old Slogan.

Referring to Germany's traditional "Gott mitt Uns" slogan, Hitler assured Germans that the Almighty is on their side and will stay there if the people keep their courage and faith. He denied that Germany or Italy would attempt to conquer the world. Such accusations, he said, are "infamous lies."

Hitler said that the war must go on to the destruction of the "responsible elements." He did not mention Mr. Roosevelt. That was left to the press.

[President Roosevelt said: "The Nazi masters of Germany have made it clear that they not only intend to dominate all life and thought in their own country, but also to enslave the whole of Europe and then to use the resources of Europe to dominate the rest of the world." He also said: "I believe that the axis powers are not going to win this war. I base that belief on the latest and best information."]

Excerpts from Messages.

Here are excerpts from the message of Hitler and his chief lieutenants:

Hitler—[to the fighting forces]: "Almighty God won't abandon those who, threatened by the world, have determined with courageous hearts to help themselves. . . . The war must be continued, according to the will of the democratic war inciters and their Jewish capitalistic wire pullers. . . . We are ready! Armed as never before, we stand at the door of the New Year. . . ."

Hitler—[to the National Socialists]: "Those infamous lies that the German reich or Italy intend to conquer the world! . . . In reality the world conquerors already existing need wars to reap higher interest on their capital. These . . . are precisely those states which declared war on Germany.

Says God Is Behind Nazis.

"In 1941 the Germany army, navy, and air force will be strengthened vastly and better armed. Their blows will demolish the last phrases of the war criminals and thus bring about preconditions for a real understanding among peoples. . . . If Herr Churchill and his associates now say their world can't stand beside ours that's their misfortune. . . . They won't destroy the German world. . . . Now this war will be carried on to its ultimate consequence—until the responsible criminals are eliminated.

"It is in bloody seriousness that we give the assurance that for every bomb dropped on us, ten or if necessary a hundred will be returned. . . . This war will be won not by luck but by justice. . . . And justice is on the side of the people who fight for their threatened existence. . . . God up to now has placed the stamp of approval on our battle. He will not foresake us in the future if we do our duty with courage and faith!"

Put Blame on Roosevelt.

There were loud declarations that Germany would not let herself be "provoked" by Mr. Roosevelt's words. A disposition was evident to refer the controversy "to the conscience of the American people."

The Boersenzeitung said that the President is "animated by the hysteria of a bankrupt man who apparently sees no other way out than desperate action."

DNB, official news agency, said: "The speech contained untruth and displayed a lack of political objectivity. Roosevelt's invectives showed evidence of nervousness, which is probably due to the fact that he realizes his guilt and responsibility for the desperate position of England, which he is beginning to feel is lost."

The Hamburger Fremdenblatt said: "Mr. Roosevelt betrayed his own imperialistic aspirations when he says, 'To remain alive in this world we must turn ourselves into a military power with a strong war economy.' This means that he stands for the prolongation of the European war. He admits that he is willing to provide arms for the 'front,' but does not himself want to fight at this front."

Der Angriff, Goebbels' paper, said: "The whole world will be astonished that the boss of the United States is so nervous."

CRIME DECLINES, FEWER PAROLES GRANTED IN 1940

Police Compare Records with Those of 1939.

Crime records for 1940 compiled yesterday by the Chicago Crime commission and the police department and compared with corresponding figures for 1939 show a decrease in murder, robbery, and burglary cases in the city, as well as a decrease in the number of persons sent to prison from Cook county. There also were fewer paroles.

The accomplishments of State's Attorney Courtney, Police Commissioner Allman, Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan, and the courts were held accountable for the showing made. The Chicago authorities said the pressure that had been exerted on the parole board was effective.

"Fewer parolees on the street means less crime," said Chief of Detectives Sullivan.

Comparative Figures Listed.

The comparative figures, with 29 days of December included in the city's 1940 crime totals, are as follows:

	1939.	1940.
Murders	175	173
Burglaries	11,274	10,174
Robberies	6,466	5,466
Sent to prison	791	725
Paroled	715	622
Parole violations	133	127

Gov. John Steele, who took office Oct. 5 on the death of Gov. Henry Horner, granted 13 pardons and commuted the sentences of three convicts. Five of the pardons were styl conditional, the recipients being under the necessity of reporting to the parole board monthly for the next three years. In the three years and nine months of Horner's second administration only two pardons were granted, and no sentences were commuted.

Warden Frank Sain of the Cook county jail sent 14 prisoners to the Joliet penitentiary yesterday, making a total of 72 sent from the county during the month of December. Eight of these were parole violators.

514 Cook Countians Paroled.

Crime commission records for the first 11 months of 1940 show that paroles were granted to 514 Cook county convicts. T. P. Sullivan, superintendent of the state division of supervision of parolees, reported the receipt of 108 additional parolees from the prisons during December for this district, which includes Will, Kane, and DuPage counties.

Supt. Sullivan's parole figures for the district are: paroled in 1939, 614; in 1940, 610; returned to prison for violations, in 1939, 90; in 1940, 96. In addition, Supt. Sullivan lists 96 convicts brought back from other states and returned to prison as parole violators in 1939, and 93 in 1940.

The crime commission's figures on paroles are taken from prison records and refer only to convicts sentenced in Cook county, whereas Sullivan's figures include men and women sentenced from other counties, some of whom are paroled to Chicago. Some Cook county convicts are paroled to other counties and states, Sullivan added.

Parole Table.

A comparison of the number of convicts received from Cook county in the four Illinois prisons, the number paroled, the parole violators, and the number of parolees sent back for the commission of new crimes, separated to show the four year terms of the governors from 1929 thru 1940, follows:

Year.	Entered prison.	Paroled.	Violators returned.	Returned for new crime.
Under Gov. Emerson.
1929	1,393	333	112	15
1930	1,367	524	88	13
1931	1,090	699	102	19
1932	1,265	670	146	23
Totals	5,115	2,226	448	70
Under Gov. Horner.
1933	1,388	821	127	43
1934	1,738	1,080	151	41
1935	1,013	1,282	211	37
1936	728	1,294	221	42
Totals	4,867	4,477	710	163
Under Gov. Horner and Gov. Stelle.
1937	882	252	256	49
1938	932	384	191	25
1939	791	715	133	11
1940	725	622	127	17
Totals	3,330	1,973	707	102

During Gov. Horner's first administration the Chicago police made so many protests over the release of dangerous criminals that a committee was formed by Frank J. Loesch, president emeritus of the crime commission, to bring about parole reform. This committee recommended the plan later embodied in the Ward-Schnackenberg bill which passed the legislature but was vetoed by Gov. Horner in 1937.

During the rest of Gov. Horner's life, it was observed, the parole board was under restraint, paroling less than half as many Cook county prisoners during his second term as it did in the previous term. After he became ill there was a tendency to increase the number of paroles granted, and since his death the board has authorized the freeing of nearly 400 convicts, about half of them being from Cook county.

Supt. Sullivan's records show that for the entire state, 26 parolees were convicted of new crimes in 1939. In 1940 the number was 38. [The figures cited in the preceding table are for Cook county only.]

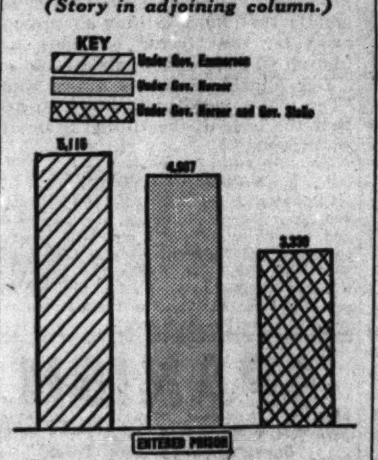
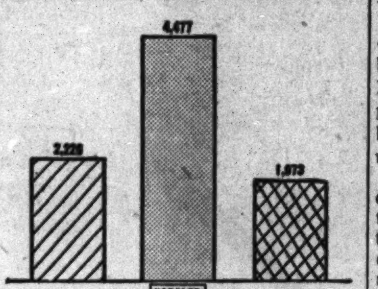
Facts on Paroles

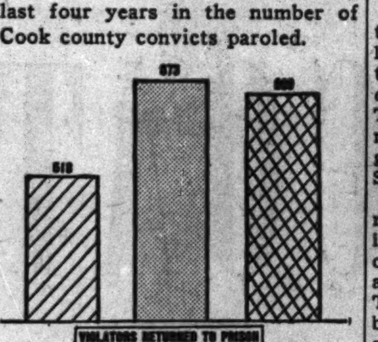
(Story in adjoining column.)



The number of convicts received at four Illinois prisons from Cook county has fallen steadily under three administrations, according to figures of the crime commission.



Protest in Gov. Horner's first administration over the large number of paroles brought a decrease in the last four years in the number of Cook county convicts paroled.



A slight decrease was noted in the last four years in the number of parolees from Cook county who were returned to prison for violation of parole conditions or for committing new crimes.

12,646 IN COUNTY SERVE ON JURIES DURING THE YEAR

During 1940 a total of 12,646 jurors served in courts or on grand juries under the Cook county jury commission, according to the commission's annual report issued yesterday. Forty-eight per cent of the jurors were women.

"Women have shown themselves to be good jurors, and they should have been serving years ago," said William E. Traeger Sr., a member of the commission. Other commissioners are John J. Hurley, and William H. Cruden.

The report shows that 3,389 jurors served in the Circuit court; 4,434 in the Superior court; 3,127 in the Criminal court; 1,278 in the Municipal court; 276 on grand juries; 55 in the Probate court; 35 in the Evanston Municipal court, and 52 in the Chicago Heights City court.

COUNTY HIGHWAY POLICE BUSY; 25 MORE MEN ASKED

The Cook county highway police during 1940 investigated 7,149 complaints, assisted or reported on 1,665 automobile accidents, worked on 10 murder cases, 32 cases of rape and attempted rape, 34 shootings, 65 robberies and 225 cases of dog bite, checked 496 violations of the motor vehicle laws, and patroled miles of highways. In addition the county highway policemen confiscated 782 slot machines and pay-off pin machines and 257 punch boards and recovered 959 stolen automobiles and 48 trucks. Chief Lester J. Laird said he needs 25 more men. He now has 125.

Critically Shot in Row with 3 Men on Street

John Kopala, 24 years old, of 747 North Throop street, was shot in the abdomen and critically wounded early today during an altercation with three men in front of 1106 North Hoyne avenue. He was taken to the county hospital by two friends and his sister, Stephanie, 17, who were with him. Lieut. Anthony McDonough of the North avenue police took one man into custody and said he was looking for two others.

NITTI BAR UNION OUSTED BY STATE LABOR COUNCIL

Gang Rule Prompts Move; Write-In Barred.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Local 278 of the Bartenders' union has been expelled from the Illinois Federation of Labor. Notice of the expulsion was received yesterday by Roy D. Keehn, whom Circuit Judge Robert Jerome Dunne appointed receiver of the union to free it from the clutches of the gang of Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti.

Word that the state federation had dropped the bartenders from membership was received soon after Judge Dunne had barred a write-in campaign against George B. McLane, business agent of the union, in the union election scheduled for Monday.

For some time past the state federation has been outspoken against the presence of gangsters in the control of labor unions. The reason for expelling the bartenders was not formally stated, but it was said the federation's executive board was convinced the union was being operated as a gangster agency.

Two Lead Union Slate.

McLane and James Crowley, secretary-treasurer of the union, are the leaders of one slate of candidates in the union election. Crowley is a candidate for the union's presidency. Their faction is opposed by union members who call themselves Progressives and who are led by Austin Steeves, candidate for president.

In court yesterday Judge Dunne ruled as insufficient a petition seeking to have McLane disqualified as a candidate on the ground he was not a person of good moral character. The judge declined, for the time being, to cite McLane for contempt of court.

Judge Dunne's decision that the name of a Progressive candidate against McLane could not be written in on the union ballots left McLane with but one opponent, Joseph McElligott, an unemployed bartender who is said also to be an ally of Crowley.

Crowley Switch Possible.

There has been talk that the Crowley supporters might switch from McLane to McElligott at the last minute, thereby throwing McLane overboard. The Crowley faction is understood to feel that McLane may prove to be a liability, and it was said they might drop him if his candidacy threatened to cause their defeat.

The Progressives wanted McLane beaten by some one not affiliated with Crowley, according to Steeves.

The action of the state federation in expelling the union was considered as greatly aiding the candidates led by Steeves. They are Russell Briggs, for vice president; Albert Reynolds, for secretary-treasurer; John Nagle, for recording secretary; Tony Bastone, for chaplain; Robert Klick, for inner guard, and Richard Nugent, John McLaughlin, and Martin Jirgal for trustees.

Minutes of Meeting.

It was learned that the virtual expulsion of the bartenders was voted last Dec. 14 in the state federation headquarters. The minutes of the meeting were cited as follows:

"The board decided that, under prevailing conditions, it would be to the best interest of the federation and its affiliated unions to receive no further payment from the Chicago bartenders' union at this time, and the secretary was so instructed."

The "prevailing conditions" were said to refer both to McLane's charges that Nitti had seized control of the union and to the receivership, into which the union was placed on the basis of the charges. McLane said Nitti gained control by means of death threats. He said Murray Humphreys, Danny [Public Enemy] Stanton, and other members of the old Capone syndicate were aligned with Nitti in running the union, and that Louis Romano, then president of the union, was a stooge for Nitti.

POLICE SLAYERS TAKE A HOLIDAY; FIRST SINCE 1897

9 Officers Shot in '40, but All Recover.

BY JAMES GAVIN.

Not a single Chicago policeman was killed by a criminal in 1940, Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan said last night. This is the first time in 43 years that such a record has been achieved.

"I was the happiest man in the world yesterday when I presented this report to Commissioner Allman," Sullivan said. "Nine policemen were shot during the year, but every one of them recovered.

"Not since 1897 has the Chicago police department gone thru a year without one of its members being slain while on duty. The policemen of today are schooled to be on their toes when danger confronts them. And their target practice hasn't handicapped them one bit."

Here's Their Box Score.

The box score of the police department and of citizens in their encounters with criminals during 1940 follows:

Policemen killed on duty, 0.
Criminals killed by police, 8.
Criminals killed by civilians, 3.

Sullivan reported that during the last 43 years 217 policemen have been killed by criminals. The highest number killed on duty in any one year was 13, but that many men were killed both in 1928 and in 1933.

The eight criminals killed by police during 1940 and the circumstances of their deaths follow:

Joseph Rynkowski, 40, shot and killed Feb. 7 by policemen from the East Chicago avenue station while fleeing after a robbery. He was an ex-convict and had escaped from a Missouri insane asylum.

Nathaniel Brooks, colored, 24, shot Jan. 21 by Policeman William Thomar of the Stanton avenue station when caught burglarizing a grocery; died Feb. 22.

Thomas Mayo, 22, killed May 10 by Policeman Robert Anderson of Town hall station while fleeing after a robbery.

Joseph Schiro, 32, killed May 28 by Policemen Maurice Magner and Charles Keirsting of the Cragin station when he and a companion shot it out with the officers who surprised them in the act of holding up a loan office.

Lawrence Bourge, 33, companion of Schiro, slain by policemen in the same robbery.

Frank Manor, shot and killed August 5 by Policeman William J. Nolan of the Town hall station when he and a companion were caught burglarizing a drug store.

Charles Tamkus, 20, shot Dec. 15 by police of the Marquette station after robbing a taxicab driver.

John Mortimer, 33, killed Oct. 21, by William Harrington and Edwin Bidwell of the park police while riding in a stolen car.

Holdup men killed by civilians during 1940 were:

William Armstrong, 28, killed Nov. 18 by Richard Wastman, 232 Home avenue, Oak Park, gas station attendant, whom he tried to rob.

Ruben Bickley, 28, killed Dec. 6 by Earl Stafford, 929 North Long avenue, owner of a gas station, when he and a companion attempted a holdup.

Chester Janiszewski, 26, shot and killed by Dominick Cicero, manager of a laundry Janiszewski and a companion attempted to rob.

During 1939 two policemen were killed in gun battles with bandits.

Policemen killed nine criminals in 1939 and nine more were slain by civilians.

CRIMINAL COURT SENDS 1,049 TO CELLS DURING '40

Fifty-five Repeaters Get Life Prison Terms.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

The Cook County Criminal court in 1940 sent 1,049 criminals to penitentiaries, including 20 women who were sent to the women's prison at Dwight.

In this group were 55 crime repeaters, who got life sentences under the habitual criminal act. Six were sentenced to the electric chair and four died in the chair.

The court sentenced 1,534 persons to various penitentiaries, jail, or to the Bridewell. In addition, 397 others were convicted, but 355 received another chance on probation, while the 42 others were let off with fines or other light punishment.

Docket Running Behind.

Thomas J. Bowler, clerk of the Criminal court, announced these statistics yesterday in his annual report to Chief Justice James F. Fardy of the court and State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney. The report credited the chief justice, the five associate judges, and the prosecutor's office with a good conviction record. It showed, however, that the court is running behind in disposing of indictments, and Judge Fardy dispatched a letter asking for additional judges.

The statistics show that convictions were obtained in 88.4 per cent of the cases tried. They also show that 320 indictments are on the pending docket at the start of the new year, 100 more than a year ago. Judge Fardy explained he has been trying to get along with only five associates, as compared with six or seven in former years.

Tables for the Year.

The work of the court during 1940 as set out in a statistical table prepared by Clerk Bowler is as follows:

Indictments returned	1,919
Indictments disposed of	1,889
Defendants tried [some indictments name more than one]	2,193
Defendants convicted	1,938
Defendants sent to penitentiaries	1,029
Women sentenced to Dwight prison	20
Sentenced to county jail	204
Sentenced to Bridewell	282
Sentenced as habitual criminals	55

The report shows that less than 10 per cent of the defendants in the Criminal court ask for jury trials. The report on this subject is as follows:

	Defendants.	Convicted.	Acquitted
Tried by jury	201	113	88
Tried by judge on waivers	1,427	1,260	167
Pleaded guilty	565	565	...
Totals	2,193	1,938	255

The statistics reveal that robbery is the most prevalent of all serious crimes. The report shows 491 robbers sent to the penitentiary; 60 for murder, 43 for manslaughter, 101 for assault charges, 180 for automobile larceny and kindred crimes, and 126 for sex offenses.

The four murderers executed were Howard Poe, colored, a police killer; Victor Wnukowski and Frank Michalowski, youthful murderers of a northwest side tavern patron, and Robert Schroeder, moron killer of a girl 8 years old.

"I am satisfied with the work done by my associates so far this year," said Chief Justice Fardy in commenting on the report. "However, we are running a little behind because we had more cases to start the court year in September than they had the year before and because we are trying to operate with one less judge.

"The court call is in good shape considering conditions, but we must have at least one more judge and probably two so we can keep the docket in good shape and be right on the heels of those who commit crime during the coming year. Punishment must be swift if it is to act as a deterrent to others."

Associate judges in the Criminal court are John Sbarbaro, Walter LaBuy, Joseph A. Graber, Julius Miner, and John F. Bolton.

GREEN DECLINES STELLE OFFER TO PICK 100 POLICE

Refuses to Act Until He's Governor.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Gov.-Elect Dwight H. Green yesterday declined Gov. John Stelle's invitation to fill 100 vacancies on the state highway police force prior to his inauguration Jan. 13.

In replying to a telegram from Stelle, Green repeated his intention of taking the state police out of politics, and added that the Democrats—Stelle's party—in recent years have discharged many excellent former highway patrolmen who could be reinstated to meet any emergency.

To Name Police Advisors.

Green also disclosed that he is forming a special group to advise him on police problems, and will not consider suggesting appointments to the force until this committee has set up requirements for applicants.

Gov. Stelle's telegram to his successor was prompted by the resignations of about 100 of the 350 members of the force, effective today. Many resigned to join their chief, Walter Williams, as civilian guards at the government ordnance plants being constructed near Wilmington and Elwood.

The outgoing governor wired Green that he was offering him the opportunity to name 100 men whom Stelle said he would appoint to the force, "since it is both impossible and impractical to fill these vacancies for a two week period."

"The officers resigning," Stelle continued, "have been informed by the Republican chairmen in their counties that they are to be released Jan. 13 [when Green is inaugurated] and we cannot censure them for seeking security for their families."

This paragraph of Stelle's wire drew a heated reply from Green, since it implied that persons other than the governor-elect were making patronage committments.

"I have wired Gov. Stelle," Green said, "that if any person, political, official or otherwise, has presumed to tell any state employés when their terms of service shall end, it has been done without any authority from me.

Suggests Reinstatements.

"It is obviously impossible for me to meet Gov. Stelle's request that I suggest or select a large number of men for replacements on the state highway police force without opportunity to consider any such men strictly on a merit basis and on their fullest qualifications for such work.

"There are in Illinois many excellent men who were able and efficient officers on the state highway force. They were deprived of their positions in recent years by the Democratic party. The highway department records will disclose their fitness and the degree of their experience. I feel quite sure that reinstatement of a sufficient number of the most available of them would meet any emergency that might arise. I have telegraphed Gov. Stelle to this effect."

The governor-elect said that policing the Illinois highways was such a vital duty that the appointment of men to fulfill it required far more consideration than a few hours.

"It was known some time ago," he continued, "that a number of policemen were intending to resign so that they could go into government service with their chief, Walter Williams, who turned in his resignation to take effect Jan. 1."

Cites Previous Statement.

The governor elect then added:

"I stated publicly a few days ago that a thoro merit system must control appointments as highway policemen, as well as determining advancement and tenure of office. That statement should serve as assurance that the highway police force was going to be taken out of politics and that capable men need not fear discharge.

"My advice now to all policemen who are confident of their efficiency is that they pay no attention to rumors trumped up for political reasons.

"I have already given deep consideration to improvement of the highway force, and already have discussed with a number of authorities their availability for membership on a special committee to consider all problems involved."

JOLIET PRISON HAS FIRST YEAR WITHOUT ESCAPE

Warden Joseph E. Ragen of Joliet penitentiary reported yesterday that for the first year since the prison was built in 1857, there had been no escapes, attempted escapes, or any serious disturbance during 1940. He said that this record was achieved in spite of the fact that an average of 500 convicts are employed daily on details outside the walls. The population of Joliet and Stateville prisons and the honor farm at year's end was placed by the warden at 5,705. The high figure for the year was 5,971 during the summer.

ROOSEVELT'S PROGRAM FOR INDUSTRY.

There were some remarks toward the end of Mr. Roosevelt's speech of Sunday evening which deserve more attention than they are likely to receive. They had to do with domestic rather than foreign policy. The treatment was sketchy and probably deliberately so to avoid too clear an understanding of the President's purposes, but enough was said to make his intentions evident.

Labor must recognize that there is an emergency, he said. Just what form that recognition must take was not specified, but presumably it includes longer hours if they are found necessary for some or all employés. The President did specify that there must be no strikes or lockouts. The nation, he said, "expects and insists that management and workers will reconcile their differences by voluntary or legal means to continue to produce the supplies that are so sorely needed."

The important words in that sentence are "insists" and "legal." The President is serving notice that the right to strike is to be abrogated. The government is to be the boss of labor relations, just as it is in Hitler's Germany, in Stalin's Russia, and in all the other modern tyrannies.

It is possible that some employers will rejoice at this declaration of intention, but if they do they are very shortsighted indeed. A government which does not hesitate to deprive trade unions of their strongest economic weapon will not hesitate, either, to deprive employers and managers of their rights. If Mr. Roosevelt has lost faith in the patriotism of labor, he is not likely to place much confidence in the good will of business managers whom he has always mistrusted.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Roosevelt intimated that he has already determined upon a policy of economic control which goes far beyond anything which business men have seen in the last eight years. The government, he said, "is bending every effort to maintain stability of prices," and he left no doubt that that is to be its continuing policy. At present these efforts are not unduly hampering the movement of goods, but what will happen if, as is not unlikely, the great expenditures on account of armament lead to an inflationary rise of prices? Mr. Roosevelt has clearly foreshadowed his purpose to impose administered prices on the nation's economy. That is another idea borrowed from Herr Hitler and Comrade Stalin. Experience suggests that it will not increase the productivity of American industry, but it will go far to establish the economic revolution which Mr. Roosevelt's previous acts show that he favors in his heart.

To make his meaning a little clearer Mr. Roosevelt went on to say that we must "discard the notion of 'business as usual.'" Production facilities, he said, must be increased far beyond the estimates of requirements by men in industry. Plant capacity which the managers know to be in excess of any foreseeable need must be obtained in one way or another.

Mr. Roosevelt did not mention steel in this connection, but there is little doubt that it was in his mind. The spokesmen for the industry have said that with the additional plant which has been ordered they can produce all the steel which may be needed for American and British armament as well as for ordinary domestic needs. They have shown that at most the war requirements will take not more than a fourth of their capacity and have intimated that if there is any shortage it can easily be corrected thru some sort of priority plan. The President without presenting any facts or figures to support his position roughly pushed this argument aside as beneath contempt. He took the position that he knows more about steel than the men in the business and intimated that they were small minded. "Our defense efforts must not be blocked," he said, "by those who fear the future consequences of surplus plant capacity. . . . A proper handling of the country's peacetime needs after the war will require all of the new productive capacity—if not still more."

This "proper handling of the country's peacetime needs" is the goal toward which Mr. Roosevelt has been striving these eight years. He believes with Herr Hitler and Comrade Joe that the only proper handling is economic dictatorship. In the passage quoted he is saying in effect that after the war and as a result of the war the dictatorship toward which he has been moving will be accomplished. He will have Nazified this country in the effort to defeat the Nazification of Europe.

REBUILDING CHICAGO.

The City club served as the forum the other day for a discussion by Mr. Elmer Jensen and Mr. Max Loewenberg of the proposed neighborhood development bill which will be introduced in the forthcoming session of the legislature. The addresses commanded wide attention because it is now generally recognized that the future of Chicago and of all other large cities in the country depends to a great extent upon their ability to reclaim the run-down areas which year by year have extended further from the central business district.

Many years ago the problem was seen to be a serious one, but little has been done about it. The Field estate and the late Julius Rosenwald financed large scale housing projects, the one on the north side and the other on the south, with results which have been encouraging. The federal government has built a number of large projects, but all of this effort has scarcely made a dent in the problem. It is unlikely that much new money will be available for federal housing, now that rearmament is placing a heavy drain on the treasury and the amounts required are out of all relation to the resources of private philanthropy.

The neighborhood development plan may provide the solution. It will at least make it easier for private investment to venture in the field. At present there is much difficulty in assembling large blocks of land in run-down areas for rehabilitation. The refusal of a few individuals to sell is only one obstacle. Another and frequently more troublesome one is the difficulty of finding the owners who can transfer their holdings. The bill would authorize the condemnation of these properties provided a clear showing is made that the area in question is run-down and provided also that 60 per cent of the desired plot has already been acquired by direct purchase. Supervision by a public agency is required.

It is not certain that the plan will accomplish all that is expected of it. As Mr. Loewenberg said, "time alone can tell whether private building corporations will be able to do the job successfully." The experiment is certainly worth trying, however. At worst, it can do no harm and it may work a vast amount of good.

THE BUSINESS PROSPECT.

Nineteen hundred and forty was a year of astonishing business volume, with the peak coming at the end. Industrial operations in November, as measured by the federal reserve board, reached an all time high. The index of the board stood at 131 in that month, a 7 point increase from last year. There is every reason to believe that there was another new high water mark in December.

Some other communities have experienced a greater boom than Chicago did, but the total output of the factories here has never before been as large as it was the month before last. This is indicated by the amount of freight shipped out of the Chicago terminal district. A little over 203,000 freight cars were loaded here in November. That was the largest number for any November in 11 years. The last time more cars were loaded in November in this community was in 1929 when the figure was 210,000. But the 1929 cars were smaller. The average American freight car has been increasing in size for 25 years. Each year some new big cars are added and some old little cars are sent to the scrap pile. Expressing shipments in tons, based upon average car capacity, we find that 10¼ million tons of freight were loaded here in November, which is nearly a million tons more than in the same month in 1929.

The boom of 1940 was not alone reflected in larger index numbers of output and more freight. Total income payments to the people of the United States are running at the rate of 6½ billion dollars a month, and that is equal to the 1929 average. The money is being spent. Usually reliable estimates place the sales of Chicago department stores in December at 6 per cent higher than last year. It was the biggest month's business in 10 years, and taking account of the price level possibly the biggest month's business of all time.

Sales of automobiles in Cook county in November, 1939, broke the all time record for the month. This record was in turn beaten by nearly 50 per cent in November, 1940. And in December another new mark was set.

And people have not alone been spending their bigger incomes for Christmas presents, apparel, and automobiles. They are eating better. In November it rained hogs in Chicago. Receipts at the yards set a record over a period of years. More cattle than last year also were marketed. And yet the farmers were paid substantially higher prices than they received last year. The packers could pay the farmers more, despite the larger supply, because housewives are putting more meat on their tables.

As the year ends, further gains seem to be imminent. Advance orders on the books of some of our most important industries are large beyond all precedent. And American industries have been told that it is their duty to increase production facilities further.

Meanwhile the average price of 30 leading industrial stocks stood at 131 yesterday when the last transaction of the year was ticked. A year ago the average of the same stocks was 150. Since 1934 stocks have been higher at every year's end but one. But never before has the level of business been as high. The low level of stock prices is an indication of the uncertainty of the outlook for business volume and taxes. If speculators believed that business in 1941 would be as good as it was in 1940, the stock market would have boiled and prices would have been materially higher.

The reason for doubt is clear. The principal stimulus in 1940 was supplied by the British and American armament orders. Armament, ours and Britain's, is likely to be the principal business factor in 1941. The reason business cannot be accurately forecast is that the direction that the war may take is highly uncertain. If the war suddenly comes to an end in 1941 as a result of a negotiated peace, which would have to involve disarmament, business would lose its principal stimulant. If the war ends in the defeat of the British their orders would be lost but presumably work would continue and even be expanded on our armament plans. If the war ends in 1941 in the defeat of Germany, it seems likely that our war boom would collapse. If the war continues, and we as a nonbelligerent, the volume of business is likely to mount. If war continues and we become an active participant, with an expeditionary force going to Europe, Africa or Asia, then we may expect industrial output to increase, with a reduction in the amount of business done by peacetime industries. No one can say which of these possibilities will eventuate. And since that is so, the future is obscure. Never, in fact, has the range of possibility in a year been so wide as that of 1941 appears to be on this New Year's day.

MR. COCHRAN AND THE WRIGHT PLANE.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Representative John J. Cochran of St. Louis has added his voice to the many that have urged the return of the Wright brothers' original plane from the museum in England which is now its custodian. It is regrettable that the unseemly controversy, in which the Smithsonian institution refused to give full credit to the Wrights, was ever allowed to develop to the stage where the surviving brother sent the historic plane to England. Now that every British building is in danger of destruction by Nazi bombs, the reasons for the plane's return become all the more compelling.

"It belongs here," as Mr. Cochran says. "It does not belong in England." Perhaps congress, under his urging, will be able to work out a plan for the return of this important memento of aviation to the shores where that science had its birth.

REGARDING NEW YEAR'S DAY.

The standard poets have not done much to celebrate New Year's day as an emotional moment in the life of man. Tennyson's "Ring out, wild bells, to the wild sky" is the most famous lyric treatment of the subject, and these eight quatrains do not form an independent poem, altho often quoted as such, but are a passage in "In Memoriam." . . . Elsewhere in the great anthology called "The Home Book of Verse," you can find only "The Death of the Old Year," by Tennyson, and "Dirge for the Year," by Shelley, both funereal of tone.

* * *

As a time of celebration, the day's proximity to Christmas makes it an anticlimax. [How about a petition to the White House to move it elsewhere on the calendar?]

* * *

The French have a happy idea about brightening up the cold gray dawn of the morning after New Year's eve. They make it a gift exchanging day, altho not with our Christmas abandon. Such presents are called étrennes. See a short story by Maupassant with that word as its title.

* * *

To children New Year's day has no special glamor. It's merely an extra Sunday plunked down into the week. . . . For adults, its old fashioned social ceremony of miscellaneous visiting has been largely killed off by the saturnalia of the night before. Who wants to go out on a round of New Year's calls with the year's most terrible hangover casting its shadow over his spirit?

* * *

Last chance for Christmas trees to shine like good deeds in a naughty world! Last call for football pageantry! . . . No telephone messages for the Linemaster will be answered between 4 and 7 o'clock. In spirit he will be on the 50 yard line of the Rose bowl.

"I AM SIR ORACLE."

If you don't believe as I do
You're a skunk;
You're a Caesar, an appeaser,
And a good for nothing punk.
So you might as well get ready and Begin to pack your trunk,
You exotic, prodespotic,
And of course unpatriotic
Bunch of junk.

If you dare to contradict me
It's the bunk;
I will smite you, and indict you
For a loud, loquacious lunk.
I will chase you from the country as
A contumacious chunk.
After teasin' for a season
I'll get up and holler "Treason!"
Till you're sunk. Neanderthal Man.

White gowned figures among chemical glassware and sterile white apparatus, the little group of experimenters watched with almost impassive faces. The center of their attention was a tall, lean man who moved with a languid smoothness but whose quick gray eyes gave the impression that the mind behind them was as brilliant as a many faceted gem. He was Dr. Hans von Gerhardt, formerly of the research staff of the Universität zu Wien.

Dr. von Gerhardt took the liter flask from his assistant and, measuring with infinite care, added a quantity of granular brown stuff to its shimmering contents. He set it over a Bunsen burner, seemingly unaware that the men pressed closer. Minutes ticked by; the slanting rays of the evening sun splashed red over the group and flamed to a scarlet focus in the heart of the flask. Then the liquid was suffused with brown, a few bubbles spiraled upward, emitting puffs of vapor as they burst at the surface. Nods and whispers from the men.

Dr. von Gerhardt straightened, his scientific detachment momentarily replaced by a glow of triumph. "Gentlemen," he murmured, "our coffee is ready." Beelzebub Jr.

Consider It Proclaimed.

I wish the Linemaster would proclaim a "Return Borrowed Books Week," commencing with the first of the year, in emulation of the splendid Chinese custom of settling all of their debts on the first of the year. Philardee.

THE LEAF TURNS.

I'm making resolutions
To be good
As I can be!
And I wouldn't be at all surprised
If wings
Should sprout on me!
In
Nineteen hundred forty-one
I'll never burn
The toast!
I'll always keep the budget straight . . .
—At least almost!
I'll be a patient
Listener
To tales by whomsoever,
And I shall never yawn
At jokes . . .
—Or almost never!
I think I'll even learn to cook—
Perhaps I'll even Sew!
O, I shall be a model wife—
Or nearly so!

THAT TRUSTING CHERUB—1941.

OUT of the eons of time a New Year has been born. Old 1940, except for its memories, has disappeared into the fathomless past. When the bells tolled at midnight some of us may have detected a note of mournfulness—for have we not envisioned savage elemental beasts in human form ravaging well-nigh helpless peoples? But along with these deep rumblings there came the overtones—the silvery chimes of hope—transforming the wails of homeless children and enslaved fathers and mothers into cheers born of courage.

Will 1941 bring to each of us health and happiness? Well, it all depends upon ourselves and what we do and are. We may possess the world—we may have everything that insures comfort and pleasure—but having is not doing. Each of us has a responsibility to himself and to his neighbor.

We can shed our shortcomings as the trees in autumn let fall their leaves. But do we and will we? Even qualities that appear to be undesirable may be turned to good account if we will learn and profit by experience. They can be mellowed and digested and—by the alchemy of kindness—altered into virtues. Like the foliage of autumn they may cover and nurture budding impulses of great promise. A world full of hate is gloomy and despairful. But no matter how black the clouds or how dark the outlook, we know that the sun is shining on the other side.

Let us look upon this cherub—1941—as a center of light rising in the sky destined to dispel the darkness of man's inhumanity. If each will do his part we can count our blessings by the thousands, and we can fill our days with work and love and sympathy for all who are sick or oppressed.

Let history record the betrayal of civilization in certain quarters. That is for posterity to read—if it chooses. But nothing is to be gained by mourning over wasted hopes or lost loves. Plans that have gone awry—with complete frustration—can be refashioned on new foundations. Rather may we contemplate the joys and successes that have come our way. If we have done our best we may let the old year pass with a benediction for the benisons it has brought. Tranquility and quiet always follow a storm.

Well being is not like the lilies of the field. Its possession requires some thought for the morrow. Given a reasonably strong body we have no right to punish its vital organs or to impose upon its willingness to serve. It will forgive many transgressions, but there may come a time when the tissues cannot perform the tasks assigned to them. At least for the sake of those who are dependent upon us, who pour out in generous measure wells of affection, we can justify reasonable attention to health.

One of the worst tragedies in life is to witness the crumbling of a brilliant mind because its housing—the physical body—has crashed. Society needs sorely the counsels of maturity, as well as the energy, the enthusiasm, and the new ideas of young manhood and womanhood.

Yes! We welcome the New Year with joyous hearts and open arms. But let us endeavor to guide and train the prattling youngster in the ways of peace and good will. Altho he is a stranger to us, if we will take him into our hearts he will not betray our faith. His big inquiring eyes are innocent and trusting, and they bespeak a ready response to our guiding hands. Let's make him our friend.

A MIX UP.

A. P. writes: I have been told that I have crossed cords in the throat. What can be done for this condition? Swallowing food causes a raw feeling in the area.

REPLY.

I have heard of crossed fingers and crossed wires but not of crossed vocal cords. These structures are so fixed that they cannot become entangled. A skilled throat specialist should examine you.

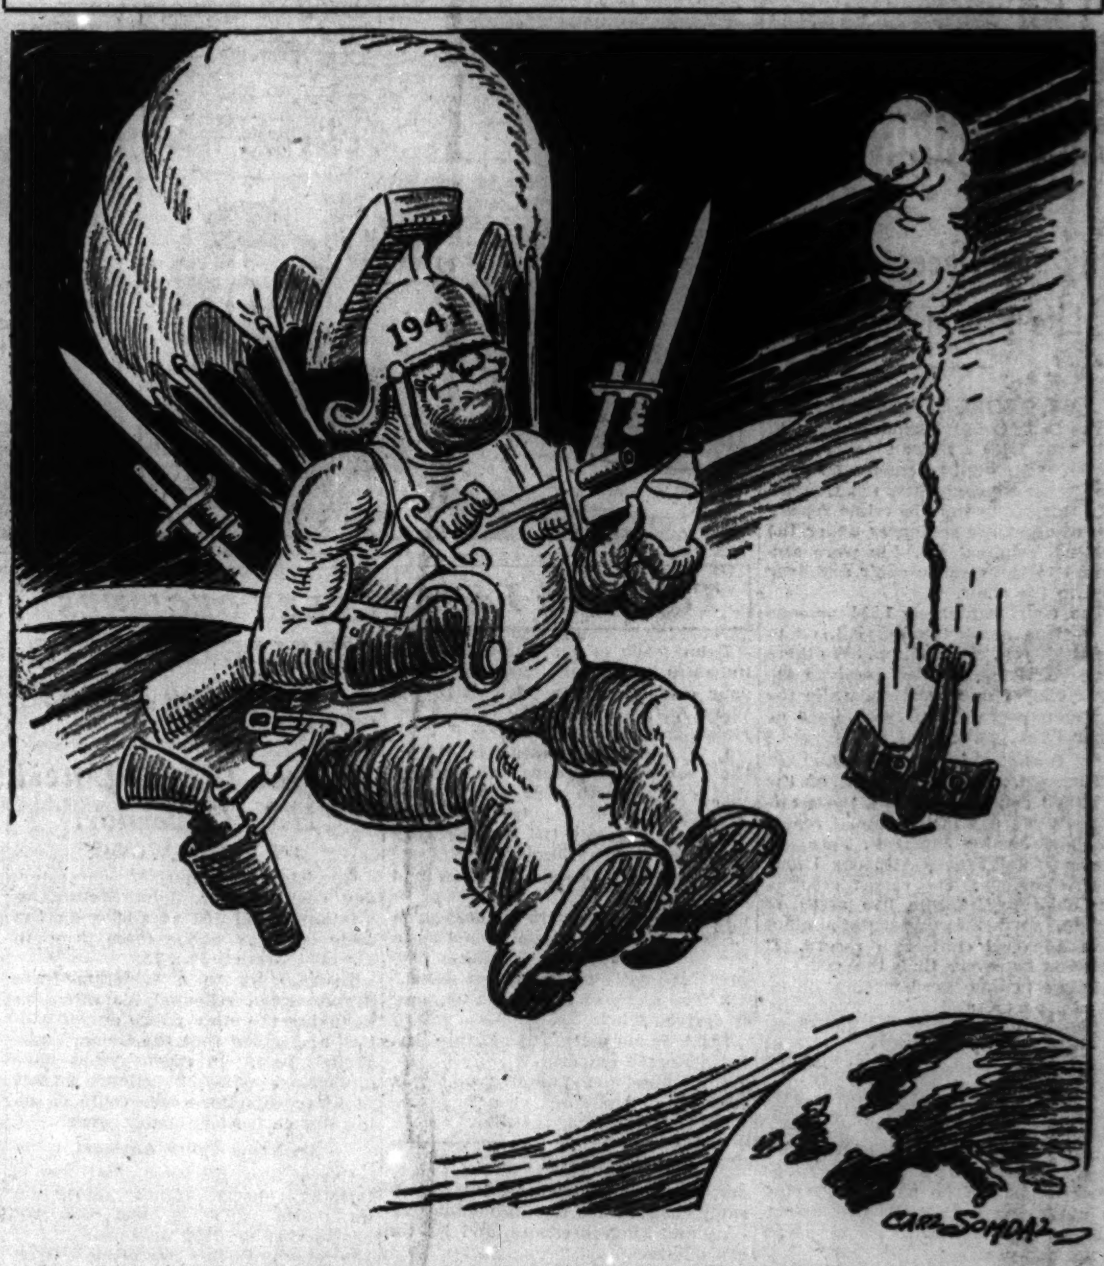
WEIGHT LIFTING.

J. K. writes: How much weight may an average boy of 19 lift without injuring himself?

REPLY.

Much depends upon his avoirdupois, as well as practice. One-half to two-thirds the body's weight is heavy enough.

ANOTHER SAFE LANDING



VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

FROM FATHER O'BRIEN.

Notre Dame, Ind., Dec. 30.—Much interest has been manifested in an address "Should Americans Fight Europe's War?" which I delivered recently to the faculty and students at Notre Dame university. As excerpts were quoted in The Tribune, may I correct a few misconstructions of my thesis on the part of some of your readers?

Telegrams and letters from all parts of the country poured in, indorsing the sentiments expressed in the ratio of about nine to one. Running thru all of them was the wistful, groping plea for leadership and organization to save them from war.

My thesis was that the American people should resist the propaganda of the interventionists and of all who are seeking, consciously or unconsciously, to pull us into Europe's strife. I mentioned specifically the William Allen White committee as advocating measures which would strip America of her own defenses and would so commit America politically, financially, and militarily to Britain as to render our involvement almost inevitable.

"It is time," said the chairman, William Allen White, in November, "for us to take sides in this war." Isn't that plain enough? While many good and sincere people are on the White committee, it is unfortunate that they do not realize that they are supporting an interventionist organization which threatens, more than the dictators of Europe, the peace of America.

At no time have I advocated selfish isolationism as a national policy, nor the refusal of aid to Britain within the limitations of the neutrality law and of the Johnson act. But the White group has sought by ceaseless propaganda to force the administration to violate and evade these wise restraints by wholesaling our military equipment to Britain and loaning her billions. "Strip America naked; impoverish our people; plunge us into another depression," is the inevitable outcome of the White propaganda.

In common with the vast majority of the American people, I urged aid to feed the starving people of Poland, Norway, Denmark, Holland and Belgium. Why should our aid be limited to Britain alone? Why should Britain refuse us permission to help feed these oppressed people with 20 million of them facing starvation? Is Britain consistent in shouting frantically to us for aid, while she refuses us permission to feed the starving people of other lands? Is this Christianity? Is this humanitarianism? Or is it British imperialism at all costs?

I have nothing but sympathy and admiration for Britain's resistance to German aggression and nothing but abhorrence for Hitlerism. But if America made it unmistakably clear that she shall not be involved, would there not be greater willingness to negotiate peace and less "war to the bitter end" talk?

While sympathetic with Britain, I do not want to see 10 million American boys torn from their homes to achieve another Versailles, to fasten Britain's strangle hold on one-fifth of the globe, and to sow the seeds of another war. Justice, like charity, begins at home. Let America put her own house in order before she seeks to reform Europe. Is it democratic for us to dictate to the peoples of the old world the form of government they must have?

In 1810 Jefferson declared: "The American who seeks by force to reform Europe is a maniac." That immortal utterance should be blazoned on the page of every newspaper, proclaimed on every broadcasting station, sung in every school, carved over the doors of every home in America. It should become today our national motto.

INSUFFICIENT POSTAGE.

Orland Park, Ill., Dec. 26.—Two days ago I again received from the postoffice a notice stating that a piece of mail was being held for insufficient postage [many Chicagoans seem not to know the 2 cent rate applies only in Chicago] and a 1 cent stamp must be sent if I wanted the letter. A 3 cent stamp must be used to mail this 1 cent for postage due. Also a wait of three to five days is involved, not to mention the inconvenience or the fact that sometimes this delay means the mail is of no value, since it was an invitation or notice which because of the delay is too late to be of use.

My point is, no time or effort is saved, since the card of notification, for which no postage is paid, must be delivered. This inefficient system costs the addressee [who is not at fault] 4 cents instead of 1 cent, not to mention the delay, aggravation, and inconvenience, especially when this happens three or four times in a week, as it has at times.

Is this modern efficiency or a racket?

Annoyed.

FOR THE GREEK CAUSE.

New York, Dec. 25.—Please permit me to state that the Greek people thruout the world are profoundly grateful to The Chicago Tribune for its splendid editorials concerning Greece, its inhabitants, and its army. By your editorials you are rendering a priceless service to the people of Greece, and you are paying the deserved tribute to the glorious and heroic deeds of the men who are making the superb sacrifice for the salvation of democracy. George J. Chryssikos.

HE LOOKS TO CONGRESS.

Western Springs, Ill., Dec. 25.—Americans were not given the opportunity to vote "No" on the foreign policy of the administration at the last election.

Congress can stand in the gap. The majority of its membership are patriotic Americans. Congress can save America from foreign entanglement in the power politics of Europe.

A HIGHWAY TO ALASKA.

Oak Park, Ill., Dec. 23.—Canada and the United States both may soon need a military highway thru Canada from Oregon to Alaska. With Canada's permission the United States might be able to build the highway before war comes to both of us from the west. M. D.

KEEPSAKE STOLEN.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—This is the Christmas story of a middle aged woman who left her purse for just one minute in the washroom of a west side store. It contained her mourning handkerchief, her little personal things, and a few dollars she had worked so hard for. If this should reach the eyes of the one who took it, would finder please send her just that old worn out wallet of her husband's which contains his name, address, social security number, and other little personal trinkets a man likes to gather up and carry around. She can earn money again, she can buy more mourning handkerchiefs, and she can buy a new purse some day, but she can never buy a wallet that will replace the one he carried till his death nearly a year ago. Who could have looked into the purse and have seen what it contained and not put it back? I write as the friend of the broken hearted woman. Mrs. A. A. N.

GROUPS.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Strange goings on in America. From every nook and corner of the country groups are springing up. Groups to give voice to the masses. Groups of psuedo-Cliveden sets. Groups for this and that.

It was my impression that we, the people, expressed ourselves loudly and clearly on last Nov. 5. It is our duty to support the administration which we elected in every policy both domestic and foreign.

People who have too much time hanging on their hands can find plenty to do at the Red Cross, aiding in the Community Chest, and all the welfare agencies. Let's get together and really make this a United States. Mrs. M. Dehlinger.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

PROMISSORY NOTES.

Niles, Mich., Dec. 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am holding two promissory notes amounting to $1,000 which were made out for a loan in Chicago, Ill., since January, 1932.

1. How long are these notes legal? The party has not made any attempt to pay back or even pay interest.

2. Interest on the notes is stated at 10 per cent. If these notes have a legal time limit—

3. What could be done to keep them valid? Is there any way to collect on the notes if the signer has his property in his wife's name, or jointly? C. F.

1. The Illinois limitation period is 10 years from the maturity date.

2. This interest would be usurious in Illinois and it would follow that only the principal would be recoverable.

3. Unless the debtor makes a part payment or a new promise you should start court proceedings within the period.

Test Your Horse Sense

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE.

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 42.

1. If a workman asked his helper to bring the miter box, would he be a Priest Physician Carpenter Plumber.
2. When eating mulligatawny, a person would generally prefer to use a Cocktail Fork Soup Spoon Dinner Fork Teaspoon.
3. If a hunter shot a vixen in the woods, would his game be a female Fox Rabbit Grouse Raccoon.
4. The loganberry is a hybrid produced by a fusion of Blackberry and Huckleberry Strawberry and Raspberry Gooseberry and Huckleberry Blackberry and Raspberry.
5. Which of the following creatures would most likely preen itself? Wolf Pigeon Cow Walrus.
6. Since so many New Year's resolutions are soon broken, many people debate the wisdom of ever making them in the first place. Sound psychology, which is only another name for horse sense, would support which one of the following plans:

——Never make resolutions if you are likely to break them, for this method eliminates a guilty conscience;

——Write out your resolutions so that you have taken an inventory of yourself, but if you know you will break them anyway, just refrain from ever putting them into practice;

——Formulate your resolutions and launch yourself upon the new habits as vigorously as possible, even tho you may feel pretty sure you will break them sooner or later.

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—the last question counts five points.]

CHICAGO GREETS NEW YEAR WITH ROUSING HELLO

Revelers Look Forward to a Happy 1941.

debating whether we'll go out a little later. Happy New Year to all!

BAACKE, MRS. LILLIAN, 7511 Lafayette avenue.—I just sat and listened to the radio. There are six of us in the family, but some of them were out and Mr. Baacke was asleep. The little boy and I saw the new year in together. The old year was pretty fair to me. All that I hope for 1941 is that it will bring good luck.

CAANN, MISS ETHEL, 1346 East 61st street—It's a merry New Year. I'm just getting ready to go out for a dance, and I'm looking forward to a fine 1941. I hope everybody's happy.

DAALDER, JOHN, 1122 East 55th street [Mrs. Daalder]—We're having a party, with about a dozen people here. Right now they're playing pinochle. We're ushering in the New Year with a few highballs, but no one's had too many—yet. We'll be eating at midnight, but we'll make our share of noise, even if we have to run down four flights of stairs to do it!

EACH, ALBERT S., 7646½ Saginaw avenue [Mrs. Each]—We're staying at home and having a very quiet New Year's eve. We have some guests, a family of three. We're not interested in drinking, and I guess we won't make any noise.

FAAS, MILTON, 6600 North Rockwell street [a daughter, possibly Linda]—I'm going out to a house party. I don't know what we're going to do or when I'll get home. Yes, I think 1940 was grand, and I have great expectations for 1941. I don't know who you are, but I'm sure this isn't THE TRIBUNE. Maybe I'm going to the same place you are. I'll be wearing a pink carnation.

GAA, CHARLES C., 7408 North Hoyne avenue [Mrs. Gaa speaking]—There's just my husband and I, sitting around and reading. We've had our New Year's dinner; we hope for a lot of prosperity next year, and a happy New Year to you!

HAA, P. P., 6022 Wood street [Mrs. Haa]—The whole family—two sons, one daughter, and a daughter-in-law—is playing pinochle, and it looks like a big evening.

IACCINO, TONY, 2526 Newland avenue [Mr. Iacinno]—We're having our New Year's eve card party.

JAARDA, Mrs. SETH, 8143 May street—We're having some relatives over and spending a quiet evening at home. I don't know what 1941 will bring, but I hope it will bring peace.

KAAD, MISS KATHERINE, 2048 North Kilbourn avenue—We're not having a party, just sitting around listening to the radio. I couldn't say about 1941, but I hope it will be better than 1940.

LAADE, MRS. CHARLES, 2055 North La Crosse avenue—We're having an old fashioned family reunion, with 12 or 13 in the party. I hope 1941 will be a successful year. Better than this? I should say!

MAACK, ALBERT H., 3338 South Kedzie avenue [his daughter, Mrs. Marjorie Jacobs]—The year 1940 was better than 1939, and I think 1941 is going to see a boom. We're going out a little later for a mild celebration. Happy New Year!

NAATZ, ALFRED C., 2509 Diversey avenue—Having a fine time, with eight here [men and women], all playing poker. Just a fine old celebration at home, and I wish everybody a merry New Year.

OAF, DR. I. G., 745 Garfield boulevard [Mrs. Oaf speaking]—The doctor and I are sitting here listening to the radio, and we don't plan to go out. The year 1940 was a satisfactory one, and we have high hopes for 1941.

PAAR, HERMAN J., 9430 Calumet avenue [Mrs. Paar]—We've just been to a movie and we're going out to a tavern for midnight. We are looking forward to a good 1941. Happy New Year to everybody!

QUABECK, MRS. RICHARD, 2019 Belmont avenue—We're just sitting here in the kitchen, three members of the family, playing a card game called 66. I can't say 1940 was extra good, but 1941 should be better.

RAAB, MRS. ELSIE, 2427 North Tripp avenue—I can't say 1940 was very happy for me. My mother died and I had an operation. But this is a happy day; my son Raphael was 20 today. Tomorrow I'll have 19 relatives in, and I'm resting so we can entertain them. Happy New Year!

SAABY, ARTHUR J., 3501 North Albany avenue—We [Mrs. Saaby and our daughter] are listening to some fine dance music on the radio. Yes, sir, it's W-G-N. The year 1940 has been a fine one, and 1941 looks as if it will be just as good.

TAAFFE, E. J., 8240 Calumet avenue—We're having dinner for 12 and bridge. What will 1941 bring? I hope peace.

UBER, ARTHUR J., 1027 North Lawndale avenue—I'm home with my wife. I think 1941 is going to be a prosperous year.

VACANTE, DR. ANTHONY B., 2636 North Richmond street—I'm afraid you've called the wrong fellow. I'm busy working. I've just come in from a call. I do expect to go on a small party later, if I'm not called out again. The war transcended everything in 1940. As for the new year, all I can hope is that the United States stays out of war. For myself, I've been out of medical school only a year, and I hope my practice picks up.

WAACK, DR. HENRY C., 9936 South Seeley avenue—I'm at home with my wife, listening to music, having a quiet time. The year that is ending was splendid. Everything was satisfactory to me. I think 1941 will be a wonderful year, too.

XAUSA, MRS. F., 6931 Wentworth avenue—The year 1940 was all right and 1941 should be all right.

YAAP, MRS. H. T., 9424 South Laflin street—I'm entertaining my sister and her husband from Lincoln, Neb. We're playing bridge. I think 1940 has been almost perfect. I haven't any particular hopes or expectations for the new year, but my boy, Warren, who is 17 years old, is going into college this year, and we're counting on big things as he starts his education.

ZAAGMAN, D., 845 West 71st street—We're just a family party, sitting here telling each other stories while we wait for the whistles to blow. I think 1940 was just so-so, and I'm not a prophet and can't say what 1941 will be. But a happy New Year to you and everybody else.

The effort was made to call the first individual listed under each letter. About two-thirds of these didn't answer and supposedly were out celebrating.

County's Annual Auto Death Toll Declines to 917 in 1940

Automobile accidents claimed 917 lives in Cook county during 1940, 10 fewer than in 1939, the coroner's office reported at midnight last night. Of this total, 673 persons were killed in Chicago, or 36 less than a year ago. During the year 24,318 persons were injured in automobile accidents in the city, an increase of 1,835 over 1939.

December closed with 115 deaths, three less than December of 1939.

The last three years were the only years within the last 10 in which there were less than 1,000 traffic deaths in the county. The 10 year record shows:

Year.	Deaths.	Year	Deaths.
1931	1,306	1936	1,061
1932	1,110	1937	1,113
1933	1,132	1938	905
1934	1,259	1939	927
1935	1,011	1940	917

Only one of the seven surrounding counties paralleled the downward trend of fatalities in Cook county.

McHenry Deaths Decline.

This was McHenry county, with 11 deaths during the year, or 13 less than in 1939. Kane and Kankakee counties held even with their 1939 toll, with 47 and 24 deaths, respectively.

Lake county, Ind., with 101 deaths, the highest for any of the contiguous counties, had 13 more fatalities than a year ago; Lake county, Ill., with 57 deaths, had 11 more; Will county, with 60 deaths, 15 more, and Du Page county, with 48 deaths, 11 more.

There were 348 deaths in the seven counties during the year, 37 more than during 1939. The comparison of last year's deaths with those for 1938 and 1939 in these counties is shown in the following table:

County.	1938.	1939.	1940.	1939-1940 ch'ge.
Lake [Ind.]	88	88	101	+13
Will	57	45	60	+15
Lake [Ill.]	44	46	57	+15
Kane	43	47	47	0
Du Page	32	37	48	+11
McHenry	20	24	11	—13
	317	311	348	+37

Figures showing the three principal categories of accidents in the seven counties and the toll in each classification for the year follow:

County.	Auto-Train.	Pedestrian struck.	Auto crashes.
Lake [Ind.]	24	41	36
Will	9	20	31
Lake [Ill.]	12	14	31
Kane	2	14	31
Kankakee	1	4	19
Du Page	7	6	35
McHenry	1	3	7
	56	102	190

A comparison with 1939 shows 10 more auto-train deaths in the surrounding counties during 1940, nine more pedestrian deaths, and 21 more deaths in automobile collisions and other mishaps to motorists and passengers.

REVELERS' SHOTS HIT TWO; BULLET STRIKES WINDSHIELD OF AUTO

Martin Baker, 17 years old, celebrated the new year by firing nine rifle shots from his home at 4745 North Lowell avenue this morning, according to police. Charles Vana, 54, leaped from bed when bullets began coming thru the window of his home at 4318 Lawrence avenue, a short distance away. He got up just in time to be struck in the back by the last bullet, which slightly wounded him. Baker was arrested.

Kasimer Przybyliski, 45, shot himself in the left index finger while celebrating with a revolver at his home, 1924 Dickens avenue. Maurice De Lavelle of 739 South Oakley boulevard was driving at Jackson boulevard and Wood street when a stray bullet pierced the windshield of his automobile.

FIRST 1941 BABY IS YOUNG STORK IN A CLOSE RACE

The stork took care of the Storks O. K. He delivered John Stork Jr., 7 pounds 6 ounces, on the stroke of midnight at the Mercy hospital. It was not until eight seconds later that he brought a boy weighing 8 pounds 4 ounces to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Verville at the Norwegian American hospital.

But the Verville baby, whose parents live at 643 Briar place, may lay claim to being the first baby of 1941 after all and say that John Stork Jr., whose home is at 4334 South Sacramento avenue, is really the last baby of 1940. Both children were born by Cesarian sections, John Jr. with the aid of Dr. Morgan J. O'Connell and the Verville baby with the assistance of Dr. George H. Miller.

TAVERN AND CUSTOMER ROBBED.

Two robbers yesterday forced Chester Sierpien, owner of a tavern at 2201 North Latrobe avenue, to turn over $135 and $70 worth of cigars and whisky. A customer, William Bolger, 2221 North Lavergne avenue, was forced to hand over his last dollar.

WOMAN KILLED WHEN STUDENT'S CAR HITS COUPLE

Aged Man Hurt Crossing Evanston Street.

Miss Mae Siddall, 57 years old, of 1318 Hinman avenue, Evanston, was killed last evening when she was struck by an automobile at Grove street and Chicago avenue in Evanston. Edwin M. Kenyon, 75, of 1406 Chicago avenue, Evanston, who was crossing the street with Miss Siddall, was struck and seriously injured. He was taken to the Evanston hospital. The driver of the car was Frank R. Dawson, 16, of 624 Central street, Evanston, a preparatory school student home for the holidays.

Fred J. Rank, about 70, was killed at North and Harvey avenues yesterday by an automobile driven by a man who failed to stop. Rank lived at 1221 North Lombard avenue, Oak Park. Joseph Skultety, 28, of 2159 Narragansett avenue, later surrendered at the Cragin police station. Skultety told Sergt. Patrick O'Brien that his car struck Rank and threw him into the path of another car, which ran over the victim. Skultety said he became excited after the accident but decided to surrender after talking with his wife.

Woman, 77, Killed by Car.

Mrs. Hannah Anderson, 77, of 1855 North Pulaski road, was fatally injured at Pulaski road and Cortland street. She died in the Danish-American hospital. The driver was Arnold Peters, 25, of 1618 North Tripp avenue.

Mrs. Jessica Justin of West Lafayette, Ind., the wife of Prof. M. M. Justin of Purdue university, was fatally injured yesterday in an automobile crash in Indiana. Her car collided with one driven by R. E. Moore, 135 South Elmwood avenue, Oak Park, at U. S. highway 20 and Johnson road, three miles southeast of Michigan City. Mrs. Justin was about 50 years old.

Mrs. B. F. Morris of West Lafayette, a passenger in Mrs. Justin's car, was injured. Mrs. Morris' daughter, Mrs. Jeanette Dailey, 25, also of West Lafayette and a former Purdue university co-ed, escaped injury, as did Moore. Police said Moore drove his car past a stop sign onto U. S. 20, a four lane highway.

Edward J. Coughlin, 37, of La Salle, a state highway department maintenance man, was killed when his highway truck was struck by the southbound Alton railroad streamliner Ann Rutledge at the Kankakee river road crossing north of Wilmington. The truck was carried a mile down the track when the locomotive's front wheels were derailed as the train's air brakes locked.

Poultry Trucker Killed.

Ewald Wirth, 32, of 1620 East 55th street, was killed when his poultry truck sidewiped a Decatur Cartage company van on highway 49 one mile south of Crescent City, Iroquois county, Monday night. The truck driver was Charles Pope of Decatur. Wirth's companion and partner in a poultry business, Julius Bachenheimer, of Chicago, was slightly injured. Police said Wirth and Bachenheimer are German refugees who came to this country only a few months ago.

Mrs. Grace Magmusson, 61, of 219 National street, Elgin, died in St. Joseph's hospital in Elgin, the second victim of a head-on auto crash Nov. 1" on U. S. highway 20 four miles west of that city. Mrs. Della Szoke, 46, of Carpentersville, died shortly after the accident.

Lewis W. Goldsbury, 66 years old, died in the Edgewater hospital last night of injuries suffered Dec. 27 when he was struck by a hit and run motorist at Ashland and Foster avenues. Goldsbury lived at 3801 Wisconsin avenue, Berwyn.

Nick Berardi, 65, of 1532 Harrison street, died in County hospital of injuries suffered Saturday when he was struck by an automobile at Ashland avenue and Polk street. The driver was Joseph Olinski, 22, of 1822 West 17th street.

BOOKS

1940's Leading Best Sellers: 28 Books Top 100,000 Mark

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

One hundred thousand doesn't sound like a fabulous number when it means copies of newspapers. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has a circulation of more than ten times that number of copies every day. But 100,000 copies of a book IS a fabulous mark for sales to reach. Comparatively few books in a year achieve that glittering popularity. This year there are 28 titles which sold more than 100,000 copies, as compared with last year's 22 and 14 for 1938, which proves spectacularly that more and more people all the time are reading—and buying—books.

As in the past, most of the year's most popular books have been book club choices. The year's most spectacular seller seems to be Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls," which has reached the staggering height of more than 440,000 copies sold in two months since its publication.

Next best seller for the year was "Mrs. Miniver," by Jan Struther [published in July], which has had a sale of 240,000. "The Trees," by Conrad Richter [March], sold 208,000 copies. "A Treasury of the World's Great Letters," edited by M. Lincoln Schuster [October] sold over 200,000 copies. Richard Llewellyn's "How Green Was My Valley" [February] 200,000 copies, and Hans Zinsser's "As I Remember Him" [June] almost reached that mark with 198,000. Willa Cather's "Sapphira and the Slave Girl" [Dec. 7] has sold 190,000, including the January book of the month distribution. Both "The Star Gazer," by Zsolt de Harsanyi [Putnam, $2.75] [February], and "Failure of a Mission," by Sir Neville Henderson [April], sold more than 150,000 copies. "Verdun," by Jules Romains [January] had a sale of 148,000. Betty Bacon Blunt's "Bet It's a Boy" [June] sold more than 133,500 copies.

All these were book club choices except "How Green Was My Valley" and "Bet It's a Boy," whose sales were that much more remarkable because they didn't have the initial spur of being sent to book club members.

How many more than 100,000 copies the following books sold I was not able to find out, but they all soared over that figure:

"Trelawny," by Margaret Armstrong [October], a continuous best seller since it got on the lists; "Oliver Wiswell," by Kenneth Roberts [November], also a continuous best seller since publication; "Mr. Skeffington," by Elizabeth [Doubleday-Doran, $2.50] [April]; "Country Squire in the White House," by John T. Flynn [July]; "New England: Indian Summer," by Van Wyck Brooks [August]; "The Bedside Book of Famous British Stories," edited by Bennett Cerf and Henry C. Moriarty [Random, $3] [July]; "Native Son," by Richard Wright [March]; "Quietly My Captain Waits," by Evelyn Eaton [June]; "I Married Adventure," by Osa Johnson [June]; "Fame Is the Spur," by Howard Spring [November], "World's End," by Upton Sinclair [June], and "Embezzled Heaven," by Franz Werfel [November]. All these books were chosen for members of book clubs except "Oliver Wiswell," and "Country Squire in the White House."

Also selling more than 100,000 copies in 1940 were five apparent perennials—"Kitty Foyle," by Christopher Morley, and "The Nazarene," by Sholem Asch, both published in October, 1939. "The Grapes of Wrath," by John Steinbeck, published in April, 1939, a new motion picture edition of "Gone with the Wind," by Margaret Mitchell [Macmillan, 69 cents], which was originally published in 1936, and Will Durant's "The Life of Greece" [Simon & Schuster, $3.95], published in October, 1939, sold over 175,000 including the Book of the Month dividend distribution.

Of the books which have sold more than 100,000 copies in 1940, it is interesting to note that 19 were novels and nine were nonfiction.

Following is a tabulation of the Tribune's best seller statistics for 1940, listing books which appeared for five weeks or more during the year and showing the number of weeks each title appeared as a best seller:

THE TRIBUNE TRAVELER'S GUIDE

GAIN IN TOURIST TRADE EXPECTED THRUOUT NATION

Florida and California Predict Big Year.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

This is the day when nearly everybody tries to figure out how things stacked up in the old year, and how they're going to stack up in the new.

The experts in the travel industry—one of the largest in America—will be busy studying the 1940 trends and making charts of what effect those trends will have on 1941.

In times of peace it was comparatively easy to formulate a clear picture of past performances and of prospects. In times of war the picture is likely to become as confusing as a surrealist's conception of a dish of vegetables.

New World Gain Expected.

In this instance, it is safe to say that, with much of the old world closed to travel, the new world benefited heavily last year and should continue to do so this year. Beyond that, a prediction is like a leap in the dark.

The other day a Chicago advertising agency with a number of railroads among its clients submitted a series of questions to the travel editor of THE TRIBUNE and asked him to make a forecast for 1941. His reply was:

"So many unpredictable things have happened in the last year—thanks to Hitler and kindred factors—that all of us so-called experts have been made to look rather silly.

Here's What He Sees.

"With that reservation in mind, here is what I see in the crystal ball for the new year:

"1. With the right kind of advertising and publicity, there is no reason why travel in this country shouldn't be well above normal. This assertion can be backed up by a recital of the success of such campaigns as those that recently put over the new streamliners now running between Chicago and Miami.

"2. Increased wages, bonuses, and dividends will be reflected in increased travel on the part of the recipients.

"3. Tribune resort and travel advertising is comparing favorably with that of previous years, despite the drastic curtailment in the steamship lines' schedules. The slack has been taken up by organizations advertising the vacationlands in the western hemisphere.

"4. As you know, our travel pages have emphasized the fact that in these strenuous times war jitters and overstraining of nerves can be overcome by frequent and adequate vacations anywhere in the Americas. I believe such campaigns cannot fail to have a beneficial effect on the travel industry and on tourism in general."

By way of being more specific it could be cited that Florida looks forward to another record breaking season, with anywhere from 3 to 5 million visitors, and that southern California, with an all-winter sun carnival as its main attraction, likewise expects a full house. Resorts in Arizona and elsewhere in the southwest will be booked solidly thruout February and March.

Prospects are highly encouraging in Mexico, Central America, and South America.

Winter cruises to the Caribbean are not nearly so numerous as they were before the war broke out, but the few ships now engaged in that service are being well loaded.

Thorsten Hanson, Chicago manager of the Swedish American Line, said yesterday that the Christmas cruise of the Kungsholm was sold out five weeks in advance. The liner sailed with a capacity load of 470 passengers and a waiting list of 350. Hanson said the Kungsholm's remaining voyages promised to do almost as well.

Capacity Booking for Yule Cruise

W. C. Lancsweert, Chicago manager of the United States Lines, announced that the Christmas cruise of the America also had been booked to capacity weeks in advance. The ship sailed with 700 passengers. More than 600 have been booked for a second voyage.

Passenger traffic officials say railroad travel into and out of Chicago over the holidays is about 40 per cent greater than that of a year ago. Reduced fares, together with the addition of crowds of travelers on leave from army service, are given as reasons for the increase.

Miami officials believe the new streamlined service between that city and Chicago will result in a gain of 150 per cent in railroad travel from the middle west to Florida.

Similar optimism prevails in all the agencies dealing with transportation and winter resorts in North and South America.

What will take place when and if the United States gets further involved in the troubles of Europe? Nobody dares to make a prediction.

That Over-the-Shoulder Look

Many of the Indians in the Andean villages of Ecuador are camera shy. Here one of them registers anger as she tries to escape the photographer.

Saturday and Sunday Ski Trains Planned to Wausau

Snow trains to Wausau, Wis., will leave Chicago over the Milwaukee road Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning. The objective is to be the ski center on the sides of Rib mountain, near Wausau.

LAKE GENEVA OUT TO CATCH SHARE OF WINTER TRADE

Lake Geneva, Wis., Dec. 31 [Special].—This town, known to thousands of Chicagoans as a summer resort, is out to capture its share of the winter resort business.

Erection of a toboggan slide on the site of the Hillmoor golf course is the first project in the program undertaken by the chamber of commerce. This slide, now open to the public, is 100 feet high and has a runway 256 feet long.

Facilities for skiing, ice skating, and sledding are being developed.

I expect to be drafted into the army soon, and wish to take a trip to Mexico before entering the service. Do I need any special papers in order to get across the border? —L. B. A.

Altho a passport is not required for entry into such nearby countries as Mexico, Canada, and Cuba, the draftee must obtain a permit from his local board before leaving home. This permit should be presented at the border. Ask the board for form No. 351.

What is there to see in Southern California's Imperial valley? —F. G. S.

Half of the valley is a desert, with big dunes, where the movie producers make their Sahara scenes, and Salton sea, a body of salty water, 246 feet below sea level, with boiling mud pots on its shore. The other half has been called America's winter salad garden. It is irrigated by the All-American canal from the Colorado river. Lettuce, shipped to all parts of the country, is ripening there now. One of the things to see is El Centro's Vegetable Mardi Gras, opening Jan. 31, and including parades, dancing, and a carnival.

I understand the poinsettia is blooming now in Bermuda. How long will the display last? —H. T. K.

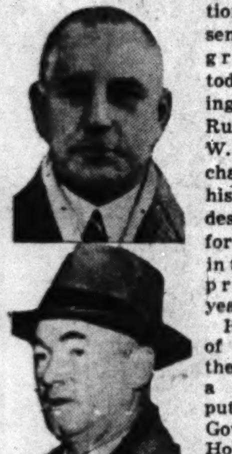
HOLT MAY KEEP SEAT IN SENATE DESPITE DEFEAT

Appointment as Neely's Successor Probable.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Senator Matthew M. Neely [top] and Gov. Homer A. Holt.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 31.—Republicans and Democratic noninterventionists in the senate expressed great interest today upon learning that Senator Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.] has a chance to retain his senate seat despite his defeat for renomination in the Democratic primary this year.

Holt's chance of remaining in the senate lies in a political dispute between Gov. Homer A. Holt of West Virginia, his third cousin, and Senator Matthew M. Neely, the governor elect. Both the outgoing and incoming governors are claiming the right to make the appointment to the senate vacancy to be caused by Neely's resignation.

Under the constitution, Neely must resign his senate seat before taking the oath as governor, even if he waits until one minute or less before the ceremony on Jan. 13. Gov. Holt plausibly insists that he has the right to appoint a successor to Neely at the moment he receives Neely's resignation, and says he will do so.

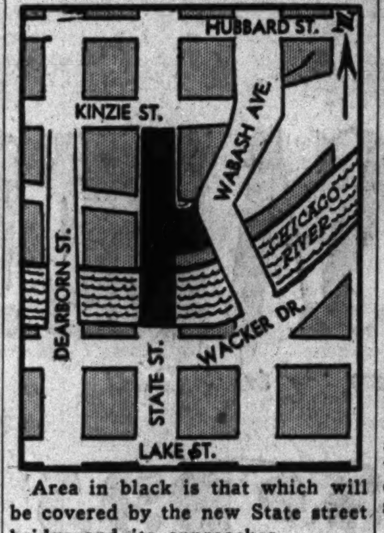
Senator Neely however insists that he has the right to fill his own senate vacancy after taking the oath as governor and says he will do so. Neely favors Joseph Rosier, president of the Fairmont state teachers' college, former head of the National Educational association and a 100 per cent New Dealer.

Thus it appears that the senate itself will have to decide which of the two prospective appointees it wishes to seat.

Gov. Holt formerly favored Louis Johnson, former assistant secretary of war, for the senate vacancy but his friends now say he is more likely to appoint Senator Holt. Neely ran for governor at the cost of his seat in the senate for the purpose of breaking up the West Virginia state house machine, now headed by Gov. Holt.

Site of Bridge

(Story in adjoining column.)



Area in black is that which will be covered by the new State street bridge and its approaches.

GO AHEAD SIGNAL IS GIVEN FOR NEW STATE ST. BRIDGE

Land Purchase Removes Last Obstacle.

The go ahead signal was given yesterday for the construction of the new State street bridge when the last of a series of controversies dating to 1931 was settled by the city and the North Western railway. Bids will be sought within 30 days and construction probably will start by spring.

The last obstacle was removed when the city paid $100,289 to the railroad for properties on the north bank of the river at State street.

In return, the railroad agreed to petition the Superior court to set aside a judgment of $497,000 awarded in 1932 to the railroad against the city in connection with the State street widening program. In a reciprocative gesture, the city waived further payments of $400 a year by the railroad to the city for upkeep of the bridge.

To Seek Bids Within 30 Days.

Those who negotiated the agreement yesterday were Charles M. Thomson, trustee of the railroad; Joseph Grossman, first assistant corporation conusel, and Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works.

"Now it is possible to advertise for bids in connection with the bridge construction," said Hewitt. "This will be done within 30 days."

Loran D. Gayton, city engineer, said that work could be started a month after the contracts are awarded. When the new subway was sunk beneath the river in State street about a year ago, subpiers were put in place as foundations for the new bridge so construction would not be delayed once the needed property was acquired.

The new State street bridge will cost more than 3 million dollars and will be one of the finest of its kind in the country.

Specifications of New Bridge.

The State street bridge will be 108 feet wide, with two 36 foot separated roadways and two 11 foot sidewalks. Its flooring will be concrete, similar to that on the Outer drive bridge.

Where the old bridge, dismantled two years ago, had a maximum water clearance of 16½ feet, the new one will have a maximum clearance of 20 feet. It will cover clear 100 feet of water from bank to bank, almost twice that of the old bridge. This will be possible because the north bank, in which the city owns property rights, will be sheared off between Dearborn street and Wabash avenue to make a wider river channel.

The bridge will be 210 feet long, made up of two spans, each weighing 840,000 pounds. An indication of the immensity of the bridge is seen in its structural elements. It will require 11,000 cubic yards of concrete, 7 million pounds of structural steel, 2,200,000 pounds of counterweight metal, 700,000 pounds of cast steel and miscellaneous metals and 400,000 pounds of reënforcing steel.

The first State street bridge, a wooden affair, was 35 feet wide. It was built in 1864. In 1871 a wood and iron bridge, one foot wider, was built. In 1877 the bridge was widened to 39 feet, and in 1903 it was rebuilt to 62 feet and converted into a rolling lift type. This was the bridge torn down two years ago.

Both Houses of Congress Cluttered by Roof Repairs

Washington, D. C., Dec. 31 (AP).—The house and senate chambers, vacated by lawmakers for several weeks while the roofs were strengthened, will be ready for the opening of the new congress next Friday. But the job is a temporary one, and a network of steel girders will clutter both houses. When congress recesses for a sufficient time, the steel will be torn out and permanent repairs made. At present the old roofs, declared unsafe by engineers, rest on the new steel framework.

Three Debutantes Make Their Bows to Society at Teas Today

Mingled with the many Happy New Years which will echo along the north shore this afternoon will be greetings to the first three young Chicagoans to be presented to society in the year 1941. To those who believe there is something fresh and symbolic in a New Year's day debut the parties for Miss Eleanor Daughaday, Miss Beverly Roach, and Miss Peggy Gratiot seem just right.

All three young women are being introduced in the best of old fashioned tradition—by teas in their own homes. Miss Daughaday's party, starting at 3 o'clock, is the earliest, as her parents, the Carlos Colton Daughadays, have asked guests to inspect their new Longmeadow farm while the afternoon sunlight is at its best. [Optimistic, aren't they?]

It is just a short drive from the farm west of Wilmette over to Winnetka, where Miss Gratiot will be receiving from 4 to 7 o'clock with her parents, the Lynn Arthur Gratiots, and her grandmother, Mrs. Alfred Thomson Martin. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Andrew Roach have chosen the same hours for their daughter's tea in Highland Park.

The Daughadays' new home will be at its party best this afternoon, for the debut tea is a house warming as well. The living room is to be filled with yellow chrysanthemums, and the debutante is wearing a white crêpe gown embroidered in gold. Her own flowers are token roses.

Miss Janet Cottrell, the debutante's roommate at Vassar, is here to assist with Miss Harriet Case, Miss Jean Matthiessen, Miss Mary Adams, Miss Helen Ruth Clayton, Miss Janet Jenkins, Miss Lydia Elliott, Miss Eleanore Zeiss, Miss Peggy Boyd, Miss Lois Greeley, Miss Miranda Randall, Miss Gertrude Scribner, and Miss Peggy Rich. The list also includes the debutante's sister, Marion, and her cousin, Miss Anne Daughaday.

To complement her simple white chiffon gown Miss Peggy Gratiot has selected a bouquet of euphorbia, tiny orange blossoms which grow in sprays. The debutante, who is a student at Vassar, will have ten assistants: Miss Ruth Burrows, Miss Betty Butler, Miss Lydia Elliott, Miss Adrienne Ely, Miss Evelyn Gardner, Miss Marjorie Lindsay, Miss Elspeth McClure, Miss Joan Revell, Miss Martha Stevens, and Miss Margaret Stuart.

After the tea Miss Gratiot's aides and their escorts will dine with Miss Butler and her parents, the John Meigs Butlers, and go on to the hockey game.

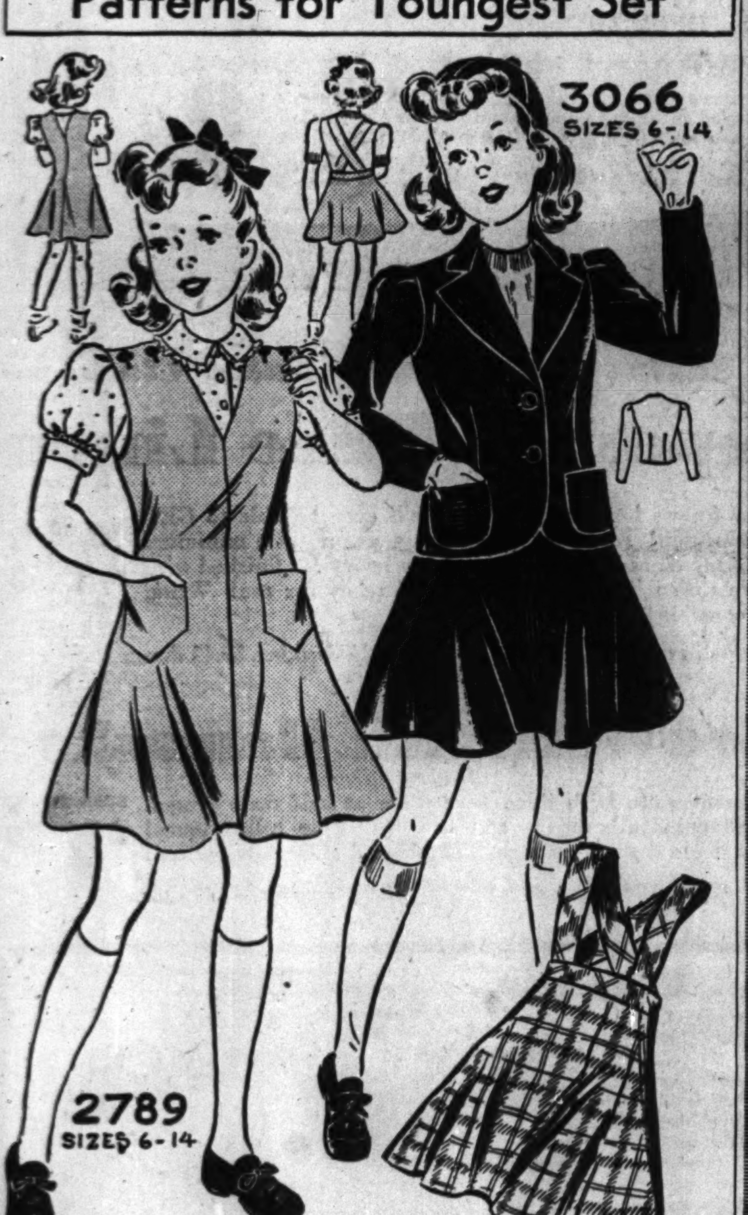
Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hosford Jr. [the former Miss Lorraine-Marie Roach] arrived last night from Moline for their sister's debut party, for which the Roach home is decorated with red poinsettias, white blossoms, and blue irises. Miss Beverly Roach is using the same holiday theme for her costume; the bodice of her bouffant white chiffon gown is embroidered in red and white beads in a lacy design, and her bouquet is of red camellias.

Miss Marjorie Shay, Miss Roberta Bosworth, Miss Barbara Bowes, Miss Mary Jane Deere Wiman, Miss Joan Littlefield, Miss Ruth Owen, Miss Dorcas Fitzgerald, Miss Anne Wilder, and Miss Mabel Keefe form her corps of assistants.

After the debutante festivities have subsided toward the end of this month the Roaches will take their middle daughter from her classes at Northwestern and go to Hobe Sound, Fla., accompanied by 14 year old Patsy.

Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy Jr. is entertaining for debutante Miss Mary Jane Deere Wiman at dinner at the Racquet club tonight at 7 o'clock and will take her young guests on to the hockey game afterward. Miss Mary Jane is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deere Wiman.

Patterns for Youngest Set



JUVENILE WINTER OUTFITS.

Two patterns for the youngest set today, one a jumper frock and the other a suspender skirt and jacket to form a clever little suit which may be worn now under winter coats.

Both woolen and silk make up well in the jumper frock, which has a dainty little blouse as a companion piece. Pockets are optional. Corduroy and woolens of many types are the logical choices for the suit, with which may be worn favorite blouses and sweaters.

Style No. 2789 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, and 14. Size 8 requires 2 yards of 39 inch material for jumper, 1⅛ yards for blouse with short sleeves.

Style No. 3066 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, and 14. Size 8 requires 1¾ yards of 54 inch fabric for skirt, 1⅛ yards for jacket.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

For 15 cents buy the winter Chicago Tribune book of Clotilde Fashions, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower; 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to the New York address above.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

Beauty resolutions are in order today. You will probably shape yours to suit your own requirements, but would you like to know the one that we think is most important? It's the promise to exercise.

We believe in exercise for every woman approaching 30 not only for vanity's sweet sake but for the sake of general health. Mental health, too. If your system is beautifully toned up all the time your brain won't be so foggy, your philosophy will be sounder. It almost always works out that way.

The thickened waistline is the curse of middle age. It's farewell to youth—and it can be avoided if you get the habit of exercising, of disciplining those abdominal muscles. Resolve to stand properly, with tummy drawn in, knees relaxed, and head high and beautiful. Your neckline, your whole silhouette will benefit by this.

If you need to—and who doesn't?—do a few stretchers every day. It's regularity that counts, so this must become one of your most firmly established habits.

And resolve to walk rather than ride every chance you get. There is nothing like it for the figure and the supply of pep. If you're a business woman walk at least part of the way to and from work; if you're a housekeeper put other things aside and get in your daily constitutional.

If you do this you'll be healthier and happier in this New Year!

ELEANOR NANGLE.

New Year's at Home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. McAtee of 8045 South Kimbark avenue will hold their annual New Year's at home today from 3 until 6 o'clock. Among the assistants will be Miss Mary Jane Howard, who is at home from the University of Wisconsin for the holidays.

'At Homes and Parties to Fill New Year's Day

BY JUDITH CASS.

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

One's first impulse is to add "and may 1941 be a cheerier, merrier year than its predecessor." On second thought, however, we realize 1940 wasn't as bad for Americans as it was for most of the other peoples of the earth, so perhaps the only addendum we should give our new year greeting is "may 1941 be as good a year as the one just passed."

It is a moot question—we shall have to ask the Linemaster to investigate it—whether the beverages popular as New Year drinks originated because they are good for "that" feeling, or whether New Year's eve became a night for wild celebration after New Year's day receptions were traditional. Whichever the case, eggnog, Tom and Jerries and mulled wine are the drinks served most often on New Year's day.

Many "At Homes" Have Become Chicago Traditions.

From the southernmost boundaries to the northernmost of Chicagoland, and from the lake to farthest west there will be gatherings to drink to the new year. One of the city's most traditional is that of the William S. Monroes', who, for about the 32nd year, will be at home to their friends in their East Elm street residence from 4 until 7 o'clock. When Mr. Monroe's sister, Mrs. William J. Calhoun, is here she takes part in the extending of new year hospitality, but this year she is far across the sea in her Peiping, China, home. The Monroes' only son, Henry, and his bride, will assist in receiving today.

Another new year at home that has continued for more than 30 years, is the Calvin Fentresses'. Mr. and Mrs. Fentress and all of the members of their large family except one daughter, Mrs. Burwell Dodd of Hartford, Conn., will be at home in Hubbard Woods after 5.

The T. Clifford Rodmans of Lake Forest are going to be at home, carrying on a tradition started years ago by Mrs. Rodman's parents, the Stanley Fields. The entire family, no doubt, and any guests who still are there, will listen to the broadcast tonight from 9 to 10 o'clock sponsored by the Hollywood branch of Bundles for Britain, for the Fields' other daughter, Mrs. James A. Cook, is one of the most active workers on the north shore for the cause.

Kent Clows Are Giving Annual Egg-nog Party.

Another party in Lake Forest today is the Kent Clows' annual eggnog party.

Eggnog is the drink the Robert J. Harveys will serve to their guests today, too. The invitations to drop in after five were included on the Harveys' Christmas cards.

The Raymond Lindley Redheffers are having their customary new year's eggnog party today from 5 to 7.

Officers on duty at the Great Lakes station and vicinity have been invited to the home of Rear Admiral and

Makes Bow at Final Debut Party of 1940

Miss Barbara Hixon, the Robert Hixons' middle daughter, made her formal bow to society last night at the final debut party of 1940, a dinner-dance at the Onwentsia club. The debutante held a bouquet of camellias shading from flesh pink to deep red against her white lace gown. Today the T. Philip Swifts are giving a luncheon in the same club for Miss Hixon and Miss Patricia Cathcart, the James A. Cathcarts' debutante daughter.

Weddings Announced

This afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Hilton chapel on the Quadrangle at the University of Chicago, Mrs. Ruth Greeley Wells of Lake Forest and Dr. Ellsworth Faris, professor emeritus of sociology, will be married by the Rev. A. Eustace Haydon of the university. Only the families, including the bride's children and the bridegroom's children, will be present. Mrs. Wells has two sons, Thomas Edmond and Greeley, and a daughter, Nancy. Dr. Faris has four sons, Robert, who is a professor at Bryn Mawr college; George, Richard and Ellsworth Jr. Mrs. George Faris and Mrs. Richard Faris will attend the ceremony, also.

Dr. and Mrs. Faris will spend two months in Honolulu.

Miss Ursula Jane Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reid of Kimbark avenue, will become the bride of Thomas Byron Jones this afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. Paul's Episcopal church. Mr. Jones is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jones of Bath, Ill. The Rev. F. C. Benson Belliss will officiate at the ceremony, which will be followed by a reception at the Hotel Del Prado. After their return from a wedding trip thru the south, Mr. Jones and his bride will live on the south side.

Miss Harriett Aylward will be maid of honor for Miss Reid, and Miss Bonita Bell, Miss June Buckley, Miss Vivian Kle, and Mrs. Henry Reid will be bridesmaids. Clark Snyder will be best man, and Henry Reid, Charles Steere, George Tasker, Lawrence Jones, Robert Watson, and Joseph Baker will usher.

BY CECIL SMITH.

At the Civic Opera house a capacity audience saw the old year end, and with it the first season of the reorganized, rejuvenated Chicago Opera company. After Grace Moore and Tito Schipa had taken their final curtain call, several hundred patrons remained to dance in the foyer and to partake of refreshments in the Opera club.

Miss Moore was the only one of the principals who had not sung in "Manon" during the opera company's regular six week season. How immeasurably she has improved her singing of the rôle, her characterization, and her movement since her first "Manon" in Chicago three years ago!

At that time an effusive and rather unpredictable enthusiasm and a superficial projection to the audience seemed to me to be the principal attributes of her performance. Last night, in contrast, she discovered the true quality of Manon in the first act, attaining a graceful charm of bearing and a reticence of vocal style which revealed a real grasp of the meaning of the part.

Except for an instant in the second act, when a momentary contretemps with a candle interrupted the naturalness of her acting, she portrayed the development of Manon from innocence into sophistication with continuous illusion, and with a mature and objective understanding of her own relation to the music and the story. In the St. Sulpice scene her voice was particularly beautiful, and charged with passion.

The new artistic integrity of Miss Moore's Manon reflects the seriousness with which she has now identified herself with genuine artistic aims. Even tho now and again a stylized movie gesture may creep into her performance, she has clearly turned her back on the quick and easy appeal of any Hollywood methods she may once have employed. Her singing and acting stemmed constantly from the intrinsic demands of the part of Manon, and beautiful tho she looked, her beauty was never merely the surface allure we associate with Hollywood and the movies.

The accomplishments of Mr. Schipa, Mr. Czaplicki, and the noble Mr. Rothier retained the excellence which were noted earlier in the season. Dorothy Kirsten sang delightfully as Pousette, and all the ensemble passages of the three girls were both gay and accurate. Giuseppe Cavadore [made up to look like a victim of Addison's disease] and John Daggett Howell handled their parts effectively. Leo Kopp conducted the relatively unrehearsed performance at least as well as could be expected.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Small Town Notes

Hollywood, Dec. 31.—Gregory La Cava, who is about to make a picture after a long hibernation, is still suffering from the foot injury he sustained at his Malibu Beach house. "Anyhow," he says, "I've had it X-rayed and I know I haven't got a flat foot."

The few studio workers who have seen Preston Sturges' "The Lady Eve" say it is exceptionally funny. This is the one in which Barbara Stanwyck shows her legs. O, well. She was in the "Ziegfeld Follies" when she was 15.

Bing Crosby and Bob Hope adlibbed so much on the "Road to Zanzibar" set that Victor Schertzinger hired a stenographer to keep track of their line switches. The regular script girl couldn't handle them. Result is Schertzinger has enough material for a small book which is to be published under the title of "Three Months in a Squirrel Cage." The book will compare the shooting script with the original one, and it will be a warning to all authors about what happens to authors in Hollywood.

Charles Grapewin, who's acting Jeeter Lester in the film, "Tobacco Road," has the biggest part of his life and one of the longest on record hereabout. The script has 131 pages, and there's dialog for Grapewin in 122 of them.

As long as everybody has been getting up Best Ten lists, Whitey Wilson, head prop man at Warners, has listed the 10 most popular hand props in pictures. They are: Telephones, money, luggage, letters and telegrams, watches, men's handkerchiefs, police whistles, flowers, desk sets, and finger rings. Hasn't Whitey forgotten food? And liquor?

Dennis Morgan, who has been kissing screen babes for five years, says they don't get any fun out of it. But the men do.

Word comes from New York that Joan Crawford was fascinated by the penny peep show at the Museum of Modern Art. It's an ancient mutoscope, part of the D. W. Griffith exhibition, and it shows "what the bootblack saw." It costs a penny to run the machine and last month the museum netted $33.52.

Rose bowl tickets were so scarce that most of the movie colony went to Santa Anita instead. The grumble was that it was easier to buy ducats in Omaha or Denver than in Pasadena.

In "Ziegfeld Girl" Hedy Lamarr and Lana Turner had a candy eating scene. During rehearsals and false starts they wolfed almost all of a five pound box, which just doesn't go to show how some girls manage to keep their figures.

For "Free and Easy" Robert Cummings had to shave Nigel Bruce with a straight razor. He did so well the director said he looked like a professional. "I ought to," said Cummings, "I worked my way thru college as a barber."

There's a report around town that the man who put up the money for Orson Welles' RKO productions is

Stock, Soloist and Orchestra Arouse Music Critic to Raves

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra, Frederick Stock, conductor, brought its 1940 activities to a close yesterday by presenting in Orchestra hall a program which consisted of Bach's Third Suite, Sibelius' Second Symphony, and Paganini's First Concerto. Zino Francescatti, French violinist, was soloist in the concerto.

The concert offers a convenient excuse for a Class A rave on Mr. Francescatti and for a year-end summary of certain qualities of the orchestra which are usually in these reviews, buried under material about soloists and new works.

It must have been performances of the dazzling type that Mr. Francescatti gave yesterday that used to send the more delicate habitues of early 19th century salons into fainting fits. His playing had an overwhelmingly bravura quality. His tone shone as effortlessly as diamonds.

So strong were his rhythms that florid passage work was caught up in the general momentum and made to seem an inevitable part of the music rather than an excrescence on its surface. This same rhythmic strength gave the first theme of the opening movement an air of pomp and circumstance which added immeasurably to its effect.

Without doubt this was violin playing in the grand manner, but it was not all power and brilliance. That wonderfully melting tune in the first movement—it must be the second theme—was played with a rich chocolatey tone and with enough rhythmic flexibility to make it extraordinarily persuasive.

In response to a big demonstration Mr. Francescatti offered as encore an unfamiliar sounding piece which Leon Sametini, who was in the audience, recognized as a Recitative and Scherzo of Kreisler.

In the Bach and the Sibelius Dr. Stock and the orchestra gave one demonstration after another of that balance between lively imagination and disciplined musicianship which is perhaps the chief of their claims to admiration.

In the Bach there were many intoxicating color contrasts between complementary phrases—but these color contrasts had the reserve demanded by this type of music. The Sibelius possessed a sturdy sonority and a reasonable richness, and was kept skilfully away from mere matter-of-factness at one extreme and actual lushness at the other.

In general the performance was sane, well planned, and well executed. Speaking of execution, those superbly clean attacks and releases in the transparent little Bach dances were a more spectacular proof of the players' precision than anything in a big, modern score could be.

The Odor of Violets

INSTALMENT IXL.
KIDNAPED.

"What do you mean, officer, by breaking into my apartment? I'm Duncan Maclain." Cameron's voice was stern.

"He's blind," said Heeney.

"So'm I," said Cameron. "Only you can't tell it without my glasses on. Sit down in that chair!"

The policeman felt that his head was whirling giddily. "I know you now. Why aren't you in jail? You're a murderer."

"I am not," Cameron denied. "The fellow that accused me of killing him appeared in court and they set me free. Sit down in that chair. You have a gun, and I'm very busy."

The power of suggestion became too much for the overwrought officer, and he sat down gingerly on the edge of the red leather chair.

"Now lean back," said Cameron. "You can keep me covered with your gun; but there's something I want to show you before we go."

"Don't try anything," Heeney advised.

"Look." Cameron held both his hands out in front of him and wiggled them. "All I want to do is push a button and get the time. If the time doesn't come, you can shoot me."

He pressed the button marked "Time Connection" on the desk at his side.

Beside Officer Heeney, from a loud speaker in the wall, a woman's voice said, "When you hear the signal, the time will be exactly 3:23."

Heeney fidgeted uncomfortably, but kept his eyes on Cameron. "'Tis quite a trick," he mumbled, "but you'll not be after trickin' me!"

"Now, listen," said Cameron. "You know that Duncan Maclain's blind. He's a private detective, and he has to have means of protecting himself. Did you ever hear of an electric eye?"

"Yes," said Heeney. "And what's that to do with me?"

"Nothing," said Cameron, "except it's going to keep you sitting in that chair. When I pushed that time connection button, I turned another one on."

The officer tensed.

"Don't move," Cameron warned. "There's a gun set in the upholstery in the back of that chair. If you try to get up you'll break the ray of an electric eye which goes from arm to arm. In other words, officer, you'll be shot in the back."

"I'll get you first," said Heeney.

"You'd better keep your hands down, too," Cameron told him. "You'll shoot yourself in the back if you try to raise your gun."

He got up and picked his soft felt hat from off the desk.

"If you don't believe me, you can try it," he said, "and the blood won't be on me. Clever chap that Duncan Maclain."

He started toward the door. "I wouldn't try to wipe the sweat off my forehead either," he warned Heeney commiseratingly. "I'll write a letter to the commissioner about you. I'm tired of having you fellows stop me at every street corner to try to put me back in jail. Hasta la vista—or as the Swedes say, Au revoir."

He walked from the room and closed the door, descended rapidly down a service stairway to the basement and let himself out into an alley by way of the delivery entrance. At the corner of 72d and Broadway, he located an all night restaurant with a telephone booth where he dialed Spring 7-3100, and finally got Inspector Davis on the telephone.

"This is the shadow," he told Davis. "I just wanted to let you know that one of your minions named Heeney wants to see you up in Duncan Maclain's office without delay."

"What's he doing up there?" the inspector sputtered furiously.

"He's sitting in a chair," said Cameron, "and he thinks he's being kept there by the Seeing Eye."

Five minutes later, he was smashing every speed limit on his way back to Hartford in the convertible coupe.

. . . .

Duncan Maclain manipulated his hands vigorously together in an attempt to restore circulation. Spasmodic cramps had seized his shoulder muscles and were traveling downward. He could feel small excruciating knots bunching up along each arm. He spread his elbows outward, twisting and writhing to get his manacled wrists up farther behind him. There was one position where the tightly locked handcuffs seemed looser. Where the hampered blood could flow in his veins a little more freely.

The air about him was damp, penetratingly cold. Its smell with an overlying trace of metal and oil was reminiscent of fungus and mushrooms. The captain breathed it cautiously, keeping his lips tightly closed against the nauseating taste of adhesive which gagged him formidably.

Time had drifted by in a dark overpowering wave. He judged it better than most people. Years of sightlessness had installed in his mind a faultless chronometer which ticked off pulse and heartbeats, dividing them into seconds, minutes, and hours with an almost fatalistic regularity.

His feet and legs were tightly bound. He lay face down, disdaining muscular struggle against obvious impossibility. Limp and inert as tho anaesthetized, he husbanded his strength, waiting for a moment when some one would come and set him free. Somewhere his carefully laid plans must have slipped.

He pressed his cheek down against the roughness of an unplaned board. Unhampered by any extraneous distraction, he reviewed the events of the last few days, checking each item from the time the man whom he thought was Madoc brought him the instructions in Braille, to the moment when Cheli Scott's car was blocked by a truck on a deserted stretch of highway. He analyzed each move he had made, ruthlessly scrutinizing each weakness in the chain.

Duncan Maclain had been guilty of an unpardonable sin: carelessness. The price might be the life of Duncan Maclain. The enemy had moved too fast, had gone to work without wasting an hour. Never had he expected them to act with such precipitancy. Their move gave Spud no time whatsoever to receive his message, investigate the house of Bonnee, and get in touch with Col. Gray.

The captain had predicated his plans on the belief that he would be forcibly abducted some time during the following day. He intended to give his adversaries every chance, to put himself up as a bait. Saboteurs must have a base. Maclain's taped mouth twisted into a grin. He had found the base, gotten himself unerringly into the headquarters of an airtight, organized band, only he had arrived there about 24 hours too soon to be of any use to the competent workers of the FBI.

"——and this one may end your career," he thought bitterly, recalling the words of Col. Gray.

He wormed himself sideways with maximum caution trying to find a wall. His exploring feet encountered nothing. After a time, he decided he must be lying on a packing case a foot or two high. Inaction began to pall. He held his breath and listened. A water pipe dripped steadily. Not far away, some mechanism which might be a tiny motor ran with an almost inaudible purr. Maclain judged that he was close to an electric meter and that the noise he heard was the spinning of the recording wheel. Lights were on somewhere in his prison, altho he felt sure that outside it was day. His entire body ached dolefully and he knew that he must have spent much time sleeping fitfully.

Taking a chance of injury, he swung his feet violently to one side and rolled off onto the floor. The drop was higher than he expected and it stunned him momentarily.

He eased his weight from off his hands and listened again. Small feet pattered flutteringly as a rodent scuttled away. Maclain was satisfied that no one had been to look at him for some time. Otherwise a timorous rat would not have been so near.

He planned a tour of exploration. His only means of moving would be to bend his legs and shove himself along the floor. There were always identifying marks that his sagacious fingers might see.

Join the Walking 'Cult' and Gain New Vigor and Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

One of the acknowledged misfortunes of country living is the way one does NOT walk because one has to have a car and there the car is if one only runs over to a neighbor for a chat.

◆

We recall a woman telling of a forced move to the country during the bad depression days, confiding her hatred at first for the life. The inconvenience of doing without a car was her greatest cross to bear in the beginning. Knowing no one in the rural community, the woman had to walk down to the village grocery and do every errand on foot. Her husband walked three miles to get his train. Her youngsters had to walk to school, and altho they'd been chauffeured in town the few blocks they had to go, they were quickest to adapt themselves to the new ruling.

Pretty soon, the woman confided, she began feeling better, could get her work done more quickly. Husband began singing his hymn of praise to the recovered use of his feet. What happened eventually was that the family became more united in the pursuit of all outdoor sports as the result of their enforced walks.

Our world is changing and people are beginning to walk to the movies, to the office, to market. They're walking to offset nervousness when they want to think a thing thru, to escape insomnia, to keep weight down, to clear the complexion, and for other good reasons. Are you a member in good order of the new walking cult?

Happy New Year!

They might build 'em bigger and brighter than Kitty Foyle. But BETTER—NO! Kitty looks up to NObody, and, being Kitty, she looks down on no one either.

This picture, as you undoubtedly know, is the screend adaptation of Christopher Morley's widely read and much discussed novel of the same name. A novel that some liked much, some a little, and many not at all.

I guess I'm rather in the "little" class. But skip that! I cared a great deal for the picture—after it once got well under way—and I think that as Kitty Foyle Ginger Rogers gives her best performance up to date.

Kitty is a working girl who has a romance with a boy on the right side of the tracks. . . . With kowtows to the Hays committee she marries him that a child may be born in wedlock. . . . Other changes there are, too, but the film ties up quite nicely with the novel. . . . I'm sure you'll draw a breath of relief over the ending.

◆

As in the original, much of the tale is told in flashback. . . It picks up Kitty as a little girl and leaves her at the age of 26. Or was it 24? During the time you know her she does a heap of living—much of it mighty unconventional. But she, unlike many of us, learns something from batting her head against walls.

I couldn't care for Dennis Morgan as the rich guy. I honestly don't know why. Just too, too something or other—naive—wide-smiling, marcelled, . . . James Craig as the young doctor whose love for Kitty proves a bulwark is a newcomer and, occasionally, amateurish, but on the whole pleases. He is most sincere and quite good looking. He's appeared in several pictures—which I haven't even seen. Quickies, I guess. . . . Ernest Cossart is fine as Kitty's "Pop." Eduardo Ciannelli does a clever bit as a speakeasy owner. Other players are adept and Sam ["Goodbye, Mr. Chips"] Wood has directed the piece with a rare touch that should make it 100% "box office."

See you tomorrow.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Roast goose is going to taste very good today, but by tomorrow most of us will be ready for a dinner of lamb chops, more or less signifying a return to normal after a good deal of overeating during the holidays.

If there are leftovers from the New Year's goose, it may be well to hold them over a day so that tomorrow's dinner will be a pleasant surprise. An interval between first and second servings of a food is psychologically sound, anyway.

English lamb chops are double loin chops, and they're very meaty, so I've chosen a light dessert for tomorrow's dinner, baked rhubarb, a tart, pleasant way to end a meal.

Broil the English lamb chops 7 or 8 minutes to the side, or until the meat is puffy and lightly browned. Season well with salt and pepper, and serve sizzling, right off the broiler rack. Lamb is good when it is slightly rare, so if the chops are pinkish within, so much the better.

If there are cold boiled potatoes among the New Year's dinner leftovers, they might be utilized for the Lyonnaise potatoes. If there are not, boil a potato apiece for the family. Chop an onion and cook it in bacon drippings until soft. Then dice the potatoes into the skillet with the onion, and let cook until browned underneath. Lift with a pancake spatula, turn over, and brown the other side. Sprinkle well with salt and pepper, and add a tablespoon or more of minced parsley if you have it.

Almond butter for the green beans is prepared thus: Chop a few blanched almonds fine and sauté them in plenty of butter until light brown. Pour butter and chopped almonds over hot, drained green beans which have been cooked in salted water.

Bran-Raisin Muffins.

2 tablespoons shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup bran
⅝ cup milk
1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ cup raisins

Cream shortening and sugar. Beat in egg. Add bran and milk and let soak until bran takes up moisture. Sift flour, salt, and baking powder and add raisins. Stir into the first mixture, only until dry ingredients are dampened. Bake in greased muffin tins in 400 degree oven about 25 minutes.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

1940 WAS A SAD YEAR BUT—

There was Scotch tape for doing up Christmas presents.

And symphonic recordings at reduced prices.

There was Milstein playing the Paganini Caprices at Orchestra hall and Rachmaninoff appearing with the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

And nylon stockings. [But we'll be glad to give them up if it means increased armament production.]

There was the movie Rebecca.

And the cold permanent wave.

And Sherwood's There Shall Be No Night, unforgettably acted by the Lunts and a superb cast.

And lucite come into popular use. And convertible cars with Yehudi tops.

Mrs. Thorne's American Rooms in Miniature.

And Lillian Gish's rare charm in Life with Father.

There was the great Picasso show at the Art institute.

And the appearance of Clara Laughlin's travel books about America [So You're Seeing New England! So You're Going South!].

And the Ballet Theater with the opera.

And taxicabs with slide back tops.

There was Hemingway's For Whom the Bell Tolls.

And Chicago Symphony orchestra broadcasts as well as New York Philharmonic.

Bubble baths that didn't leave a ring on the tub. [Awful thought —where did they leave it?]

Rachmaninoff's Piano Concerto No. 3 in D minor was recorded, with the composer as soloist.

The popularity of red fingernails waned and "Confucius Say . . ." gags passed into limbo.

There was a new Walt Disney feature.

And Terry of the Pirates escaped from Chopstick Joe.

There was the rise of a greater spirit of unselfishness and a redoubled generosity shown in Community Chest contributions as well as in money and work for suffering nations abroad.

Crocheted center piece doilies are effective bits of decoration under lamps, fruit dishes, or for the center of dining tables. This star doily measures approximately 14 inches in diameter when completed, and possesses graceful edging which adds to the attractiveness of the center star design. One hank of ecru mercerized crochet cotton will complete one doily.

For instructions in crocheting the star centerpiece, No. 420, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: There is one word that henceforth and forever will cause icy shivers to cavort over my spine while scalding perspiration drips from my brow. That word is 'expert!' Of course, it's really my fault, for getting married. No marriage, no brother-in-law; no brother-in-law, no agony such as the following hand brought me last night.

South, dealer.
East-West vulnerable.
Rubber bridge.

"We were having a nice friendly rubber game at our usual stakes, one-tenth. I was North; my fiendish relative by marriage, who is hailed far and wide as an 'expert,' probably because he once claimed to make a Vienna coup, was South. The opponents were vulnerable, we weren't, and this is the bidding that burst upon the quiet scene:

South	West	North	East
1 club!	1 spade	Double	Redouble
1 no trump!	Pass	3 no trump	Double
Pass	Pass	Redouble	Pass
4 clubs!	Double	Redouble	Pass
Pass	Pass

"I'll admit I didn't feel too sure of my final redouble [of four clubs], but who can blame me for any of the other bids? Here I was, sitting with better than three honor tricks, with my partner first opening the bidding and later taking out my one spade double to a no trump! Later, when he bid four clubs, I thought he would have sufficient length in the suit to make my queen-small ample support. He didn't and it wasn't!

"West, the gentleman who is responsible for my having a brother-in-law at all, led out the king and ace of clubs, and played a third round. East took over from there; he drew the rest of the trumps and then led the jack of hearts. But why linger over the gory details? We took exactly two tricks, a heart and a spade, and were down eight, 3,000 points!

"My only consolation is that I don't have to speak to any of the other three players, and friend West should just try to collect the $3.00 he stole from me on this deal! Furiously yours, Mrs. J. F. C., Michigan."

What is the most gentle way of breaking the news to Mrs. J. F. C.? For break it I must, altho I greatly fear I shall be included in her select circle of enemies.

Dear Mrs. J. F. C., your loss [in a manner of speaking] of only $3.00 on this deal was the lightest punishment I have ever heard of for a hideous crime. Your bidding, not your partner's, warranted the sort of action that Torquemado was so good at.

Granted, your partner's psychic bid was badly calculated, in that he had no five-card suit that would offer the slightest refuge. This concession in no way alters the fact that you were deaf and blind [must I complete the triad?] to the implication of all the bids around the table.

Your double of one spade was excellent, but that was your last correct call! Did you think, with West overcalling vulnerable, with three-plus honor tricks in your hand, and with East redoubling vulnerable, that there were enough face cards left in the deck to certify your partner's opening bid? And if you did fall into that error, didn't it mean anything that South took out the double and redouble to one no trump? You knew he couldn't have anything in spades, and anyway, he wouldn't dream of rescuing his vulnerable opponents merely because he wanted a nonvulnerable game for himself. Finally, after you had redoubled the three no trump bid so unbelievably made by you [there were two fine calls!] didn't South's frantic runout to four clubs convey just the tiniest note of warning? No? Well, I'm sorry for mentioning the matter.

Universal day—HAPPY NEW YEAR! An active day even if many don't feel like getting around.

Universal year—There are two sides to the numbers—negative and positive—so there are two phases of this six-year which we enter so doubtfully today. The positive side of six is love as expressed thru service to others, thru paternal and maternal love, and thru the love expressed in helpful friendship. This positive side of the number we can all help to express this year no matter what our personal numbers may be. The world will have need of this type of love—to feed the hungry, heal the sick and extend a helping hand in friendship.

Nineteen Forty Sees Return of Ladylike Styles

BY REA SEEGER.

Over the shoulder. . . . 1940, the year that gave the American designers a wild case of the jitters. Suddenly pulled out in the open without a prop of any kind these same bright people discovered their own creative ability with some pretty exciting results. Any sort of a prophet enthusiastically and confidently wagers his last cent that American fashions will click!

Last year heralded the return of ladylike fashions. Dinner dresses were cut with long sleeves and high necklines. Pleatings, flounces, lace, ribbon, and swishing silks were used to complete the allure. Hats, too, turned from the exciting and sometimes amusing creations to the models that flattered. Veils and silk flowers, aided the illusion. Turbans took a new high twist, but it needed an inspired expert to twist the fabrics into high and unusual outlines.

The biggest millinery excitment was the ravishing flower hat, with earmuffs of pastel hyacinths tied across the top of the coiffure with a velvet bow, or the lei hats, tiny felt turbans picturesquely trimmed with long garlands of tropic flowers.

Nineteen hundred and forty was the year that socks climbed to a new altitude . . . just below the knee. . . . The college crowd filched the sports coats right off the back of their masculine escorts. . . . Wool lisle hosiery was so smart and smooth that both country cousins and city sophisticates wore them for daytime. Another fashion scoop, Nylon hosiery, first for daytime and later, amazingly thin one threads for party wear. Wedge heels came in and went out . . . setting a record for speed!

Fur fashions that started in 1940. All the smooth dye jobs, inexpensive furs that were dyed to look exactly like luxury pelts of sable and silver fox. Sheepskin, for sports and the younger set that made supersmart spectator capes and jackets of white fleece. Paradise fox, a most exotic idea, thin black against white in jackets and muffs. And no one will ever forget the run on the leopard-skin market.

Military influence marked the suits and dresses. The jewelry pins, clips, embroidered insignia, all went red, white, and blue or glittering with gold braid, gold eagles, and crests.

AHEAD! The only authentic news off the fashion grapevine! Sloping shoulders. Thick pads definitly on the way out. Wool as thin and fine as silk, a riot of colors, with orange leading and all shades of green in second.

Happy New Year, we're off to a grand start!

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Edsel Ford. The next Welles flicker will be about Mexico.

Dorothy Lamour recently made a ceremony out of burning her sarong, saying never again would she wear one. So now Rita Hayworth is planning a mid-January bonfire of her dancing costumes.

Already there's lots of grumbling about studios having press previews in projection rooms instead of theaters. Squawkers claim they miss the audience reaction.

Mebbe Joe Breen is figuring on tightening his enforcement of the code of morals and ethics—but "This Thing Called Love" is one of the sassiest comedies yet.

Eddie Albert is always grumbling that nobody ever recognizes him. To prove his joint he worked for an hour at a local night club the other evening and didn't get a tumble from several friends who went in.

Several of the higher salaried publicity boys were cleaned out at Paramount when the new régime came in.

Carmen Miranda is being driven around town in a $300 car—which she bought with the proviso that she could turn it back for $200 at the end of her stay.

Guy Kibbee always had the inside on the rôle of Scattergood Baines because he's a pal of Clarence Budington Kelland, the author. But he nearly missed out on the rôle because he can't wiggle his toes, which is an important characteristic of Scattergood. Kibbee's toes have been on the bum since his feet got frozen years ago.

Jerome ["Last Time I Saw Paris"] Kern says that the last song he wrote is always his favorite, but he thinks the greatest song of all is "Old Black Joe."

With Santa Anita open nobody around here will be the same until spring. Horse owners operating there include Joe E. Brown, George Raft, Barbara Stanwyck, Spencer Tracy, Howard Benedict, Errol Flynn, Al Jolson, Don Ameche, Virginia Bruce, Dave Butler, Raoul Walsh, Mervyn LeRoy, John Cromwell, J. Walter Ruben, John Considine, Frank Lloyd, Robert Riskin, Irving Cummings, Bing Crosby, and, of course, Louis B. Mayer.

Music Note

Leopold Stokowski will reassemble his All-American Youth orchestra during the next few months and will take it on a transcontinental tour of the United States, Canada, and Mexico in May and June. It was indicated that Chicago would hear the group between May 22 and 31.

Membership in the orchestra will again be thrown open to young American musicians. Preliminary local auditions will be held under the auspices of the National Youth administration. Final selections will be made personally by Mr. Stokowski.

At Homes and Parties to Fill New Year's Day

Mrs. John Downes after 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The wives of Chicago club members, as usual, will be temporary widows this afternoon for the club's annual New Year's day luncheon is one function the men never like to miss. The party starts at 1 o'clock and goes on and on until dinner time. Frank Hibbard is president of the club and Frederick A. Preston is vice president. Mrs. Hibbard and the other 15 women who play bridge regularly on Saturdays have tentative plans to meet for luncheon and a game today at the Casino.

No Special Parties Planned at Casino, Racquet, Saddle Clubs.

The Casino will be serving luncheon, tea and dinner, as usual, today, but no special club party has been planned. The Racquet and the Saddle and Cycle clubs also will serve meals as usual on this first day of 1941.

The University club's annual open house on New Year's is for men only, so the members of this club have to park their wives and sweethearts elsewhere between 3 and 6 if they want to enjoy the champagne punch that the club always serves at the first party of each year.

The Indian Hill club's annual open house has become a much anticipated party by members and their families. There will be music for dancing today.

The Kenilworth club will have open house and a tea-dance from 4 to 7 o'clock.

About 1,000 members of the University of Chicago faculty and administration will attend the reception that President and Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins will give in their home. The New Year's receptions were initiated by Mrs. Hutchins in 1929 and have been annual events since then. Assisting will be Mrs. Emery T. Filbey, Mrs. Charles W. Gilkey, Mrs. Basil C. H. Harvey, Mrs. Robert V. Merrill, Mrs. Leon P. Smith, and Mrs. Frederic Woodward.

Pouring will be the wives of 20 faculty and administrative members.

Mrs. Carson Elwood Giving dance for Sub-deb Daughter.

Subdeb Virginia Elwood and her friends are going to have plenty of room in which to have their "fun," for Virginia's mother, Mrs. Carson Elwood, has taken the apartment adjoining her own in East Division street for the young people to dance in. The party will take place from 5 to 8 o'clock and in between dances the young people will congregate around a "milk bar." "Ginger" is a junior at the Girls' Latin school.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ives Haight of Evanston have invited not only their own friends but also friends of their son, Daniel, and their son-in-law and daughter, the Edward Allen Haights, to a supper-dance tonight at the Congress hotel. Young Mr. Haight is a student at the University of Wisconsin.

Before the dance 14 young people will be the dinner guests of Roxa Lee, daughter of Mrs. William George Lee, and Carol Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Fox.

The Gordon Louds, the Gordon Langs and the Nathaniel Owingses are among those who have gone to the country for the holiday. The three couples went to Neenah, Wis., on Sunday to remain until Thursday with the Jack Kimberleys.

The Sidney S. Gorhams, the James Congers, and the William Deknatels have gone to Kohler, Wis., to greet the new year with the junior Walter Kohlers.

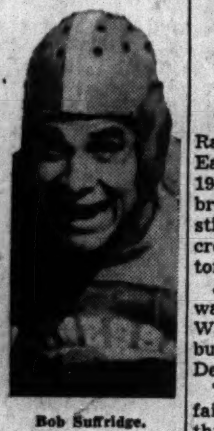
BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Orleans, La., Dec. 31. — The only postseason football game bringing together two undefeated, untied teams will be played in the Sugar bowl tomorrow between Boston college and Tennessee. For the seventh straight year New Orleans is host to two of the nation's strongest gridiron units and to thousands of visitors ranging from distinguished public officials to folksy folks from almost every section of the land.



Bob Suffridge.

Attendance at the game is limited to 73,000, the capacity of the stadium, but oldtime residents say tomorrow's contest has attracted the largest out of town delegation in the history of the city. Hotel lobbies today were jammed with noisy crowds, most of the merrymakers sporting either the orange and white of Tennessee or the maroon and gold of Boston college.

Three special trains from Boston this morning carried 2,060 rooters from Massachusetts. The Tennessee backers were more numerous, of course, because of the comparative proximity of New Orleans to Knoxville, Memphis, and Nashville. That perhaps accounts for the odds of 3 to 2 on Tennessee or six points and even money.

New Orleans Recalls Boston.

There is nothing in the records of the teams or in their preparations for tomorrow's game that warrants the installation of either as a favorite. Both went thru schedules of 10 games without a miss. The caliber of opposition appears to have been about even, altho they didn't meet a common foe. Boston college made a fine impression on New Orleans fans in its 27 to 7 triumph over Tulane in September before the Green Wave had begun to roll.

This is the first time the Sugar bowl classic has presented two unbeaten, untied elevens. Both teams are studded with brilliant individual talent. Bob Suffridge, Tennessee, guard, has been chosen on almost every All-American team. Gene Goodreault, end; Charley O'Rourke, half back; Chet Gladchuk center; Henry Toczylowski, half back; and George Kerr, guard, all of Boston college, have been picked on more than one All-American mythical lineup.

Tennessee's Strength Runs Deeper.

Experts who have seen both teams play predict it will be a dogfight all the way, if Boston college is able to keep its regulars in the game. Tennessee is much deeper in reserves, and its preponderance of talent will tell in the event Frank Leahy, youngest of the nation's top flight coaches, is obliged to remove his starters because of injuries. Boston college in the two seasons Leahy has been in command has won 19 of its 20 regularly scheduled games. Maj. Bob Neyland, who represented the south on the 1939 All-Star coaching staff, has the highest winning percentage, however, of any of the nation's leading coaches. In his 14 years at Tennessee the Volunteers have won 119 games, lost 13, and tied eight for a percentage of .810.

The game shapes up as a lightning fast, slam bang affair with both teams having a chance to score at least twice.

Watch Mr. O'Rourke.

Boston's 155 pound Charley O'Rourke is expected to give the finest demonstration of forward passing since Davey O'Brien led Texas Christian to victory over Carnegie Tech in the Sugar bowl two years ago. The Eagles whipped all their major rivals this season with passes. Tennessee, in Neyland's régime, hasn't banked heavily on forward passes but the major learned in the Rose bowl against Southern California last year that if you can't run over big lines, you have to rely on passes. The Vols have no passer as good as O'Rourke, but they have the best in the Southeastern conference in Buist Warren. Tennessee this year threw the ball for 15 touchdowns.

DEW WINS 1940 JOCKEY TITLE AS TAYLOR IS HURT

One Winner Gives Iowan Crown, 287-286.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 31 (AP).—Racing luck smiled on slender, young Earl Dew today and he captured the 1940 national jockey championship, bringing to a close one of the most stirring battles for the honorary crown in many a year of turf history.

Just as good fortune came Dew's way, so did lady luck frown on Jockey Walter Lee Taylor in his spectacular but ill-fated cross-country duel with Dew.

Taylor, from Houston, Tex., after failing to hit the winner's circle in three attempts, was thrown from his mount, injured and forced to cancel his remaining assignments at Florida's Tropical park.

It's 287 for Earl.

The triumph was No. 287 for the Sac City, Ia., lad, who was the son of a horseman and born to the saddle.

Dew and Taylor, whose seesaw battle reached dramatic proportions and a deadheat windup, entered the day's racing cards, 3,000 miles apart, on even terms, each with 286 winners for the year.

Dew's mounts for the year totaled 1,367, with 287 winners, 201 second, 178 thirds and 707 unplaced. Taylor's record included 1,480 mounts with 286 winners, 243 seconds, 170 thirds and 781 unplaced.

Dew was told of Taylor's accident before he went postward in the first race. Bitter rival of Taylor—the two swapped punches last week in the jockey room at Tropical Park before Dew flew west for better mounts—the Iowa youth said:

"Gee, that's too darn bad. I wanted him to ride today. If I should have a winner now I'd sort of hate to win the championship that way. I'd just as soon have a tie."

Broken Stirrup Downs Taylor.

Taylor, riding first at Tropical Park because of the four hour time difference, finished eighth on Wanna Hygro in the second and almost cashed in on Fantastical in the third. After leading all the way Fantastical faded and was third. In the fourth race he rode Town Miss. She wound up eighth and last, and in the run out, a stirrup strap broke and Taylor was pitched to the ground.

He was rushed to a hospital, and after a hurried examination he asked to be taken back to the track in an ambulance. He was unable to get back into the saddle, however, and his quest for the championship was ended.

Dew was unable to win any more races, altho his mount, Rawson, was nosed out in a photo finish in the fourth, and Boston Pal, in the seventh, suffered a mishap.

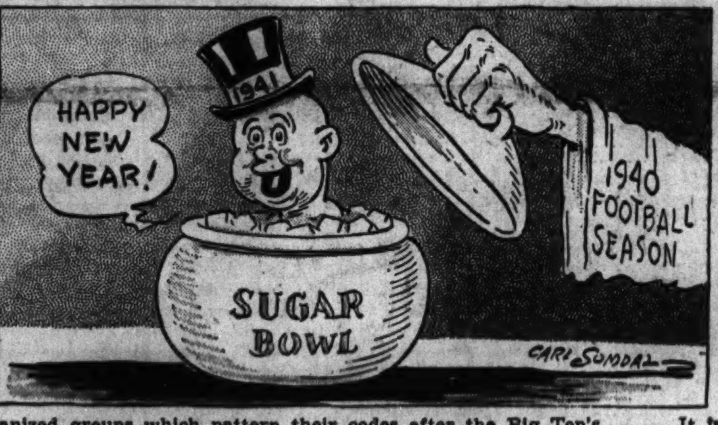
In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 31.—The seventh annual Sugar bowl football game, which tomorrow will bring together Tennessee and Boston college, easily may develop into the most thrilling of the various holiday contests scheduled thruout the south and west. . . . Unlike the Rose bowl, which took academic and geographical angles into consideration before the participants were decided, the New Orleans enterprise is interested only in presenting the two strongest available football teams. . . . It's a matter of record that the Sugar bowl promoters came up with the only major New Year's day game involving two undefeated teams. . . . Nebraska, which will meet Stanford at Pasadena, was beaten by Minnesota, and Georgetown, which will be the opponent of Mississippi State in the Orange bowl at Miami, lost a one point decision to Boston college. . . . Both Fordham and Texas Aggies, which will provide the entertainment in Dallas' Cotton bowl, have lost once. . . . Organized in 1934 by the New Orleans Midwinter Sports association for the avowed purpose of attracting visitors to the southland, the Sugar bowl ranks second only to the Rose bowl as the season's objective for teams whose athletic regulations permit postseason competition. . . . Tulane stadium, where 73,000 will see the boys from New England meet the champions of the Southeastern conference, has been sold out for several days. . . . The plant eventually will be enlarged to accommodate more spectators than the Rose bowl. . . . The problem in future years will not be to find spectators, but to find competitors. . . . The Western conference's recent veto of a proposal to send its championship eleven to the Rose bowl will have repercussions in all organized groups which pattern their codes after the Big Ten's. . . . It is now impossible to get teams like Yale, Princeton, Cornell, Dartmouth, Notre Dame, and Pennsylvania to engage in out-of-season competition. . . .



If you take the position that postseason football is okay you can have no quarrel with the modus operandi down here. The Sugar bowl program, which includes basketball, tennis, boxing, yachting, rowing, and track and field events, as well as the football game, was designed entirely in the interest of civic uplift. . . . No individuals or civic organizations profit financially from the activities. . . . The charter of the association provides that all receipts in excess of expenses must be devoted to charitable, religious, or educational purposes. . . . The first Sugar bowl carnival in 1935 was made possible by the support of 300 New Orleans loyalists who put up $100 apiece to guarantee the stability of the enterprise. . . . The money was refunded without loss of a penny. . . . As a reward for their pioneering the 300 founders are permitted to purchase tickets in advance of the public sale. . . . Horace Renegar of Tulane, who serves as publicity director of the Sugar bowl program, estimates that at least half of the 70,000 spectators are from out of the city.

The Lights Burn Low.

The tapers of the year burn low,
Its fires are growing cold;
In just a very little while
They will be spent and old.
What little time ago we sang
The New Year's glad refrain;
And now it's slowly fading,
Never to come again!

The tapers of the year burn low;
We pause with bated breath
As hallowed mystery of Birth

A moment fraught with portent deep
For you, for me, for all,
That moment when a new-born year

Of the year that's waning fast
Is quenched, it lights a brand new fire

God bless and keep you, one and all,

Northwestern's basketball team unleashed a spirited second half drive to defeat Notre Dame, 46 to 36, in the first of a two game series at the Evanston High school gymnasium last night.

The teams battled on even terms thruout the first period in which the lead changed hands three times and left the Wildcats holding a 22 to 19 advantage at half time. After Notre Dame pulled up within one point of tying the score shortly after the second period opened, the Wildcats turned on a rally which netted six consecutive points, a lead the visitors never overcame.

Hasse, Wendland Lead N. U.

Two sophomores, Bud Hasse, forward, and Russ Wendland, guard, headed Northwestern's attack, Hasse with 12 points, and Wendland with 11. The former got four of his goals in the first half and was largely responsible for keeping the Wildcats on even terms during that period. Wendland took up the cause in the last half, in which he scored all three of his goals.

Capt. Eddie Riska led the Irish attack with 11 points on three field goals and five free throws. Ten of his points came in the first period.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 31 [Special].—Wisconsin ended Princeton's midwestern winning streak tonight by defeating the Tiger basketball team, 52 to 40, before 5,800 in the first game of a doubleheader in Milwaukee auditorium.

Center Gene Englund led the Badgers to victory. Charles Winston, Princeton forward from Joliet, Ill., paced his team with 13 points.

Illinois defeated Marquette, 40 to 32, in the second game in which both quintets opened up during the second half after playing cautiously in the first 20 minutes. The Illini led, 13 to 10, at the end of the first half.

Forward Walt Evers, in a brilliant individual performance, sparked the Illini with 19 points, but had help, especially in the second half, from Center Art Mathisen who scored 14.

Oscar Green last night sank nine baskets and six free throws for a single game scoring record of 24 points in the University of Chicago's 23d annual high school basketball tournament. Green's feat enabled Du Sable's tall, colored team to eliminate Austin, defending champion, in the first game of the semi-finals, 39 to 36. Tuley earned the right to face Du Sable in the finals at 4 o'clock this afternoon by defeating Tilden Tech, 38 to 31, in the other semi-final. Tuley and Tilden will play for third place at 2:30 p. m.

Green Steals a Pass.

When Green batted down a pass from Herschelle Franks to Bernard Fine and raced down the floor alone to score Du Sable's 19th point with two minutes to go in the first half, Austin trailed by one point and never got closer to the lead.

George Felt, Austin center, who had made 57 points in four previous matches, was held to five baskets and a free throw by the close guarding of Nathaniel Clifton, Du Sable's six foot six player.

Clifton Works on Defense.

The Tuley-Tilden game was close most of the way, with Tuley repeatedly building up eight and nine point leads, but Tilden fought ahead to make the score close again. The seven baskets and two free throws by Forward Al Wald of Tuley were more than the fighting Tilden quintet could overcome. Lineups:

FORDHAM, TEXAS A. & M. BATTLE IN COTTON BOWL

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 31.—All Dallas prepared this afternoon to celebrate the new year and the Cotton Bowl football game. It fact, the idea is prevalent in Texas at least that the new year merely coincides with the football battle between Texas A. and M. and Fordham.

Despite today's rain, the city's enthusiasm mounted steadily. All roads led to this north Texas community and tonight, with the spur of celebration of 1941, the streets were jammed with thousands of visitors.

How Old! Aggies Favorites.

Texas also believed it was celebrating a sure thing, for despite the brave words of Fordham's Jimmy Crowley at today's luncheon in honor of members of both the rival coaching staffs, it is conceded in these parts that the Aggies will win. Perhaps, this attitude will prove costly but there is no denying that Texans refuse to believe that the Aggies, beaten only by another Texas eleven in the last two years, can be stopped by the easterners.

The Aggies, have a record of never losing to an eastern team and this is featured as prominently locally as the attendance mark of 45,507, largest crowd ever to see a football game in the southwest.

Crowley confined his remarks at a luncheon given by Mayor Woodall Rogers to a brief and obviously sincere assertion that despite the odds he believed Fordham was prepared to give the Aggies a battle for the decision. Just before he came to the luncheon he had been assured by Dr. Gerald J. Carroll, Rams' physician, that Claude Pieculewicz, second team quarter back who was thrown from a horse Sunday, would be able to play. Pieculewicz has been in the hospital for two days.

Fever May Stop Robnett.

Tom Deegan, Fordham's publicity director, was ordered to bed, however, by Dr. Carroll. He fell victim to influenza. The Aggies' great guard, Marshall Robnett, was the only Texan who might be unable to take his place in the starting lineup. Robnett was officially reported to have a sore throat and fever.

Nine of the Aggies' starting eleven are seniors. The ends, Jim Sterling and Bill Henderson, have one and two years of competition, respectively,

STANFORD GIVEN SLIGHT MARGIN IN ROSE BATTLE

Nebraska's Record Also Impressive.

Bowl Facts

CROWDS totaling nearly 340,000 football fans will see six bowl games and the East-West Shrine game today. They will be divided as follows:

Rose Bowl, Pasadena	90,000
Sugar Bowl, New Orleans	73,000
East-West, San Francisco	62,000
Cotton Bowl, Dallas	45,000
Orange Bowl, Miami	32,000
Pineapple Bowl, Honolulu, T. H.	22,000
Sun Bowl, El Paso, Tex.	15,000

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 31.—The man who a year ago looked wistfully at the standings and dreamed of a football team that could make a first down, will sit in the Rose bowl tomorrow, directing a champion. His name is Clark Shaughnessy and his team is amazing Stanford, unbeaten, untied, and inexplicable.

Ninety thousand, gathered from length and breadth of the land, will sit in on this final chapter of the game's most recent success story as Shaughnessy and his cinderella boys tackle a powerful University of Nebraska eleven in the 27th annual Rose bowl game.

The game will climax the 52d annual tournament of roses, a magnificent panorama of pageantry in which 20 bands, 200 horses, and six miles of gayly bedecked floats celebrate an old and unique custom. It is a far cry and long road from New Year's day in 1890 when residents of the little village of Pasadena decorated the family surrey with flowers from their gardens and drove down main street in an informal parade.

It's Been Long Road.

It is a far cry and longer road for Shaughnessy from the futile, melancholy days on Chicago's Midway, where the only football players were those who came in with visiting teams and the only person who had faith in the game and the boys who played it was this tall, nervous, energetic Mr. Shaughnessy, now become a miracle man up and down the Pacific coast. The Indians also finished last a year ago, beaten seven times.

Stanford enters the game a slight favorite over a Nebraska eleven which dropped its opening contest to Minnesota, then went on to win the Big Six conference championship with eight consecutive victories.

Schwartzkopf May Miss Game.

Quotations were influenced by word from the Nebraska camp that Eddie Schwartzkopf, regular left guard, was ordered back to bed last night with a recurrence of the flu attack which had him down in Phoenix last week. Coach Biff Jones and Cornhusker trainers said Schwartzkopf would be at his position when the game started, but the husky lineman looked none too steady as he moved thru the lobby. Ralph Whitehead, a 192 pound sophomore, may start at guard in his stead.

In the Stanford camp Shaughnessy and his aids pronounced their squad ready and willing. Only the coaches gave evidence of suffering from the pressure that comes with a long winning streak. They fear Nebraska's superior reserve strength. Unbiased observers predicted a close score. Stanford's great offense will have trouble scoring on the Cornhuskers, they say, but they question Nebraska's offensive ability.

Good Backs—Four of 'Em.

Stanford's hopes lie largely in its excellent back field, composed of Frankie Albert, Capt. Norm Standlee, Hugh Gallarneau, and Pete Kmetovic. This quartet with the first string line, in which the five middle men are completing their first year of varsity competition, has averaged more than 50 minutes per game.

Albert is the quarter back who directs the attack and throws deadly passes from the celebrated T. formation. Standlee is the full back, the equal of whom, the coast believes, does not exist in college or professional football. An ankle injury has handicapped him in recent weeks and makes him an uncertain quantity tomorrow, but he will start. Kmetovic is the team's leading scorer, but Gallarneau is the man Nebraska fears most and professional coaches covet.

Huskers Are Rugged.

Nebraska lacks some of the speed of this quartet, but has much the better of it in ruggedness and stamina. Roy Petsch, the quarter back, will start the game with two cracked ribs. Harry Hopp, a bruising type of half back and splendid defensive man, will team with Walter Luther, the nearest thing to a game breaker on the Cornhusker squad, and Vike Francis, a younger edition of Sam Francis, Nebraska's great back of several years ago, will handle the full back duties.

The vanguard of Nebraska's legions arrived today, accompanied by a 120 piece band and the rest of the varsity squad. Forty-two players form the Huskers' active squad for this game. It is estimated that 12,000 fans, the largest visiting delegation ever to attend the game, came from Nebraska.

ORANGE BOWL

Miami, Fla., Dec. 31 (AP)—The Orange Bowl football squads went through final drills on the scene of battle today and their coaches pronounced them in peak condition for the ninth annual New Year's Day game.

Unbeaten but once tied Mississippi State remained an 8 to 5 favorite, altho Georgetown had plenty of supporters who pointed to the Hoyas' record of only one defeat in three years.

With good weather—there was a promise of 75-degree warmth and the possibility of an occasional shower—all of the bowl's 32,000 seats were certain to be occupied.

EAST-WEST

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 31 (AP).—A listless eastern squad, including some of the most fearsome names in 1940 football, was a slight favorite today to win the 16th East-West football game in Kezar stadium tomorrow before a capacity crowd of 62,000 for the benefit of the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children.

Odds on the eastern aggregation dwindled from 2½ to 1 a week ago to 10 to 8 as rumors of dissension followed unimpressive workouts in the eastern camp.

In contrast the western squad had worked out hard and harmoniously. The westerners were not so famous nor so fast, but they were just as tough and bruising, and a little bit bigger.

remaining. Best known of the senior group, which was undefeated for 19 consecutive games, is John Kimbrough, battering full back, but Jim Thomason, half back, also was placed on several national honor teams.

Altho the stadium gridiron is adequately protected by tarpaulin from today's rain, if the predictions of intermittent showers tomorrow is correct, the battle between the Aggies and Fordham may be decided in the mud. There is little turf in the Cotton Bowl because of the many games played there during the regular season. The Aggies played one of their best games this fall against Southern Methodist under such conditions and Fordham reached its peak performance against Pittsburgh in a snow storm.

Both Strong in Line Plunging.

Fortunately, each team has a powerful offensive threat in straight line plunging. Kimbrough for the Aggies and Filipowicz, 195 pound Fordham full back, can carry, no matter the weather. It is our opinion, however, that the lighter Ram backfield will be handicapped by rain for Eshmont's open field running is far more important in any victory estimate than a power attack.

The rival lines are exceedingly powerful on defense which precludes consistent drive by Fordham.

HAWKS TO MEET THOSE IRKSOME WINGS TONIGHT

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Goalie Paul Goodman began his career as the Blackhawks' regular goalie a year ago tonight. In his debut he shut out the Detroit Red Wings, 1 to 0. The Hawks play the Wings tonight in Chicago Stadium and many feel that it would be splendid if Paul could celebrate with an encore.

The Wings have defeated the Hawks three times in three tries this season, as compared with no victories in eight tries last season, but the Hawks aren't a-tremble by any means. Their two top scorers, George Allen and Cully Dahlstrom, will be back at work this evening and their presence should lend much aid to Goodman's anniversary party. Cully has been out of six games and that has been quite a jolt to the Chicago outfit.

Johnny Chad is the only member of the Hawks who will not be uniform for tonight's match. Mush March, Phill Hergesheimer, and Pep Kelly, all right wingers, have been going well recently and since the battle lines need only three right forwards, Chad will be given the opportunity to watch tonight's engagement from the sidelines.

Wary Crows Give Hunter Winter Sport

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicagoland hunters who are reluctant to give up shooting at live targets even tho the game bird seasons are over do not have to lay aside their shotguns during the next two months for there are enough crows in northern Illinois to furnish a lot of sport. The birds can be decoyed within range of a blind by means of a caller, crow decoys, and a mounted owl or hawk.

We have been scouting the crow population of northern Illinois for more than three weeks in order to determine the approximate number of birds in the area where the large flocks roost at night, and the directions in which the birds fly. We have found, within easy driving distance of Chicago, three concentrations which can produce some snappy shooting for the hunter who will take a few minutes to build a blind and then go to work on the birds with a crow caller and an owl decoy.

It Is Real Sport.

We have been on the flight lines of one crow flock several times and had some real fast shooting when the birds swung close in response to our calling.

A few days ago Tom Evert, a Lake county crow hunter, joined us in an offensive against a flock and we dropped nine birds in some 15 minutes.

Here's How It's Done.

After experimenting with various methods of outwitting the crows, we have found that the smart shooter follows this routine if he wants action with his shotgun:

1. Do not, under any circumstances, bombard the rookery at night, because you can't get many birds that way, nor can you enjoy the sport of wing shooting, because such a raid scatters them.
2. Use a blind at least a mile from the rookery and take the birds as they fly either to or from it.
3. Put out a mounted owl, a caller, and some crow decoys.
4. Go out to shoot either before daylight and get the early morning flight or park on a flyway around 2 or 2:30 p. m. and shoot until late afternoon.

Shots of the Stars

[This is the third of a series of sketches on the specialty shots which the competitors in the world's three cushion billiards championship tournament, opening on Jan. 13 at Bensinger's, 131 South Wabash avenue, are expected to use.]

THE UMBRELLA SHOT.

The umbrella shot, one of the most striking in billiards, will be employed whenever possible by two of the artists in the coming meet—Allen Hall and Arthur Thurnblad. Both are equally adept at the shot, which is an elaboration of the bank shot. It takes its name from the fact that it appears to open up like an umbrella for the spectator's understanding, when the cue ball strikes the first object ball.

The umbrella shot consists of the cue ball striking one or more rails, after the fashion of a bank shot, before colliding with the first object ball. It always begins by starting off on a long, or side, cushion. Hall and Thurnblad have made an almost certain practice of clicking off one of each of these in every championship game. The umbrella shot is especially important, since few, if any, other shots present themselves when it comes up.

Good News for Speed Skaters; Ice on the Way

Despite the announcement of Herbert J. Knudten of the Northwest Skating club, whose officials last night postponed its 49th annual Derby and city championship meet scheduled today in Humboldt park, it appears that the state meet will be held on fast ice next Sunday in Glen Ellyn, Ill.

Weather the last few weeks has been so mild that the ice formed last month and early in December has completely melted away. But, the weatherman has informed Burt Tilden of the Glen Ellyn Athletic association, sponsor of the state meet, that a cold wave is on its way from Canada and will arrive in Chicago tonight or Thursday.

The state meet will open the Illinois Skating association season if the weather forecasters' predictions materialize. Club skaters now training at the Chicago Arena look forward to ample time to train for the important outdoor events such as the state, tri-state, and Chicago Tribune Silver Skates Derbies, the latter of which will be held this season on Jan. 18-19 in Garfield park.

Silverstein Will Try to Toss 2 More Tonight

Ralph [Ruffy] Silverstein, west side heavyweight wrestler, who is having great success in throwing two men in one night, will attempt to continue this extraordinary feat when he opposes Al Williams and Rufus Jones in Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue, tonight.

White Sox Get Knickerbocker for Silvestri

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Bill Knickerbocker of the Yankees yesterday was transferred to the 1941 roster of the White Sox. In exchange for the veteran infielder's services the Chicago club transferred to Joe McCarthy's team its property rights in Catcher Ken Silvestri.

The swap, engineered in the east by Manager Jim Dykes, wasn't made with the idea of altering the complexion of the prospective Sox infield for the next flag race. Even tho he obtained Dario Lodigiani from the Athletics to fill a utility rôle, Dykes felt the infield situation warranted a little more protection, just in case his present plans, especially around second base, prove unworkable. Utility rôles at second, short and third were filled by Knickerbocker in his two seasons under the Yankee banner.

He's 29 Years Old.

Knickerbocker attained the age of 29 last Monday, so can hardly be classed as a hardy youngster, but in this connection it can be pointed out that Luke Appling will be 32 next April and he still is getting around pretty well.

The latest addition to the Sox went to the Cleveland Indians from the Toledo club for the 1933 season, playing 80 games at short. For the next three years he held the post regularly, his lowest batting figure in this stretch being .294 His highest was .317 in 1934. In the winter of '37 he was traded to the Browns with Outfielder Joe Vosmik and Pitcher Oral Hildebrand for Pitcher Paul Andrews, Shortstop Lyn Lary and Outfielder Julius Solters.

After playing shortstop and second base for the Browns in 1937 Knickerbocker was traded Feb. 15, 1838, to the Yankees for Infielder Don Heffner. He played 46 games with the Yanks in 1938, only six in '39 and 43 last season.

Ken Still Is Developing.

In Silvestri the Yanks captured a youth who still is developing, but the Sox could afford to dispense with his services. They still have three catchers in Mike Tresh, Tom Turner and George Dickey, the latter a highly touted purchase from Oklahoma City.

Another move made by the Yankees yesterday sent Pitcher Irving Hadley to the Giants at the waiver price of $7,500.

Sheboygan Five Meets Bruins in Armory Tonight

The Chicago Bruins, who have won three and lost as many in their six National Basketball league games to date, tonight will attempt to inaugurate the new year with a victory over the Sheboygan Redskins in the 132d Regiment armory, Madison and Rockwell streets. The battle will begin at approximately 9 o'clock and will be preceded by a Windy City league game at 7:45 p. m., between the East Chicago Forszts and the Palmer House Indians.

The Bruins will be without the services of Elmer Johnson, who is in the Grant hospital with an infected leg. They will have another addition, however, in Herb Ball, former Western Kentucky star, who was signed and worked out with his new mates yesterday.

Wibs Kautz, one-time Loyola star, will be in the Chicago lineup, following his recovery from a bruised right leg sustained in the Bruins' games in Akron last week, when the Chicago five yielded two tough ones, by 45 to 46 to the Firestones on Friday, and by 38 to 40 to the Goodyears the next night. Kautz has scored 68 points in six games, sharing the record total of 21 points for a single contest.

Sheboygan comes to town with a roster of some of the ablest stars in the league, including Capt. Otto Kolar, Rube Lautenschlager, George Hesik, Dave Quabius, Ed Dancker, and Bill McDonald.

Expect 5,000 to Watch Non-Title Bout.

BY FRANK MASTRO.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 31.—Tony Zale, who engaged in two preliminary fights in this city six years ago, will return for his third appearance in possession of the middleweight championship in the windup bout of the annual New Year's day punch bowl event in the auditorium at Wells and 1st streets tomorrow afternoon. His opponent in a 10 round nonchampionship bout will be Tony [Cianciola] Martin, holder of the state 160 pound title by virtue of a seven round technical knockout scored over Richard [Toots] Bernstein last May 7.

Martin Has Backers, Too.

Zale is favored to win, but Martin has his share of backers among those in the vicinity of Eddie Metrie's gymnasium, 735 North 3d street, where the rivals have been finishing preparations for the last five days before banner gatherings. Martin showed more impressively in gymnasium workouts. As a consequence, he must be conceded a chance to score an upset. He possesses superior boxing ability, but Zale more than makes up for any lack of skill found missing in his equipment by carrying a knockout punch in his right hand.

Sam Pian and Art Winch, managers of Zale, reflected their protégé's attitude when they said, "He's just got to win." The champion made a disappointing showing against Billy Soose in Chicago last summer and he doesn't intend to duplicate the performance tomorrow. Zale has had a remarkable record since placing himself under the management of the Pian-Winch combination two years ago. During that span, he has competed in 20 fights, winning 16, of which 11 were knockouts, scoring one draw, and losing only three before and after he won his championship.

Real Weights Secret.

There will be a difference of about five pounds between the contestants when they weigh in in the office of the Wisconsin athletic commission on the third floor of the Franklin Arcade building at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. However, the one carrying the advantage is supposed to be a deep, dark secret because the only weight to be announced will be the 162 pounds, stipulated in the contracts.

The show will start at 3 o'clock tomorrow with a five round contest between Settimo Terracina and Hank Thorsen, light heavyweights. The windup will enter the ring two hours later. Other matches include:

Phil Zwick, Kaukauna, vs. Gene Ward, Chicago [8], 135.
Sammy Secreet, Pittsburgh, vs. Jimmy Pierce, West Allis [5], 154.
Ramey McKnight, Milwaukee, vs. Bill Reardon, Chicago [5], 145.

FORD TAKES NLRB REHIRING ORDER TO HIGH COURT

Charges Denial of Fair U. S. Hearing.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 31 (AP).—The Ford Motor company appealed to the Supreme court today from a decision granting enforcement of part of a labor board order requiring reinstatement of 23 discharged employés and cessation of "interference" with employés' collective bargaining rights.

The firm appealed from the 6th federal circuit court which ruled last Oct. 8 that the company was guilty of unfair labor practices.

The lower court refused, however, to uphold that part of the board's order requiring the firm to stop distributing pamphlets to employés outlining the firm's views on unionization. It was reliably reported today that the board and the solicitor general's office have under consideration an appeal from this part of the decision.

Charge Plot to Seize Plant.

The Ford petition told the court that:

1. The lower court should have held that it was not an unfair labor practice to discharge men who were members of an organization [the C. I. O. United Auto Workers] which the company "had reason to apprehend would attempt to seize the plant by force and violence."

2. That the company "was denied a full and fair hearing by reason of the misconduct of the trial examiner."

The lower court held with the board that the company was responsible for a riot at the River Rouge plant May 28, 1937. This was during the time of the C. I. O. sit down strikes in Michigan's motor plants.

"Those strikes," said the Ford petition, "and repeated public threats of C. I. O. leaders during and after them presaged a like violent and lawless seizure of the petitioner's plant."

Plant Election Sought.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 31 (AP).—The C. I. O. United Automobile Workers petitioned the National Labor Relations board today for an employé election in the Lincoln plant of the Ford Motor company to determine whether the U. A. W.-C. I. O. should be granted exclusive bargaining rights.

The petition followed the union's disclosures that its members in the Lincoln plant had authorized a strike. Approximately 3,800 are employed at the Lincoln plant.

DE LEAU—Helen De Leau. In loving memory of my dear mother, who passed away one year and four months ago today.
I've waited every hour for your returning;

That you might see its flame as you drew near.
Yes, we shall meet again when night is ended;
When all the bitter loneliness is passed;
When all the broken hearts are soothed and mended,
I shall be folded in your arms at last.
Your loving daughter,
MICHAELINE DE LEAU.

A NEW LEAF.

This is a good time to reiterate some investment guides to follow in 1941. The investor should have definite aims when he puts his money to work. He should concentrate his appraisal of possible investments on whether they provide safety of principal and regularity of income.

The safety element is most important for persons of limited means. Speculation is for those who can afford to absorb the inevitable losses that occur.

Among the primary considerations in making an investment are the financial responsibility of the enterprise, the ease with which the investment can be liquidated, and the relative probability of depreciation of the principal.

Investment programs should be tailored to individual needs and circumstances. A person's income and wealth determine the degree of risk he can undertake.

Life insurance is the investor's first need. It provides protection against loss of income thru death and, in some forms, offers investment of savings.

After insurance, the accumulation of a bank deposit reserve is essential to provide funds for unexpected needs. Other savings may be invested in securities in which safety of principal and income predominates. United States savings bonds and other federal issues are suitable investments.

Those who have met the primary requirements and have additional funds which they can invest at varying degrees of risk may consider high grade corporate bonds. The risk element increases—other things being equal—in preferred and common stocks.

The lender of money usually takes a smaller risk and lower income than the person who buys an ownership share in a business. The stockholder assumes greater hazards but may receive a larger share of profits thru dividends if the business prospers.

Keeping his objectives firmly in mind, the investor should select his investments after thoughtful investigation. Companies which have weathered the sharp downswings of the business cycle, which are solidly rooted in the nation's economy, and which show signs of continued strength are the ones worth considering for investment.

Since 1887 We have never passed a dividend nor has any investor ever lost a dollar.

FIRST NATIONAL REPORTS PROFIT OF 6 MILLIONS

Brown Urges Halt in Gold Influx.

Profit of the First National Bank of Chicago for 1940 amounted to $6,083,360, equal to $20.28 a share, compared with $4,882,226, equal to $16.27 a share for 1939, Edward E. Brown, president, reported yesterday to shareholders in the bank's 77th annual statement. The First National is Chicago's second largest bank. With assets totaling $1,238,291,927 it is one of the nation's few billion dollar banks.

Brown's statement besides detailing the bank's financial progress contained a number of pointed remarks on the nation's economic status. Among other observations Brown made the following:

1. Means should be found for the good of the national economy to halt the flow of unneeded gold into the country or to isolate that gold from the nation's monetary system.

Predicts Bank Loan Rise.

2. An increase in the demand for bank loans may be expected in 1941.

3. There are indications that the continued long decline in long term interest rates has reached its end and the tendency from now on may be upward.

The bank's total deposits at the end of the year were $1,159,425,000, compared with $1,053,424,000 at the end of 1939; savings deposits were $175,249,000 against $172,320,000; loans and discounts $301,592,000 against $250,399,000; cash and due from banks $439,782,000 against $416,592,000 and dividends declared $2,550,000 against $2,400,000. In addition the bank paid a special dividend in 1940 of 1 share of Middle West corporation stock, which closed yesterday at $6.25 a share for each share of First National.

Savings Total a Record.

The savings total was described by Brown "as the largest amount of savings deposits held by any bank in the world, not a mutual savings bank, operating only one office."

Total deposits in 1940 increased $106,001,000 compared with $117,800,000 in 1939 and with $64,500,00 in 1938.

"These great increases in deposits during the last three years," he said, "are in line with the general experience of the larger banks thruout the country, and they are due chiefly to the large importations of gold into this country during these three years, and to the fiscal policy of our government involving deficit financing and the sale to banks of a large percentage of the bonds issued to cover these deficits.

"As long as a stream of gold continues to flow into this country and enters our monetary structure, and as long as government bonds issued to finance deficits find their way into the portfolio of commercial banks the aggregate of bank deposits is bound to increase.

Asks Change in Financing.

"For the good of the national economy it is to be hoped that means can be found either to prevent unneeded gold coming into the country or so to handle it after its arrival that it will be isolated from the monetary system. And it is to be hoped that future issues of government bonds will be of such a character as to appeal primarily to investors other than commercial banks."

Brown said the pattern of business activity for 1941 was largely set by the war and our own defense program. War orders in the first half of the year were sufficient to keep business on the level of the last few months of 1939 but were not large enough to overcome the hesitancy of business to expand plant capacity in the face of labor troubles, governmental regulation of business and high taxes. With the French collapse and the rush of America to rearm there was a steady pickup in activity, including considerable plant expansion.

Activity at Peak.

Brown said industrial activity at the close of 1940 was greater than ever before, altho not relatively so great, allowing for the population gain, as in the late '20s. The increased activity resulted in a greater demand for loans generally, but especially for term or intermediate loans to finance expansion.

Owing to the large excess reserves [idle cash] held by the banks, he said, it is not likely that short term loan rates will increase, but the tendency on long term rates from now on may be upward. An increase in the volume of loans, even if not accompanied by an increase in rates, should aid bank earnings, he said.

City National Bank Declares First Dividend

Directors of the City National Bank and Trust company yesterday declared the first dividend since the bank was organized in 1932. The board ordere an initial semi-annual dividend of $2 a share of which $1 will be paid on Feb. 1 to stockholders of record Jan. 20 and $1 will be paid on May 1 to stockholders of record April 19.

Philip R. Clarke, president of the bank, said that the directors also approved the transfer of $200,000 from undivided profits to surplus.

Surplus Is $3,200,000.

In 1939, $1,000,000 was transferred from undivided profits to surplus and $1,000,000 was so transferred in 1939. The bank's capital now is $4,000,000 and surplus is $3,200,000.

The City National was chartered as a national bank on Oct. 5, 1932, during the middle of Chicago's banking troubles. From that start it has had a steady growth. Since 1936 its earnings have been as follows: 1936, $564,142; 1937, $504,768; 1938, $290,130, and 1939, $364,078.

Charles G. Dawes, former Vice President of the United States and a general during the world war, is chairman of the board.

Deposits Rise Yearly.

The bank in announcing the dividend stated:

"Since the inception of the bank in 1932 deposits have shown unusually large yearly increases which have promoted the management to retain all earnings and thereby augment the capital structure. However, notwithstanding the fact that deposits continue to mount, the directors believe that the bank has now reached a position that warrants utilization of a modest portion of earnings in the payment of dividends."

INSURANCE FIRM LEASES SPACE IN BANK'S BUILDING

Herbert J. Lorber.

Rollins Burdick Hunter company, one of the largest general insurance brokers in the country, now in the Insurance Exchange building, yesterday leased approximately half of the 16th floor of the Continental Illinois Bank building. The lease, for 10 years, was negotiated by Herbert J. Lorber, vice president and treasurer of the firm, and Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company.

The space leased, formerly occupied by the General Electric company which moved recently to its new near west side office building, will be modernized for May occupancy by the new tenant.

COUNTY REALTY TRANSFERS SET PEAK SINCE 1930

County Recorder Edward J. Kaindl's office recorded more real estate transfers and mortgage transactions in 1940 than in any other year since 1930, his annual report showed yesterday.

Real estate transfers numbered 54,450, against 47,226 in 1939 and the 1930 high of 67,770. Mortgage recordings totaled 41,270, against 35,134 in 1939 and 59,028 in 1930.

"The increase in the number of recorded documents is due to more prosperous times," said Kaindl. "The Federal Housing authority, with its guarantee of loans, is partly responsible for the current building boom."

Hale, United States District court clerk, received instructions today from Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold to subpena 27 unnamed witnesses for the trial of the Socony-Vacuum Oil company of New York on charges of violating the antitrust laws. The trial is scheduled for Jan. 20. Socony-Vacuum was one of a number of oil companies indicted on charges of combining to control gasoline prices.

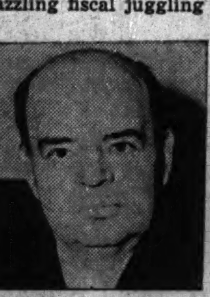
HOPSON GUILTY; FACES 85 YEAR JAIL SENTENCE

Jury Convicts Him on Fraud Charge.



Howard C. Hopson.

New York, Dec. 31 (AP).—The dazzling fiscal juggling performed by Howard C. Hopson during 18 years brought him face to face today with a possible prison sentence of 85 years after a federal jury convicted him of using the mails to defraud his utilities empire of millions of dollars.

The broken, feeble, former head of the vast Associated Gas and Electric system, sat expressionless and apparently not understanding the import of the jury's verdict, which was reached after 14 hours' deliberation following a trial which lasted eight weeks.

Because of the 58 year old Hopson's precarious health, there was a possibility, however, that he might spend the rest of his days in a hospital rather than in prison.

Fate to Be Decided Jan. 9.

Judge Alfred C. Coxe will decide his fate on Jan. 9, the date he fixed for sentencing. Meanwhile, Hopson's bail of $5,000 was continued and his lawyer said he would remain at a neurological institution where he has spent all his out of court time since the trial started.

Hopson's two co-defendants, Attorneys Charles M. Travis and Garrett Brownback, who were accused of aiding the utilities man in his financial operations for a number of years, were acquitted. Hopson was acquitted on a single count of conspiracy.

Hugh A. Fulton, special assistant to the attorney general, declined to discuss the government's plans on still pending charges against Hopson and Brownback—an indictment alleging conspiracy to defraud the government of $1,886,405 in income taxes on 1929 profits of $17,149,139.

None of the defendants took the stand during the mail fraud trial. The defense offered little more than character witnesses in a surprisingly brief presentation.

Charge 20 Million Fraud.

The government charged that Hopson defrauded stockholders and various units of the intricate, pyramided A. G. & E. system of $20,000,000 as he whirled utility assets in a kaleidescopic manner that has baffled exact analysis by financiers, accountants, and lawyers.

Hopson was 40 when he got a controling interest in Associated Gas for a reported $300,000. He was then an obscure utilities financing consultant in Wall street, after a start with pennies and nickels as a newsboy in Fort Atkinson, Wis.

Within 10 years he promoted A. G. & E. into a billion dollar organization supplying gas, electricity, water, steam, ice, and transportation to 2,000,000 persons, in 6,200 communities in 20 states.

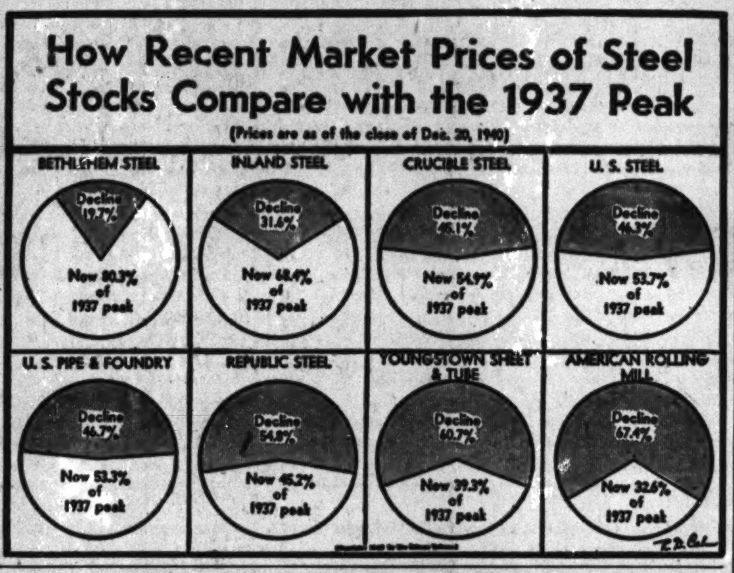
The intricate financial scaffolding erected thru links of holding companies finally collapsed last January. Court appointees, acting under the bankruptcy laws, are reorganizing the system—the biggest job of its kind in financial history.

NOVEMBER PORK EXPORTS FALL TO NEW LOW RECORD

November pork exports were the smallest for that month on record, a department of agriculture report showed yesterday.

Only 3,327,051 pounds of pork, exclusive of lard, were exported—54 per cent less than the 7,302,058 pounds of November, 1939.

Packers exported only 10,228,281 pounds of lard, the third smallest volume on record for the month. The total was 60 per cent smaller than the 25,706,337 pounds of November, 1939.



Sloan Warns of Dangers in Defense Work

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the General Motors corporation, yesterday combined a forecast for record-breaking 1941 production with a warning that the nation will not derive real prosperity from swollen defense industries. Terming inflation the worst economic evil facing the country, he advocated additional taxes to minimize this danger, and called upon labor to waive the premium of overtime wages during the defense emergency and work a six-day, "and even a seven-day week."

"The immediate job is the capitalization of the coördinated efforts of industry to the end that in the shortest space of time our defense may be so strong and so effective as to place us in an impregnable position," Sloan said.

Warns of Artificial Prosperity.

"The trend of production for industry as a whole during 1941 can be expected to reach higher levels, and, in all probability, establish a new all-time record. The great majority are sure to believe that we have entered an era of real prosperity. But, if we are wise, we will keep constantly in mind that it is partly artificial. Production for defense adds nothing to our standard of living.

"There is sure to come a time when the bill must be paid. No one can escape. The liquidation of the defense material program involves grave dangers. It will require the highest order of economic and political leadership to avoid what may well be a real disaster.

"Taxes Bound to Rise."

"Taxes are bound to be greater than ever before. I believe it would be an economic mistake to make taxation so high as to prevent a full utilization of the nation's idle economic resources. Added taxes, specifically levied, might well be justified as a means of keeping the supply of goods in balance with purchasing power. Such taxes would minimize the danger of an inflationary spiral of prices. But such taxes should not be put into effect until after we have moved to a six-day working week.

"As defense plants reach that stage of production the multiple shift procedure employed in the automobile industry should be adopted. And at least a six day, even a seven day, operation in the critical cases is essential. Labor should coöperate by waiving the premium for overtime for the period of the emergency. It is inflationary in character and tends to overstimulate the consumer goods industries."

WHOLESALE AREA REPORTS GAIN IN DECEMBER SALES

Business in the Chicago wholesale district during December ranged 10 to 25 per cent above the volume of the same month in 1939, Irving Parsons, managing director of the Chicago Wholesale Market council, reported yesterday.

Men's clothing and furnishings ran from 10 to 15 per cent above December, 1939, the council's survey showed. Other increases included women's dresses, 8 to 10 per cent; shoes, 10 per cent; hosiery, 8 to 10 per cent, and lingerie, 20 per cent.

Parsons predicted that any coming change in price level would be upward. He urged retail merchants to plan now for at least the next 90 days.

ALASKAN GOLD OUTPUT SETS ALL-TIME MARK; EXCEEDS BOOM DAYS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 31 (AP).—Alaska, purchased from Russia in 1867 for $7,200,000, produced $25,375,000 in gold during 1940. This was more than the amount mined in the great gold rush days and set an all time record.

W. C. Mendenhall, director of the geological survey, gave the production figures in a preliminary report to the department of the interior.

The year's total, he said, brought the gold output of Alaska since the beginning of recorded mining in 1880 to $561,311,000. It topped 1939 gold production by $2,100,000 and brought the value of all metals mined in the territory during 1940 to $27,658,000, or 9¼ per cent more than in 1939.

ANNOUNCE SALE OF PHILADELPHIA EVENING LEDGER

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 31 [Special].—Sale of the Evening Public Ledger by the trustees of the Cyrus H. K. Curtis estate to a company headed by Robert Cresswell, who resigned recently as treasurer of the New York Herald-Tribune, was announced at the Ledger offices tonight.

The name of Mr. Cresswell's associates and the terms of the transaction were withheld, altho it was revealed that Charles M. Morrison, who resigned as the Ledger's editor last year, would return to that position. The sale is effective tomorrow.

With the Ledger's sale, the newspaper dynasty created by Mr. Curtis passed into history. After founding the Ladies Home Journal in 1883, and adding the Saturday Evening Post and other magazines to his publishing empire, he bought the Public Ledger in 1913 from the late Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times. In 1915 Curtis started the Evening Public Ledger.

Market Holiday

Major security, commodity and live stock markets thruout the United States and Canada will be closed today, New Year's day. Trading sessions will be resumed on the usual schedules tomorrow.

CICERO MACHINE FIRM GETS BIG DEFENSE ORDER

Expand Danly Plant for Gun Mounts.

BY AL CHASE.

One of the largest national defense contracts in the Chicago area—approximately $5,500,000—will be let shortly by the bureau of ordnance to Danly Machine Specialties, Inc., of Cicero. It is for the construction of naval antiaircraft gun mounts.

Altho the actual contract has not been signed by the government a "letter of intent" has been issued the corporation, it was learned yesterday, authorizing it to build necessary plant additions.

With that in hand the corporation commissioned Burnham and Hammond, Inc., a firm of Chicago architects, to draw plans for a plant which will represent a total investment of $1,750,000.

Force to Be Doubled.

The plant addition will provide 100,000 square feet of floor space, which, with the present plant's 80,000 square feet, will give the company 180,000 square feet of factory area. The factory working force will be raised from 400 to 800 men.

The new building units will cost about $750,000 and $1,000,000 will be spent on plant equipment, it was learned. The Kaiser Ducett company of Chicago has the general contract.

Work already has been started on one section of the addition. Title to this section of land was obtained yesterday. It is 100 by 604 feet and adjoins the company's present plant at 2104 South 52d avenue. The property was bought from Morton Park Coal company for $60,000.

The building program calls for a large one story factory building of standard steel frame construction, with glass side walls, and a four story office building of face brick and steel construction, with stone trim.

Plan Completion by June 1.

W. J. Barz, treasurer of the Danly company, said the addition will be completed about June 1. It is understood that construction has been arranged so that when the defense program contracts are completed it can be used for the company's regular output—supplies for the tool and die industry.

P. H. Danly is president of the company, which was organized about 20 years ago.

New York, Dec. 31 [Special].—T. J. Carlyle Gifford, special agent of the British treasury in New York, who since last February has been supervising liquidation of British holdings of American corporate securities, today announced 57 of the stock issues and 11 of the bond issues have been sold out entirely, mostly thru private negotiations.

Predict New Speedy Trains to Cincinnati

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Streamlined train service between Chicago and Cincinnati was forecast yesterday in railroad circles. Cincinnati is one of the few major middle western cities with which Chicago is not now linked by streamlined trains.

It was learned that officials of the New York Central have under consideration the establishment of a streamlined train which would run to the Ohio river via the Big Four—one of the roads in the New York Central system. The Pennsylvania also operates between Chicago and Cincinnati and should the New York Central install a streamliner it is held likely that the Pennsy would act.

Lift Order to 100 New Cars.

The New York Central has placed orders for 100 new passenger cars, to cost a total of $5,000,000, instead of the 24 previously announced, it was learned yesterday in New York. It was said that some of the cars to make up the new streamlined train were to be included.

The distance between Chicago and Cincinnati is a little over 300 miles. The fastest time from Chicago to Cincinnati is 6 hours 10 minutes and from Cincinnati to Chicago it is 5 hours 55 minutes. The average speed for the fastest of these trains is a little over 50 miles an hour. At an average speed of 60 miles an hour the time between the two cities would be about 5 hours.

Average 60 to 72 M. P. H.

The Burlington's Morning Zephyr now runs 431 miles to St. Paul at an average speed of 72 miles an hour, including seven stops. The North Western-Union Pacific and Burlington run trains about 1,048 miles from Chicago to Denver at an average speed of 66 miles an hour. A Santa Fe streamliner averages 60 miles an hour for the 451 miles from Chicago to Kansas City.

The high speed trains of the western roads largely use Diesel-electric power. It is expected that the proposed new Cincinnati streamliner will be pulled by a steam locomotive.

The New York Central has not yet announced the allocation of its new car purchases, but it is reported that the orders were placed as follows: Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company, Chicago, 45 cars; Pressed Steel Car company, 25 cars; American Car and Foundry company, 25 cars, and the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company, 5 cars.

CHICAGO AREA CUSTOMS FEES AT 7 YEAR LOW

With shipments from countries dominated by Germany virtually halted, custom collections on imports at the Chicago district office dropped to $9,567,104 in 1940 from $11,122,888 in 1939, Joseph A. Ziemba, collector of customs, reported yesterday. The total was the lowest since the $6,093,428 of 1933.

December collections were $1,044,616, compared with $1,143,894 a year ago. The November figure was $1,139,138. The August total, $480,715, was the smallest of the year.

C. & E. I. FREED OF COURT RULE AFTER 8 YEARS

It's First Big Road to Pass Hurdles.

C. T. O'Neal.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois last night became the first of the roads involved in the 1930 financial troubles to emerge from court control under bankruptcy action and return once more to private management.

Benjamin Wham, trustee for the road appointed by Federal Judge John P. Barnes, turned over the properties of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railway company [legal name for the old company] to C. T. O'Neal, president of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad company [the new company]. The transfer became effective at midnight last night.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois on April 18, 1933, was forced to take refuge in the courts under section 77 of the amended bankruptcy act, a section which applies specifically to railroads.

First to Complete Job.

It was not until Jan. 20, 1939, that a plan for reorganization was approved by the Interstate Commerce commission. It was confirmed a year later on Jan. 10 by Judge Barnes. Numerous technical details, including a vote on the plan by the holders of the various securities, delayed completion until yesterday.

So far the road is the only one to complete the intricate red tape involved in reorganizations provided under section 77—a measure which had for its announced objective the speedy clearing up of railroad bankruptcies.

Common Stock Wiped Out.

Under the reorganization $23,845,300 par value in common stock was wiped out and the capitalization was reduced from approximately $85,000,000 to close to $61,000,000. Fixed charges [bond interest] were cut from $1,722,800 to about $485,000 annually. The Reconstruction Finance corporation loaned the new company $4,933,000 to help get it started.

New securities being given security holders in exchange for their old will be delivered between Jan. 15 and Feb. 1.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois is one of the most important railroads linking Chicago with the great south eastern section of the nation. It connects with southern railroads at Evansville, Indiana. It also connects Chicago with St. Louis.

We regret to announce that, because of ill health, Arthur A. Clement has withdrawn from partnership in this firm. By mutual consent the partnership of Clement, Curtis & Company has been dissolved as of this day.

STOCK MARKET ENDS YEAR WITH NEW PRICE RISE

Rally Is Resumed After Early Sell-Off.

New York, Dec. 31 (AP).—The stock market bade farewell to 1940 with few regrets today, altho it managed to maintain its year end rally on a selective basis after a forenoon stumble. Altho there were scattered weak spots thruout the list at the finish and numerous issues had small losses, gains of fractions to a point or so predominated.

The last transaction on the New York Stock exchange in 1940 was a sale of 30 shares of United Dyewood preferre at $28 a share, unchanged from Monday. The issue had a range for the year of $65.50 a share high against a low of $26.25.

Many Traders Take Profits.

Many traders were inclined to cash in on the advance which got under way last Friday in view of the fact financial exchanges will recess tomorrow. Others were hesitant because of growing apprehension over the possible entry of this country into the European war.

At the same time business news remained of a stimulating nature, with the huge defense spending program drawing attention to stocks of companies which stand to benefit materially.

Universal Pictures preferred, a 10-share trading unit, jumped 11 points to 128 and Savage Arms held a gain of 1⅜ at 42, both new tops for the year.

Chicago Stocks.

Gains predominated in yesterday's trading on the Chicago Stock exchange. Of the 130 active issues, 56 advanced, 41 declined, and 33 closed unchanged. Turnover dropped to 37,000 shares from 48,000 Monday. Yates American Machine and North American Car established new price peaks for the year at 4⅞ and 6, up ⅛ and ⅝ point, respectively.

A comparison of several stocks listed both in Chicago and New York, showing the changes here in the hour after the New York close, follows:

DAIRY EQUIPMENT MAKER REPORTS LARGER EARNINGS

Cherry-Burrell Sales Also Rise During Year.

W. L. Cherry.

Cherry-Burrell corporation, with main offices in Chicago, and its wholly owned Canadian subsidiary realized a net income of $604,963, or $1.21 a share, in the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, W. L. Cherry, president, announced yesterday. In the preceding fiscal year, the profits totaled $458,068, or 87 cents a share.

Net sales for the year amounted to $10,664,757, compared with $9,292,634 during the preceding year. Federal and dominion income taxes totaled $143,335, against $96,802 the year before, an increase of 48 per cent. These taxes, together with state and local taxes, brought the total tax bill to $322,212, compared with $272,408 in the preceding fiscal year.

Adds New Equipment.

In the annual statement to stockholders, Cherry said that new equipment costing approximately $260,000 had been installed in the company's plants, which turn out machinery and equipment for the dairy industry. He said that the company at present is not making any products for war equipment, but added that it "is prepared and anxious to extend to the government every possible coöperation."

The Duplan Silk corporation, producer of silk, rayon, and other fabrics, reported a net profit of $131,433, or 22 cents a share, for six months ended Nov. 30, compared with $246,686, or 65 cents a share, in the corresponding period of 1939.

ACTIVE DEMAND FOR GRAIN SENDS PRICES UPWARD

Grain markets were on the upgrade yesterday. The new crop deliveries of wheat closed ⅜ cent higher while May was ¼ cent higher.

Continuation of active shipping demand for cash corn and receipts of only 39,000 bushels, the smallest in more than eight months resulted in an upturn of ⅜ to ½ cent in corn. Oats gained ¼ to ½ cent, with May at 37½ cents, within ½ cent of the seasonal high. Soy beans advanced ¼ to 1 cent on scattered commission house buying.

Mills were fair buyers of May wheat in the early trading, and there was also support from speculators who anticipated that there would be a marked improvement in the domestic demand for flour early in January.

Deliveries of 295,000 bushels of cash oats were made on December contracts, cleaning up the open interest in that grain.

AGGREGATE FARM VALUE OF STATE CROPS REDUCED

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 31 (AP).—The aggregate farm value of principal crops produced in Illinois during 1940 was reported today by the state and federal departments of agriculture as $351,351,000—a shade less than the $351,687,000 of 1939.

The joint crop summary placed corn as the chief product, accounting for $205,991,000 or 59 per cent of the total.

The 1940 aggregate grain production was 9 per cent less than for 1939 but 12 per cent larger than the 1929-'38 average.

Announce Corn Acreage.

Washington, Dec. 31 (AP).—The Agricultural Adjustment administration today announced corn acreage allotments totaling 37,300,000 acres in 623 counties of 15 states, the 1941 commercial area. Midwest allotments in acres are: Illinois, 6,527,756; Indiana, 3,208,908; Iowa, 8,184,781; Michigan, 391,511, and Wisconsin, 661,622.

Egg Futures Close Higher; Overcome Profit Taking

January egg futures pushed beyond profit taking yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange and closed 0.45 cent a dozen higher at 19.75 cents. In the cash market some qualities were reduced ½ cent a dozen. Butter futures closed 0.05 to 0.25 cent a pound lower.

KENTUCKY GETS AMMONIA PLANT, SENATOR SAYS

Reports Army Approval of 11 Million Job.

The war department was reported yesterday to have approved plans for the construction of an $11,000,000 ammonia plant for the army at West Henderson, Ky. Senator A. B. Chandler [D., Ky.] stated that he had been informed the plant would probably be built and operated by the Allied Chemical company. Work is expected to be started within 30 days.

Under the stimulus of defense preparations, total employment in the steel industry rose about 9,000 from October to an average of 577,000 workers in November, the American Iron and Steel institute announced. November, 1939, employment was placed at about 561,000. Steel men in Chicago have estimated current employment by the industry for this region at about 90,000.

Pay Rolls Dip Slightly.

Pay rolls in November reflected the Thanksgiving holiday and the short month by dipping to $87,921,000 from the $90,768,000 for October. In November a year ago they totaled $86,682,000. Wage workers earned an average of 86.2 cents an hour in the industry during November, against 85.6 in October and 84.7 in November, 1939. Average number of hours worked per week in November declined to 38.2 from 39.4 in October and 39.5 in November, 1939.

From Groton, Conn., it was reported that the Electric Boat company will hire 2,599 new workers during the next nine months in order to reach its goal of one submarine a month to the navy. The company expects to have 3,900 at work by next September. Electric Boat has orders for 41 large under sea craft.

Reports on Housing Progress.

In the division of house construction in connection with defense, C. F. Palmer, defense housing coördinator at Washington, disclosed that 27,700 federally financed dwelling units for defense workers are now being built. He estimated that at least 100,000 houses will be under construction or completed by March 1.

WHO'S VANISHING CHICAGOAN? HE'S THE TAX PAYER!

Few Now Pay Fully and Without Strings.

A review of events of 1940 yesterday caused veteran tax officials to predict the gradual elimination of tax payments made in full without protest. This would be awkward for Cook county local governments because the nondelinquent taxpayer is their mainstay despite the kicking around he receives.

The year got off to a bad start when County Assessor John S. Clark disclosed that two of his employés had been connected with "irregularities" in the personal property assessments of 250 corporations. The board of appeals raised the 1939 taxes of the corporations by $103,538, but it was too late to recover 1937 and 1938 shortages.

Investigations Accomplish Little.

To date nothing has been known to result from investigations of the "irregularities" by Clark, the Chicago Bar association, and State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney. In February Clark launched a campaign against judges whom he charged with slashing personal property taxes brought to suit without warrant in law, but at the end of the year his promised conferences with judges and the state's attorney to end such abuses had not come to pass.

In April, 1939, tax bills were mailed to 1,500,000 taxpayers for total taxes of $215,885,923—the highest since 1932. Because of a 5.3 per cent increase in 1939 assessments the city rate was held to $9.11 per $100 assessed valuation, compared to $9.12 for 1938.

Void $5,000,000 Stock Tax.

In May Assessor Clark sent letters to 50,000 personal property taxpayers informing them that the Illinois Supreme court had invalidated taxation on their stocks of foreign [out of state] corporations with tangible property in Illinois. But about 5,000 who had paid their bills previously were notified that refunds were impossible. The other 1,450,000 taxpayers suffered because the decision wiped out about $5,000,000 in taxes for 1938 and 1939 which had been spent, but not collected.

In October it was shown that Clark had moved by "resolution" to cut county assessments by $19,701,833, wiping out $1,794,837 in taxes without raising the rate. The board of appeals voided another $47,021,852 in assessed valuations, equivalent to $4,283,690 in taxes, in cases which Clark contested.

Benefiting by these reductions were 45,921 protesting taxpayers, who received cuts averaging $93. They represented only 3.8 per cent of the 1,200,000 real estate taxpayers.

Court Deals Second Blow.

The second blow of the year from the Illinois Supreme court was a decision invalidating a law providing for preadjudication of tax rates so that all taxpayers would benfit from reductions.

An immediate result of this decision was a rush to protest the 1939 taxes before payment, which was the only way to benefit by rate reductions. There were 352,000 who protested.

County Treasurer John Toman estimated that the extra cost to his office of handling the protests would be $75,000.

Another 1940 development was the action of County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki holding illegal $1.51 of the $9.12 rate for 1938. If sustained by the Supreme court, which has never invalidated more than 58 cents of the rate, this reduction again would apply only to the small proportion of taxpayers who can hire counsel to file objections. Any part sustained will be an eventual loss to the taxpayers who do not participate, for it will be added to subsequent tax bills.

Tax Sales for 1938 High.

Tax sales were the heaviest since the depression, mainly as the result of competition in tax buying. On 1938 taxes, the sales yielded the county $855,357 on 7,961 parcels sold out of 417,000 forfeited.

County Treasurer Toman said that his collections amounted to $185,415,816, an increase of $19,992,351 over last year. His bureau of tax delinquency, he said, brought in $14,000,000 which would not have been collected had it not been for the monthly payment plan.

2,053 BOYS HALED INTO JUVENILE COURT IN YEAR

Judge Frank Bicek reported yesterday that boys outnumbered girls three to one as troublemakers brought into Juvenile court last year. There were 2,053 delinquent boys before the court and 684 girls.

"Most of the boys were charged with petty thefts," Judge Bicek said. "The girls were usually accused of morals offenses, with a few instances of shoplifting."

Col. Harry Hill, chief probationary officer, attributed an increase in child dependency cases to the breakup of families caused by curtailed relief allotments.

SHERIFF'S OFFICE REPORTS SERVING OF 116,883 WRITS

The sheriff's office served 116,883 writs during 1940, according to the annual report issued yesterday by Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien. Deputies traveled 1,805,564 miles to serve these writs. The 1940 record exceeded by more than 10,000 the writs served in 1939. Thru its various departments, the sheriff's office earned $196,992 in fees. In addition, the office received $24,000 in fees from the Marriage court as against $18,227 last year. Marriage court records showed that 6,800 couples were married in that court in 1940, or 1,155 more than in 1939.

ASKS WPA TO O. K. $400,000 AID FOR AN AIRPORT DEPOT

Hewitt Urges Project as a Help in Defense.

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, asked the Work Projects administration yesterday to approve a $419,628 WPA project as part of the proposed new $1,800,000 Chicago airport terminal.

The terminal, to be constructed along Cicero avenue, was proposed recently by Mayor Kelly. The mayor recommended that it be financed with the aid of a $1,000,000 Reconstruction Finance corporation loan, to be repaid from air line landing fees; a $400,000 advance from the air lines, and the WPA project, estimated originally at about $400,000.

City Would Pay 25 Per Cent.

The WPA project, of which the city would pay 25 per cent, includes ramps, driveways, parking areas, drainage facilities, a concrete apron on the field in front of the building, and landscaping.

In a letter to H. M. McCullen, Chicago WPA district manager, Hewitt observed that airports have been designated as national defense projects by WPA.

"Chicago airport is of unquestionably high value in any plan for national defense," his letter said.

Hewitt reminded McCullen that the regular army has a $300,000 hangar with from 12 to 20 planes at the airport and the National Guard has $700,000 invested there in a hangar and equipment to house 16 planes of the 108th observation squadron.

"The fact that the regular army and National Guard have already established bases on the Chicago airport indicates that military minds recognize the importance of this airport in the national defense organization," Hewitt said.

Value as Training Base Cited.

"It is probable that, pending completion of some of the cantonments in the middle west, Chicago airport will be used as a base of operations in connection with training of observation squadrons and ground troops."

He said eight major commercial air lines use Chicago airport and occupy 15 hangars there with an estimated value of $1,200,000. He said there are about 30 large commercial planes on the field at all times.

"Considering the importance of the location, the present facilities, the military equipment now based there, and the future possibilities of this all-weather landing field, with its multiple hard-surfaced runways, in national defense, it is imperative that adequate parking areas, taxi runways, loading areas, walks and drives, and utilities tunnels be provided at Chicago airport," Hewitt concluded.

DEATH SENTENCE IMPOSED ON SIX DURING THE YEAR

Six sentences of death were meted out by Circuit and Superior court judges who sat in the Criminal court during the year which ended Nov. 30, Thomas J. Bowler, clerk of the court, reported yesterday.

The 17 judges who alternated in the Criminal court disposed of 1,817 indictments against 2,102 defendants. Only 209 defendants demanded jury trials, and of these 111 were convicted. In nonjury trials 1,343 defendants were convicted and 544 pleaded guilty. The habitual criminal sentence of life imprisonment was meted out 54 times.

Of those convicted, 36 per cent committed larceny and 24 per cent committed robbery. Judge John Prystalski, who retired as chief justice in September and was succeeded by Judge James F. Fardy, handled 378 indictments. The chief justice, however, handles only guilty pleas and nonjury trials. Judge John Sbarbaro was second, disposing of 229 cases.

New York, Dec. 31.—Word has come from Little America that the third Byrd expedition has "had good fortune" and "will soon be starting home." The message was contained in a wireless greeting to the Boy Scouts of America from Dr. Paul A. Siple, commander of the west base of the United States antarctic service.

AIR LINES SCORE RECORD GAINS IN TRAFFIC IN 1940

Passenger Volume Grows Over 60 Per Cent.

New York, Dec. 31 [Special].—Altho its history is comparatively brief, commercial aviation in the United States has shown remarkable gains in passengers, mail, and express carried since the start of transport service along the atmospheric highways in 1926. This year the air industry is expected to set new all time highs in all three categories.

Based on figures compiled by the Air Transport association, passenger traffic on the major air lines increased 61.42 per cent in the first 10 months of 1940 over the same period in 1939. The air lines carried 2,013,208 revenue passengers and flew 890,525,253 revenue passenger miles, as compared with 1,219,928 passengers and 551,690,659 revenue passenger miles in the corresponding 1939 period.

Mail Volume Rises.

Air mail shipments are expected to exceed 20 billion pound miles this year. According to the latest figures released by the postoffice department, a total of 11,259,030,789 air mail pound miles were flown in the first seven months of 1940 as against 9,516,103,532 in 1939.

Not to be outdone by its "fellow plane companions," air express shipments showed a 29.39 per cent increase in the 1940 10 month period as compared to the same period in 1939, with a total of 8,647,457 pounds transported. It is estimated that the gain for 1940 will exceed 35 per cent.

During their 14 years' of scheduled operation, the domestic air lines have carried 49,618,000 pounds of express and freight; transported 165,300,000 pounds of mail; consumed 384,303,000 gallons of fuel, and flown 781,402,000 plane miles. In 1929 the average passenger fare was 12 cents a mile. Today it is 5.08 cents a mile.

75 Million Gross Business.

The Air Transport association estimates that the air transport industry now does a gross business of $75,000,000 annually; that it has 398 modern commercial air liners in service—compiled June 30, 1940—with a total seating capacity of 8,968 passengers, and that it employs 20,000 persons, who receive $30,000,000 a year in salaries.

For the first 11 months of 1940 American air lines carried 810,339 revenue passengers; flew 289,816,372 revenue passenger miles, and operated 427,147,221 seat miles. This compares with 488,664 revenue passengers carried and 186,688,061 revenue passenger miles flown in the same 1939 period.

Transcontinental and Western Air, which instituted this year the first four engine domestic transport service with its fleet of 33 passenger stratoliners, carried 239,732 passengers and flew 145,480,646 revenue passenger miles in the first 10 months of 1940. This represents a traffic increase of about 67 per cent.

Big Gain in Passengers.

Eastern Air Lines' revenue passenger miles flown from Jan. 1 to Oct. 31, 1940, totaled 130,084,083, as compared with 82,196,283 for the corresponding period of 1939, a 58 per cent increase. Passengers carried were 286,278 as against 186,392, a gain of nearly 100,000.

United Air Lines will also show big increases for the year of 1940. Revenue passenger miles flown are expected to reach 226,000,000, for a gain of 52 per cent over the 146,000,000 recorded for 1939. An estimated total of 7,150,000 pounds of air mail will be carried, an increase of 8 per cent over last year.

SAFETY SWING SEATS OF RUBBER WILL BE USED IN N. Y. PARKS

New York, Dec. 31 [Special].—The New York City parks department will install a new type of rubber seat in the children's swing in the playgrounds thruout the city, as the result of a test which showed that it is safer than the standard wooden seat.

The playground swings have long been under the scrutiny of department officials, because they have caused more accidents than other devices. Children dashing past swings in motion have been injured. A few years ago the department adopted the practice of building protective chain link fences on both sides of banks of swings in new and reconstructed playgrounds. This has cut down accidents, but children continue to dash inside the fences and are hit.

Discovery that most accidents on slides were caused by children losing their balance when sitting down at the top led to extension of metal hand rails from the top of ladders part of the way down the slides.

COUNTY JAIL HAS AVERAGE OF 772 PRISONERS DAILY

A daily average of 772 prisoners were held in the county jail during 1940, Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien and Warden Frank G. Sain reported yesterday. The highest month was February, when the daily average was 831. Thruout the year 948 offenders under 21 years of age were handled in the jail. They attended school classes and received vocational guidance and workshop instruction. The average prisoner in 1940 was about 25 years old, weighed 140 pounds, and was 5 feet 5 inches tall, the report showed. The average prisoner was unmarried, had a grammar school education, and one previous jail commitment, was in fair health, and used liquor and tobacco, but was not a drug addict.

SCHOLAR DIGS UP SOME LAUGHS IN OBSOLETE LAWS

Hits Practice of Keeping Them on the Books.

Michigan still has a law making it a felony to incite hostile Indians to violate a treaty. This is one of the hundreds of examples of obsolete laws which make state statute books humorous reading for legal scholars such as Professor Newman F. Baker of Northwestern university.

Illinois has a law passed in 1845 requiring the fencing in of saltpeter caves, with a $50 fine for failure to comply. Today cartridges have replaced the powder and shot of the Blackhawk war [saltpeter was used to make the powder], but this law remains to illustrate the practice of passing laws to remedy present inconveniences and then leaving them there.

Usefulness Changes With Time.

"Legislation quite useful in one age may become foolish in another," Professor Baker wrote in the Minnesota Law Review. "This is apparent in all fields of law, but it is easier to obtain corrective legislation in respect to business than it is to keep our social legislation up to date."

Chicago policemen, he says, probably never have heard of the Illinois law making it a criminal offense to allow a Canada thistle to "mature its seed" on one's premises.

"How can this ignoring of a substantial number of our laws fail to breed contempt for laws generally, and make for individualistic interpretation by policemen, prosecutor, and judge?" he asks.

Cites Two Conflicting Laws.

Illinois has one law which makes the keeper of a boat used for prostitution guilty of a felony, while another law makes it a misdemeanor to keep a house of prostitution on dry land.

"One wonders what there may be about the aquatic element which adds a greater social danger, "Professor Baker observed.

Profanity is another field for multiple laws. Kentucky statutes specify that "every oath shall be deemed a separate offense," with a fine of $1 for each one. In Pennsylvania the rate is 67 cents each. In Rhode Island the fine for profanity is $5, with unlimited use of words on one occasion, but for blasphemy the fine may go up to $200. Michigan law would exact 90 days in jail and a $100 fine from blasphemers who have arrived at the age of 16.

Anti-Nudist Laws Blasted.

Professor Baker said that there are anti-nudist laws which if taken literally would forbid members of the same family from undressing for bed in the same room, or a mother from giving birth to male children.

Most of the old "blue laws" are forgotten but many states still punish Sunday hunters and fishermen.

Perhaps the most severe "blue law" is that of Illinois which prohibits "any noise or amusement on Sunday whereby the peace of any private family shall be disturbed."

Maine and Louisiana prohibit the wearing in public of hat pins projecting more than one-half inch from any side of the crown of the hat. An Ohio law would punish theatre owners for permitting any member of the audience to wear a hat which might obstruct another's view during a performance.

An Illinois Cigaret Law.

Illinois has a law which would punish any person "who shall sell, manufacture, or give away any cigaret containing any substance deleterious to health, including tobacco." Some states, including Arkansas, outlaw the sale of cigarets or cigaret paper, while North Dakota and others have ruled against snuff.

Professor Baker muses over the liquor laws, especially that one in Illinois which prohibits political activities of barkeepers and tavern owners. "In view of the saloonkeeper's known penchant for politics, the present rigid enforcement of this law undoubtedly works a great hardship, particularly in Chicago," he comments.

Gun Laws Fairly Uniform.

Laws concerning the carrying of concealed weapons are relatively uniform, but in New Mexico the statute permits travelers to "pass thru the settlements without disarming, but if they shall stop for a longer time than 15 minutes, they shall remove all arms from their person, and not resume the same until the eve of departure."

Dueling declined as public disapproval increased, but the old statutes lengthily prohibiting affairs of honor go on forever.

"The abundance of dueling laws, and the paucity of fireworks laws, is but a small illustration of the fact that our penal legislation does not jibe with social needs," he declares.

AIR TRAVELER'S BAGGAGE TO GET SPEEDY SERVICE

New York, Dec. 31 [Special].—A simple but comprehensive system of handling baggage of air passengers at New York City's new airline terminal—a sort of a union station for airline customers—is in the final stages of installation for the terminal opening on Jan. 9.

From the moment a passenger sets foot inside the main entrance until he arrives at his destination in Chicago, Dallas or Lisbon, his bags will be with him. A porter takes the passenger's bags at the foot of the escalator which carries the traveler from the street to the main rotunda.

When the passenger buys his ticket, his bags will be weighed. Then they will be carried by a high speed conveyor belt to a baggage mezzanine for sorting. Then the bags will be loaded aboard just as the passenger takes his seat. The terminal expects to handle 4,500 pieces of baggage daily.

When Walter Dorff's eyesight began to fail recently, he found it necessary to give up his work as manager of the Chicago office of the Bell & Howell Film corporation's film library. He later learned it would require a costly operation to restore his sight. But Walter had no money.

Last week his former associates at the Bell & Howell office, located at 1801 Larchmont avenue, tendered him a surprise party and a check for $225. Walter, who lives at 1900 Cornelia street, said it will now be possible for him to finance the operation and, if it is successful, eventually return to work with his friends.

HOUSING SURVEY COMPLETED FOR CITY PLANNERS

700,000 Parcels of Land Studied.

George T. Horton, chairman of the Chicago Plan commission, reported yesterday that the housing phase of the land use survey for the city has been finished and the survey for the commercial and industrial areas is nearing completion.

The survey, begun two years ago, will include an inventory of all real estate in the city. It will have information on the various uses of land in Chicago and will show the type, condition, age, and occupancy of all buildings. Results of the survey will aid city planners in rezoning the city and eliminating slum areas.

11 Booklets Published.

The first results of the housing survey are in the form of 11 booklets, the first in a series of 75 entitled, "Housing in Chicago." Each booklet will cover a particular district in Chicago. Copies will be sent to libraries, business houses, civic and community organizations.

Hugh E. Young, chief engineer for the plan commission, said the survey is probably one of the most accurate and comprehensive ever undertaken by a municipality. The residential survey covered 20,000 city blocks. Some 700,000 parcels of land were included. Thus far 4,637 city blocks and 40,966 business concerns have been covered in the industrial and commercial survey.

Financed by WPA Grants.

The survey is being financed by two WPA grants totaling $2,967,000 and an additional $246,000 in city funds. Mayor Kelly, Assessor John S. Clark, the plan commission, and the Association of Commerce have cooperated to make the survey possible.

A committee of building, housing, planning, zoning, sanitation and playground experts from public agencies, civic organizations, and educational institutions are assisting in the study. Young estimated the final report of the survey will be made public early in 1941.

RESCUE OF 194 IN YEAR REPORTED BY COAST GUARD

The United States coast guard in the Chicago area rescued 194 persons from possible drowning and other dangers and rendered aid to 1,012 vessels during 1940, according to an annual report yesterday.

The figures, made public by Capt. Gordon T. Finlay, chief of the district, said the boats assisted had a total value of $19,812,949. In general the coast guard performed more work in 1940 than in 1939.

Lake storms caused most of the work. The second next cause of work was amateur sailors.

Don't Swerve if You See a Head-On Crash Coming!

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 31.—It's hard to believe but the quickest way to stop a car threatened with a head-on collision is to go straight toward the object blocking the road. The reason, as explained to the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. Seville Chapman of the University of Kansas, is that twice as much force—or twice as much brake power is required to stop a car that is turning as one going straight forward.

1941 FINDS CITY WITH 870,000 FEWER RODENTS

Pied Piper Hewitt to Continue War.

Chicago is starting the new year with fewer rats in its alleys than it has had in many years, Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, said yesterday.

Hewitt said that with the aid of a $5,000 appropriation by the city council an army of relief workers and employés of the city street bureau ahs killed 870,300 rats since last August.

The number exterminated, according to Hewitt's staffs, includes 32,410 trapped and killed on the surface of the ground, 598,800 poisoned in their burrows, and 242,000 starved to death because new garbage cans were supplied to 81,308 buildings during the year.

Hewitt estimated that there still are 830,900 rats in Chicago. He contends 553,000 of them are in stores, freight sheds, commercial buildings, factories, basements and other places on private property. The city anti-rat campaign was confined to public alleys.

Hewitt challenges the old theory that the rat population of a city equals the human population.

"That would mean that Chicago had 3,391,000 rats before the extermination campaign," Hewitt said. Hewitt said, "We didn't find that many."

Another old theory contends that the number of rats averages four times the number of rat holes found. Hewitt says he now disputes that theory, too.

"We counted all rat holes in 43 wards," he said, "There were 627,436. At that ratio we would have 729,600 rat roles in the city, or 2,918,000 rats. Studies made during the extermination campaign indicated approximately 1,701,200 rats in the city at the start of the campaign."

Virtually every ward in the city has been baited with poison at least once and four wards have had five baitings. The 1941 city budget includes another $5,000 for rat poison.

Only Nine Horse Shoers Left in Northern Illinois

Only nine applications for horse shoers' license were filed in the northern section of Illinois in 1940, Chief Inspector A. J. Meadle, of the state department of education and registration, said yesterday. Most of the horse shoers now are connected with race tracks, he said. There were 4,100 applications for beauty operator licenses, 1,900 for nurses, and 1,700 for real estate salesmen.

City Bootleggers Kept on Run; 'Life' of Stills Cut to 30 Days

The lot of the bootlegger has become tougher and tougher since the repeal of prohibition and the last year was no exception, federal agents said yesterday in summarizing their year's work in the Chicago area—Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana.

However, they admitted, bootleg gangs still operate and continue to pour a filthy stream of illicit alcohol into slums, brothels, drinking flats, and dry sections of the country despite the concentrated efforts of 128 revenue agents in this district alone.

Robs Treasury of Millions.

This flow of outlaw liquor, prepared under conditions that would make a strong man blanch, robs the United States treasury of millions of dollars in revenue per year, the agents said. But 1940 figures show that the alcohol tax unit's efforts have gone far to stem the tide.

Continuous undercover work, well planned raids and swift court action in most cases, have taken their toll of bootleggers, according to Ralph Herrick, chief assistant to E. C. Yellowley, who is district alcohol tax administrator and a veteran of 40 years federal service. Last year there were fewer arrests than in 1939, he said, because there were fewer bootleggers.

"The bootlegger has less excuse for his existence than a dodo bird," Herrick commented, "but some of them are slow to catch on. A few still think they can 'beat the rap'—But their ranks are thinning."

Arrests Drop from 708 to 435.

For example, during the first 10 months of 1939 there were 708 arrests made, 292 stills seized, and 17,550 gallons of spirits confiscated in this district. During the same period in 1940 there were 435 arrests, 160 stills seized, and 13,622 gallons of spirits confiscated.

The average still, Herrick said, now has a "life expectancy" of about 30 days compared with around 40 days a year ago. The average capacity has dropped from 413 gallons a day to less than 200.

"There are no amateurs in the bootlegging ranks these days," Herrick said. "They use small stills, work with only the men they trust and they're organized on a business scale. For instance, take their employés. A beginner starts out running a truck or doing chores. After he's had some training, he becomes a cooker and his wages run from $30 to $35 a week. If he fits into the system, he may get to set up a still some day—unless we catch him first, and the odds are with us!"

Sunday Mail Schedules Will Be Followed Today

Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen announces that Sunday schedules for mail collection and delivery will be followed today, New Year's day. There will be no regular delivery. Greetings to more than a million owners and friends

TO EACH AND EVERY ONE of you million and more loyal Pontiac owners—no matter whether you drive a shining new 1941 "Torpedo" or a road-scarred veteran of many years—we send our greetings and our best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.

And at the same time we want to thank you for your valued contributions to Pontiac's success.

When last night's bells tolled the end of another year, Pontiac completed the most fruitful twelve months in its history. During 1940, some 240,000 new Pontiacs were purchased—more than during any previous year.

Naturally we are pleased with this record. However, our pleasure is tempered with gratitude, because we are deeply mindful of the fact that to you, our good friends, must go much of the credit.

The satisfaction you have had from your Pontiacs and the good things you have had to say about them to your friends and your friends' friends—these have played a leading part in establishing 1940 as the greatest year in Pontiac history.

It is for that reason that we take this occasion to offer you our warmest thanks.

THE SEMINOLES CASH IN ON BIG TOURIST SEASON

But Refuse to Smile or Converse with You.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Petersburg, Fla., Dec. 31.—The Seminoles, we judge, are enjoying Florida's banner tourist season. They are encamped along the Tamiami trail, which crosses the Everglades in the 251 mile drive here from Miami. They are there to get tourists' dimes and quarters.

Each of a dozen of such camps is surrounded by a stockade like a primitive defense works. It's for defense against any curious motorist getting a peek into the village life without paying a dime fee. After paying the 10 cents, you may prowl at will, but the moderately fastidious don't remain long.

We tried to amplify our information about the welfare of these swampland Indians in the usual reportorial method of asking questions of those who should know. Every one else in Florida catering to the travelers and visitors is talking about his percentage increase this year as compared with last. Why shouldn't the Seminole?

Visit Indian Village.

We stopped The Tribune road car at one of the villages along the Tamiami trail and approached a dark skinned buck in a tunic of variously colored horizontal stripes worn shirttail out over blue denim trousers.

"How's business?" we greeted him. That question releases a flood of conversation when addressed to other Floridians.

"Ugh," he replied pointing to his wife. She was behind a counter of homemade Seminole dolls, miniature canoes, bead bracelets and necklaces, all with price marks. Her black hair was combed in a high pompadour that we knew from our reading covered an old fashioned rat such as white women wore a quarter of a century ago. She was in a bolero and full skirt of the horizontal stripes typical of this tribe.

"How's business?" we asked her with a smile that wasn't returned.

"Ten cents," she pointed at me. "Ten cents," she added, pointing at Norma, 12, and then she pointed toward the entrance to her village.

Pay First, Then Enter.

We paid and entered. Inside there were four shelters, thatched palmetto roofs supported by poles, and no walls. Three had wooden floors a foot above the ground. These were for sleeping and for the women to sit in while making the striped clothes and the souvenirs. The fourth was the dining room. It had no floor. A small fire burned from the ends of logs laid so that to refuel the fire consisted simply of pushing each log forward a few inches. A kettle of mush was simmering over the coals.

The guide books say the Seminoles are a clean people, bathing daily. There was no evidence of sanitary facilities. The ground around the camp was ankle deep in water. There was a row of crude pens, the family's zoo, one caging an alligator, another a wild cat, and another a stunted hog. A couple of plates, spoons and table knives were noticed under swamp water where flies could not reach them.

Highway Borders Canal.

We drove on. The Tamiami trail, opened to traffic in 1928, is still a good highway, straight and smooth. It borders a canal that was dug to raise the roadway above the level of the near sea level flats it traverses.

There are miles of marsh saw grass dotted by hammocks of small cypress, cabbage palms and palmettos, looking like Hollywood's cases on the Sahara. There are other miles of cypress, dead and sombre looking at this time of the year, with stubby, crooked limbs, and with clumps of a green parasite that is an unattractive wild orchild.

Fish, mainly unpalatable schools of gars, break the surface of the canal continually. White and blue herons and other wading birds are numerous. Buzzards soar overhead.

Noted for Royal Palms.

At Naples, on the Gulf of Mexico, the route heads north thru Ft. Myers, noted for its royal palms with trunks as smoth as concrete. The Calloosahatchie and then the Charlotte river are bridged. North of Sarasota, with its winter circus headquarters, its trailer camp dubbed the tin can tourist capital of the world, and its justly famous Ringling memorial art museum, we took the ferry [$1.75] near Bradenton [good fishing] across Tampa bay to St. Petersburg.

ARMY WILL CALL 4,000 NURSES TO DUTY BY JULY 1

More than 4,000 qualified nurses of the Red Cross nurse reserves will be called to active duty with the nation's armed forces between now and next July, according to Brig. Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel, commander of the 6th corps army area. Gen. Bonesteel said all members of the reserve have been asked to furnish information to the war department regarding possible assignment to duty.

The nurses serving with the army will be stationed at forts, air fields, and other military establishments thruout the United States and its possessions, Gen. Bonesteel said. Outstanding reserve nurses at the end of one year of active duty may be transferred to the regular army nursing corps if vacancies exist, he explained.

Appellate Court Handles 490 Cases During Year

The Illinois Appellate court in Chicago disposed of 490 cases last year compared with 520 in 1939, according to the annual report made public yesterday. During 1940 there were 438 cases filed, a decrease of 31 from the previous year.

REPORTS SMOKE PERIL IS REDUCED SHARPLY IN 1940

City Inspector Cites Dust Fall Rate.

Chicago's air was cleaner last year than in any of the preceding five years, Frank A. Chambers, head of the city smoke inspection and abatement department, reported yesterday.

Chambers said the average dust fall in Chicago during 1940 was 55.5 tons per square mile each month compared to an average monthly fall of 65.5 tons per square mile in 1939. In 1938 the average was 68.1; 1937, 83.1; 1936, 81.1; 1935, 67.0; and in 1934 96.1.

The dust fall is determined by analyzing dust collected in open top containers at 22 stations in the city. The average monthly dust fall was heaviest at the station on the roof of the 33 North La Salle Street building. There, records show, the fall averaged 136.4 tons per square mile each month.

Northwest Side Is Cleanest.

The cleanest section in the city, according to the dust station reports, was on the northwest side where a container stationed at 3312 Belle Plaine avenue showed an average monthly fall of 25.7 tons per square mile.

Chambers attributes the gradual decline in dust laden air to modern combustion equipment and the work of the department in investigating and abating smoke nuisances.

Department records show that during 1940 1,930 complaints about smoking heating plants were reported. Of that number, 1,683 have been abated, some by changing the type of fuel used, some by improved methods of operations, and some by raising the height of the smoke stacks.

5,985 Other Cases Handled.

The department investigated 5,985 other cases where stacks were belching smoke in violation of the city's antismoke ordinance. Of that number 5,234 were corrected.

During the year the department collected $12,440 in permit fees. Permits are required where new heating plants are installed of old ones reconstructed in buildings larger than two flat dwellings. The department also collected $105,916 for annual inspections in the same type of buildings, or a total of $118,356.

The department cost the city $100,926 to operate. Chambers said the balance of $17,430 automatically goes to the city operating fund.

1940 POLICE ITEM: PRYING CAT AND TIN CAN APART

The police telephone complaint room and the police radio room handled some peculiar calls during 1940. One woman called to say that her cat had his head caught in a salmon can. Police went over and removed his halo. A colored woman wanted the law to come to her home and force her husband to pick up her coat, which he had thrown on the floor in a rage.

Harry Gleason, chief clerk of the radio room, reported yesterday to Capt. William Stapleton, chief of the bureau of records, that 512,751 telephone calls were received on Police 1313 thru Dec. 15, as compared with 565,121 in 1939. In the same period 25,017 radio calls were broadcast to police of 46 suburban communities, 15,141 fewer than in 1939. A number of towns obtained radio equipment of their own in 1940.

There were 190,416 radio calls to squads in the city, resulting in 15,614 arrests. In 1939 a total of 193,501 calls were made and 15,507 persons arrested. There are now 187 radio equipped squad cars, 46 of which have two way radios. The average time required by a squad to reach the scene of an alarm after a broadcast during 1940 was two and one-half minutes, the same as in 1939.

U. S. WINS FRIEND, REDS A FOE THRU VISIT OF CHILEAN

Production Chief Finds We Are Not Imperialists.

BY NORMAN INGREY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 31.—The United States has found a new friend and communism a new enemy in Oscar Schnake, Socialist minister of production in the Popular Front government of President Pedro Aguirre. The political conversion of Schnake, builder and leader of the powerful Socialist party, was the result of a three-month visit to America.

He admitted that the United States was not the imperialist enemy of Chile that South America Socialists were taught to believe and declared that everywhere he found sympathetic understanding and readiness to assist in the solution of wartime and long-range economic problems of this country. He complained, however, that each time he was about to make a sales contract or get a loan the communists at home would either say or do something that upset the negotiations.

Wants Reds Ousted.

Minister Schnake was so angry, that, within three days of his return, he was leading an "out with the communists" campaign. Staid conservatives and liberals were left speechless as he swung the whole Socialist party to his support. He did more to undermine the political position of the reds in three days than the rightists have done in three years.

President Aguirre indicated he would follow the lead by declaring no more class war promotion. Foreigners were warned to keep out of politics on pain of deportation. That was meant for refugee agitators from republican [Loyalist] Spain. The vote chamber of deputies, in special session, outlawed communism. The vote was five to one.

Communists said Schnake fell into the "dining and wineing" trap of the Yankee sapitalists. The Socialist retorted that he went to sell nitrate and copper and obtain loans for manufacture.

Tells of Results.

"I sold an extra annual quota of 300,000 tons of nitrate," he revealed, "and got the three American producers to keep copper production at 25,000 tons monthly. They had previously decided to reduce output to 17,000 tons, which would have added to our unemployment problem.

He said he also got a $5,000,000 loan which would be announced soon thru the Export-Import bank, induced a tire company to start a factory in Chile and aroused capitalist interest in national coal mining, iron and steel and fish canning.

"And what did I get from our friends the communists?" he asked. "I went to the Russian ambassador in Washington, D. C., to offer our products and he said they didn't want a single thing," Schnake revealed.

When President Aguirre assumed power he said the relations of the Chilean Popular Front government and the Russian soviet régime would be determined by trade possibilities and that alone.

N. Y. LAW SCHOOL ENROLLMENT CUT 60% IN 12 YEARS

New York, Dec. 31 [Special].—The enrollment of undergraduates in law schools in New York state has decreased 60.8 per cent during the last 12 years, while enrollment for the entire country has decreased only 30.8 per cent, according to a survey released by Dr. George W. Matheson, dean of the school of law at St. John's university, in Brooklyn.

In 1928, Dr. Matheson reported, the enrollment in New York schools was 11,261, or 26.1 per cent of the national enrollment, while in 1940 it is only 4,437, or 14.8 per cent.

According to Dean Mathesen, the national and New York decreases in enrollment illustrate the working of the law of supply and demand, and the greater drop in registration in New York indicates either that New York standards have been increased in comparison with the rest of the country or a condition of congestion existed in New York in 1928.

TAILLIGHTED FLY WEAVES WEB TO CATCH SPIDERS

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 31 [Special].—A newly discovered fly that spins a web for catching spiders and other insects was described before the meeting of the Entomological Society of America by Dr. B. B. Fulton, research entomologist of North Carolina State college.

The fly, strangely enough, plays its spider-like rôle only when it is still in the larva stage, when it looks very much like a small worm. At that time the larva devours small spiders and other insects.

When it grows up to be a fully developed winged adult the fly becomes a mild vegetarian, feeding harmlessly on mushrooms, Dr. Fulton reported. The insect is luminous like a firefly or glow worm; only it goes the firefly one better by carrying lights both fore and aft. Its front segment and its five rear segments shine with a weird blue light.

Two-thirds of Prisoners Freed in State St. Court

Nearly two-thirds of those arraigned for minor offenses in South State street court last year were discharged, records showed yesterday. A total of 15,565 were haled before the court, almost the same number as last year despite increased handbook raids. Of these, 10,980 were discharged, 1,794 fined, 1,807 sentenced to the Bridewell, and 131 to the County jail, 253 given probation, and 600 dismissed for want of prosecution.

STRIKES DELAY U. S. MEMORIAL TO JEFFERSON

Capital Edifice to Be Finished in Fall.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 31 [Special].—Originally scheduled to be completed tomorrow, the 3 million dollar Thomas Jefferson memorial on the east bank of the tidal basin here will not be finished until next September, architectural experts said today.

Delay in construction was ascribed to two strikes and to the fact that the work of filling in the seawall along the basin has been retarded because the contractor also is working on Washington airport.

Because the airport is considered a vital link in the nation's military preparations, it was decided that the labor and equipment needed on the Jefferson memorial would be better utilized on the airport.

Final Appearance Evident.

The memorial, however, is taking on its final lines, as columns are put into place and the dome completed. The building will be of pantheon design. Plans for it were prepared by the late John Pope, who also prepared plans for the Mellon Art gallery which is under construction a short distance away, on Constitution avenue.

The architectural firm of Eggers & Higgins of New York City, has been supervising construction of the two buildings since the death of Pope in September, 1937.

Surrounded by a peristyle of Ionic columns, the memorial contains a central circular room approximately 80 feet in diameter, with a dome ceiling. Made of limestone, the ceiling is entirely self-supporting, and is not connected with the outside section of the dome. The outer dome is made of structural steel encased in concrete with marble on top.

Three Work on Statue.

Three artists have been working on models for the statue which will occupy the center of the large marble lined room in the interior of the memorial. The statue will be a heroic figure of Jefferson, on a great pedestal. The building will be a companion edifice to the Lincoln memorial, and will complete the five point design plan for the central Washington area, including the capitol, the Washington monument, the White House, and the Lincoln and Jefferson memorials.

In the frieze of the main entablature encircling the room, space will be found for inscriptions from Jefferson's writings. On the four diagonal points there will be large panels, which will be well situated for other inscriptions or bas-reliefs of the events during Jefferson's lifetime. A symbolic sculpture group will be placed in the center of the tympanum of the north portico.

One of the objections to construction of the memorial was that nearly 125 Japanese cherry trees had to be moved or cut down. Altho the memorial will be completed next fall, it is expected the dedication of the statue of Jefferson will not be held until 1943, when it will be arranged to coincide with the bicentennial.

DECREASE SHOWN IN SENTENCES OF BOYS' COURT

The number of boys arraigned in Boys' court last year and subsequently held to the Criminal court or sentenced to the Bridewell was below the total for 1939, Judge Joseph J. Drucker estimated yesterday in reviewing the court year. In 1939, 590 boys were held to Criminal court and 497 were sentenced.

In the first 11 months of 1940, 372 were held to Criminal court and 265 were sentenced. Judge Drucker said the final 1940 figures will be below 400 and 300, respectively.

"We believe jail terms do not accomplish the purpose of the court," Judge Drucker said. "In 11 months of 1940, 3,612 boys were discharged, as against 4,718 in all of 1939. Of the 1940 total, however, at least 800 were placed under the supervision of the Church federation, the Catholic Big Brothers, the Colored Big Brothers, or the Jewish charities for three or more months before being discharged."

ARKANSAS RUNS A KINDERGARTEN FOR LEGISLATURE

Initiate New Members at Mock Session.

Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 31 [Special]. - Arkansas is experimenting with a school for legislators, which, it is hoped, will point the way for many of her more affluent and progressive sister states.

The school, in the form of a mock session held before the two houses of the Arkansas legislature assembly, instructs the "freshmen" legislators in parliamentary procedure, introduces them to fellow members, and prepares them generally to conduct themselves with efficiency when the assembly gets under way. The two houses convene for business on Jan. 13.

Formally designated as the Arkansas legislative institute, the school has been conducted biennially since 1934 by the University of Arkansas. Dr. A. M. Harding, director of extension at the university, says that it is the only school of its kind in the United States.

Taught By Professors.

It was suggested by State Representative C. C. Hollensworth of Warren, and developed in coöperation with staff members of the university law school.

At the last session of the school, Dean J. S. Waterman and Prof. Robert Leflar, both of the University of Arkansas school of law, served as faculty members along with floor leaders of the house.

The curriculum featured, in addition to numerous lectures on practical parliamentary procedure, the mock introduction and passage of sample bills, with veteran legislators displaying all of their parliamentary tricks.

Even Lobbyists There.

An additional note of realism was injected when several legislators extracted from the group a pledge of confidence in the candidacy of Representative Means Wilkinson of Greenwood, Governor-elect Homer M. Adkin's choice for speaker in the 1941 session. Mr. Adkin's opponents immediately charged that such an introduction of "politics" into the curriculum of the school ultimately would kill the venture.

Further "realism" was the presence of numerous lobbyists on the house floor and in the corridors.

Attendance during the two days of school has been almost 100 per cent.

NEW METHODIST OFFICIAL ORGAN MAKES ITS BOW

4 Weekly Editions to Cover Nation.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

First copies of the new official Methodist weekly journal, The Christian Advocate, have come from the presses of the Methodist Book concern, 740 Rush street. Beginning with four weekly editions under the editorship of Dr. Roy L. Smith, the initial national circulation was announced as 260,000 subscribers.

The first issues appear under the date line of Jan. 2. The four editions, of 32 pages each, are edited for four chief geographical areas of the nation. Each edition devotes eight pages to the interests of the geographical areas to which it will go, and covers all religious interests of the 8 million members of the recently united Methodist church.

Eminent Laymen to Contribute.

Dr. T. Otto Nall, managing editor, announced that feature articles by eminent laymen will appear regularly. Among the first of such articles will be one by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Dr. Nall said. It will appear in the issue of Jan. 16 and is entitled "The Need for Spiritual Rebirth." Dr. Georgia Harkness of Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston, has a feature article in the first issue on the "Heritage of Methodism," whose responsibility she says it is "to awaken the conscience of Christians to the un-Christian realities of the present economic order."

The format of the new Christian Advocate is easier to read than the former sectional editions. It is trimmed to 11½"x8½", which is two inches shorter and one half inch narrower than the previous Northwestern edition.

Features in 2 Column Space.

The editorial and features are in double column space, and there are three columns to the page in the section devoted to local news.

On the cover the title and date line are worked into a photo showing the altar and reredos of the First Methodist church in Evanston. Below is a narrow panel with a tint-block background which runs across the page. Printed on the panel are the words:

Lift this leaf as if a latch
To a sanctuary door,
Enter this shrine of the printed page—

These are the first three lines of three four-line stanzas of "Preface" by Loyal Morris Thompson.

45 Unions to Receive New Charters Under A. F. of L. Unit

Forty-five federal unions thruout the country are in the process of surrendering their charters to the American Federation of Labor and obtaining new ones from the newly chartered A. F. of L. international union, the Wine, Liquor, and Distillery Workers' International union.

The new international got a charter from the executive board of the A. F. of L. Dec. 21, in Washington, D. C., and elected officers the same day.

Joseph O'Neill, business representative for the Chicago local of Rectifiers of Spirits, Wine and Wholesale Liquor Workers' union, was elected president of the new international and James Dever, president of the same local, was elected 3d vice president. Both were active in forming the 45 unions into a national council, which operated on probation for two years before the international charter was obtained.

Method of Forming Union.

When a new union seeks a charter from the A. F. of L. an attempt is made to place it in one of the established international unions. A federal union is formed, however where there is no international union having jurisdiction over employes of the same craft. When a number of these federal unions have been formed they may join together and apply for an international charter.

Before the granting of the new charter, each of the 45 unions was a federal union directly affiliated with, and supervised by, the A. F. of L., altho the membership was composed of workers in distilleries, rectifying plants and wineries. The new international has been granted jurisdiction of these workers and also over wholesale liquor workers and salesmen. The charter provides that retail clerks and bartenders are not to be members in this international.

Potential Membership 60,000.

When all the unions officially have become a part of this international it will have 12,000 members, with a potential membership of 60,000 when all workers of the craft have been organized, according to Dever. The Chicago local he said, has a membership of more than 800.

O'Neill said he and his executive board would keep faith with the members and would run the international for the benefit of the members and not for personal gain.

"Altho each local union will be allowed to run its own affairs, its books will be audited regularly," he said. "If any union official is found to be running his union for his own personal gain, instead of for the benefit of the members, he will be expelled and the union involved will be run by the international until its affairs are straightened out."

BABYLONIAN HALL FRUIT OF 18 YEAR MUSEUM PROJECT

Exhibit Traces Life Back to 4000 B. C.

The opening of a hall of babylonian archaeology, representing 18 years of field work and research at a cost of a quarter of a million dollars, was the major accomplishment of the Field Museum of Natural History during 1940, Maj. Clifford C. Gregg, museum director, said yesterday.

Material in the display, opened in August, was obtained during 10 years of excavation on the site of the ancient city of Kish, in Iraq, by the Field Museum-Oxford university joint expedition, which began work in 1923.

"This hall represents one of the most ambitious projects in the reconstruction of the life and history of a long past epoch ever undertaken by this institution," Gregg said.

5,000 Pieces in Exhibit.

The 5,000 pieces in the exhibit present an intimate picture of the life of Babylon's citizens from 4000 B. C. to the fourth century A. D. and throw new light on an important early seat of civilization.

Other exhibits added this year were habitat groups of kiwi, red grouse, and fur seals, a diorama illustrating spring flora of the Chicago area, and a series of mural paintings by Julius Moessel illustrating the world's food plants and their uses.

Important field work of the year included the Magellanic expedition to southern Peru, Bolivia, Argentina, the Straits of Magellan, and stormy Tierra del Fuego at the tip of South America, in which a biological survey was made under the leadership of Dr. Wilfred H. Osgood, chief curator of zoölogy.

Caribbean Birds Collected.

In the early months of the year birds, fishes, mammals, and reptiles were collected in seldom visited islands of the Caribbean by the Leon Mandel expedition, and two expeditions to Guatemala continued the botany department's collection of flora there. Another botanical expedition, to Mexico and the southwestern United States, was concluded last year.

Deaths last year among persons connected with the museum included those of a trustee, Fred W. Sargent, and of two members of the scientific staff, Dr. Albert B. Lewis, curator of Melanesian ethnology, and Edmond N. Gueret, curator of anatomy and osteology.

Final figures on attendance at the museum are not yet complete for the year. Gregg said, however, that the number of visitors would exceed last year's total of 1,410,454.

REPORT SHOWS FIVE LYNCHINGS IN YEAR OF 1940

New York, Dec. 31 [Special].—Four Negroes and one white person were found to have been lynched in 1940, according to a report issued by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The association and other agencies are investigating the deaths of 10 other persons suspected of having been lynched, the report said.

The report, which said that lynchings in 1939 totaled four, added that of the lynchings this year two occurred in Georgia, two in Alabama, and one in Tennessee between March and September. In only one case, the report asserted, was the victim accused of a sex offense.

The cases under investigation include three in Georgia, four in Louisiana, and one each in Florida, Mississippi, and Tennessee.

The report declared that "not one of the lynchers of 1940 has been punished by the states," despite the "protestations of southern governors."

TWO THREE-DAY HOLIDAYS ARE ON 1941 CALENDAR

The calendar for 1941 promises two triple holidays. The Fourth of July will come on Friday and Labor day will be on Monday, giving most workers three days for celebration. The pay day column on the calendar shows that March, May, August, and November each will have five Saturdays. Like 1940, 1941 will have no more than the regular number of Fridays, 52. Two of last year's Fridays fell on the 13th, but only in June of 1941 will that unhappy combination of day and date occur.

ILLINOIS ASSUMES A MAJOR ROLE IN BUILDING DEFENSE

3 Guard Units Inducted; More to Go Soon.

Men and officers of the Illinois National Guard, a great many of them residents of Chicago and its suburbs, are playing an important part in the task of building a strong army for the United States.

Hundreds of guardsmen from this state already have begun the year's training required of them by the federal government. Thousands more will put business and home life behind them and begin their year's training within the next 60 days.

Three Units Already in Service.

Three units of the guard already have been mobilized and inducted into federal service. They are the 202d coast artillery [antiaircraft] regiment, composed almost entirely of Chicagoans; Company B of the 192d tank battalion, a Maywood unit, and the 106th cavalry regiment, whose men and officers are from Chicago and Springfield.

The 202d coast artillery which was ordered to Fort Bliss, Tex., on Sept. 19, was the first Illinois guard unit to be mustered into service. The 1,400 men and officers of the regiment now are established in their camp home and after the first of the year will begin intensive firing practice on a range of several hundred thousand acres leased by the government.

Maywood's tank company of 5 officers and 86 men left Nov. 28 for Fort Knox, Ky., where it joined the three other out of state companies of the 192d tank battalion. Altho the company had only two tanks at the time of its induction, war department officials reported that it was to be equipped with 19 new combat tanks.

Black Horse Troop to Leave.

The newly reorganized 106th cavalry regiment is a half mechanized, half mounted unit of 700 officers and men, 300 of them Chicagoans and the rest residents of the Springfield district. The mounted half of the regiment is Chicago's famous Black Horse troop, commanded by Maj. Roy D. Keehn Jr. The mechanized section is the former 23d reconnaisance car squadron of Springfield.

The regiment was to have been settled at Camp Livingston, La., on Nov. 25, but because of delays caused by storms and lack of housing only an advance unit has been sent thus far. The rest of the regiment is expected to begin leaving tomorrow.

Early this month two other guard units will be mustered. The 184th field artillery, Chicago's former 8th regiment of colored troops, will be sent to Camp Custer, Mich., for training. The regiment is equipped with 155 mm. howitzers. The 108th observation squadron of Chicago also will leave early this month for Battle Creek, Mich., near Camp Custer.

33D Division Leaves Feb. 6.

On Feb. 6 the 33d division of the Illinois National Guard, the major unit of the guard, which at present has a strength of 650 officers and 9,000 men, will enter federal service and begin training at Camp Peay, near Tullahoma, Tenn. Originally scheduled to begin training at the Tennessee camp early in January, the division met a delay in induction because of construction work there.

Units of the 33d division which will spend a year at Camp Peay are the headquarters and headquarters detachment, special troops, 108th medical regiment, 108th engineers [combat], 108th quartermaster regiment, 65th and 66th infantry brigades, and 58th field artillery brigade. The division is commanded by Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton.

FRAGMENT FOUND IN GREECE FROM APHRODITE BASE

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 31 [Special]. —Reports on studies of ancient objects in Greece and Rome were made last week to the Archaeological Institute of America at Johns Hopkins university.

Dr. Jerome Sperling of Yale university opened the session with a preliminary report on "explorations in Elis," the neighborhood of Olympia, in 1939.

Dr. A. E. Raubitschek of the institute for advanced study at Princeton identified a fragment of an inscribed base found in the American excavations in the Athenian agora as part of the pedestal of the statue of Aphrodite dedicated by Kallias, negotiator of the peace with Persia in 449 B. C. and made by the sculptor Kalamis.

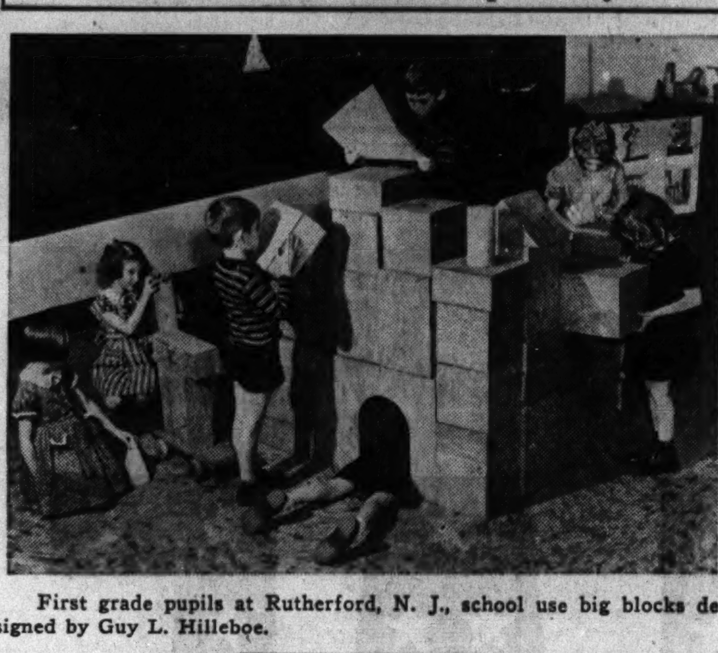
Prof. Rhys Carpenter of Bryn Mawr college, last year professor in charge of the classical school of the American academy in Rome, presented one of his studies of the well known statue called "Thusnelda," in the open Loggia del Lanzi on the main square of Florence, Italy, long regarded as a representation of a mourning captive personifying the captured Germany. He said a more critical inspection of its sculptural style suggested that it actually was a Roman copy of a Greek bronze original in the Polykleitan manner of the late fifth century B. C.

Mrs. Silva Lake of Haverford, Pa., presented a study of the prehistoric pottery of Tilka Tepe, a mound on the shore of Lake Van in the extreme eastern end of Turkey.

A discussion of some of the characteristics of the bronze age in Greece was presented by Prof. J. P. Harland of the University of North Carolina.

Prof. Oscar Broneer of the American school at Athens, now at the institute for advanced study, discussed Plato's description of early Athens in the light of archaeological research. He said the extravagant picture of early Athens which Plato gives in his Kritias is based on observations of the city as Plato knew it and on deductions from mythology and tradition.

Where Brains Develop Early



First grade pupils at Rutherford, N. J., school use big blocks designed by Guy L. Hilleboe.

Rutherford, N. J., Dec. 31 (AP).—School children in this quiet little community, which commuters built, are normal in every way except brains. They consistently show intelligence quotient averages higher than the nation's average and at times so high that even their questioners are puzzled.

The highest I. Q. of 90,000 children tested in New Jersey recently was that of a 13 year old Rutherford girl wtih a score of 190 and a mental age of 25. A younger junior high school boy had an I. Q. of 185, mental age of 20. But what is perhaps more significant is that approximately 100 of the 2,200 students in Rutherford's first 11 grades surveyed scored more than 140 points.

School officials have not determined definitely the reason for the mental superiority of their charges, but they have plenty of clews. Shortly after a child's birth, a Rutherford school nurse enters the home to give child health assistance. A child health history chart is started and kept up to date until school age.

Dr. Guy L. Hilleboe, supervising principal, says there is "one objective" in all Rutherford teaching methods: "The teachers must set up that kind of activity which will meet the individual needs of the children."

HOUSING COUNCIL WARNS AGAINST CITY TAX HIKES

Tax Committee Cites Defense Burdens.

The importance of maintaining basic public services in the city and the county at no increase in local taxes was emphasized yesterday in a report issued by the taxation committee of the metropolitan housing council.

The report, made public by D. E. Mackelmann, executive director of the council, was prepared by Joseph V. O'Neil, chairman of the committee and business manager of the Oakland-Kenwood Property Owners' association.

Because of the defense efforts of the country, a marked increase in federal taxation is inevitable, the committee reported. Reductions in local taxes must be effected wherever possible in order to avoid placing unreasonable burdens upon property owners and there should be no increases, the report asserted.

Praise City Budget Cuts.

The committee report praised the recent acceptance by the city council finance committee of many budgetary reduction recommendations made by a special survey staff.

The report attributed much of the local tax problem to the 49 per cent decline in the assessed value of Cook county real estate in the last 10 years. Following is a table of Cook county real estate valuations and tax rates for the years 1930 thru 1939:

Tax year.	Valuation.	Tax rate.
1930	$3,459,088,569	$6.74
1931	2,577,864,724	7.35
1932	1,912,629,137	7.73
1933	1,839,068,804	6.49
1934	1,827,923,958	7.12
1935	1,749,373,412	8.37
1936	1,704,102,801	9.52
1937	1,696,080,396	8.73
1938	1,698,235,204	9.12
1939	1,753,880,738	9.11

The report showed that while 21,000 dwelling units were razed from January, 1930, thru October, 1940, only 14,404 private dwelling units were constructed in the same period. Of the new dwellings, 3,133 were erected in 1939 and approximately 2,800 in 1940.

Suburb Migration Cited.

The committee report said the migration of families to the suburbs is injurious to Chicago. "The continuation of such migration of potential civic leaders from Chicago to the suburbs can not help but have a detrimental effect upon the civic life of the city," it stated.

"Since the ability of local governments to obtain revenue depends upon the ability of residents of Chicago to pay taxes, it is essential that tax rates be kept as low as is compatible with the maintenance of public services. At the same time all steps must be taken by the city to protect and further develop values in Chicago."

The report said real estate values would be enhanced by the work of the plan commission and the adequate enforcement of ordinances dealing with zoning, safety, and sanitation of buildings, garbage collection, street cleaning and the maintenance of adequate school and park facilities.

COURT PRETRIAL PARLEYS SAVE TAXPAYERS $55,660

Judge Oscar S. Caplan reported yesterday that more than 4,000 cases in which a demand for a jury trial had been made in the Municipal court have been disposed of since last September by the court's new streamlined pretrial conference system. Judge Caplan estimated that the taxpayers have been saved approximately $55,660 since that time by the new method of handling jury cases.

Judge Caplan presides over the court, which was started Sept. 4. Before a case goes to trial the court attempts to bring together the litigants and their attorneys at an informal conference for a settlement.

Of a total of 5,227 jury cases pending last September, 1,322 were settled by pretrial hearings. Cases settled by agreement, by bench, or jury trial brought the total number of cases disposed of to 4,030. Under the old system an average of 3.20 cases were disposed of daily while under the new system an average of six cases are disposed of each day.

OFFER MARITIME SERVICE COURSE TO LAKE SEAMEN

Coast Guard Appeals to Experienced Men.

Seamen and licensed deck and engineer officers working on Great Lakes merchant vessels have an opportunity to obtain three months' training at the United States maritime service training station at Hoffman Island, N. Y., Maritime Service Petty Officer Edward T. Witchek, first class, announced yesterday.

Sailors who enroll for the course will receive advanced training in boatmanship, hygiene and first aid, navigation, cargo handling, maritime law, seamanship, rigging and canvas work, Diesel engineering, machine shop practice, steam engineering, and dozens of other types of work. Knowledge of the work in which instruction is given is necessary for licensing and advancement in the merchant marine.

Quota Set at 25 a Week.

Witchek stated that enrollées are being taken primarily from the Great Lakes area. The coast guard recruiting office in room 754 in the federal building, where Witchek is special maritime service representative, has enrolled 35 sailors for the civilian course in less than two weeks. A quota of 25 a week has been established until Jan. 15 for the Chicago coast guard district.

Applicants must be American citizens more than 19 years of age. They must have served at least 12 months out of three years immediately prior to application on merchant vessels of the United States of 500 gross tons or more, operating on the Great Lakes or any ocean. Inexperienced men will not be considered.

Unlicensed personnel of the deck, engineer's, steward's and miscellaneous departments will receive $36 a month, in addition to transportation to and from Hoffman Island, meals, quarters, and a uniform clothing outfit. Licensed personnel [officers in charge of a watch] are eligible for enrollment as ensigns at $125 a month.

Regular Status to Be Offered.

At the expiration of the three month training period, satisfactory enrollées will be offered enrollment in a regular status in the maritime service before they leave the training station. No military obligation is imposed by enrollment.

The Hoffman Island station is administered by the coast guard, and instructors are selected from the coast guard and the maritime service. The purpose of the training course is to maintain a trained and efficient personnel for the operation of American merchant ships.

CHANGE IN SCOPE OF ENCYCLOPEDIA FORCED BY WAR

Science Project Becomes American Movement.

The European war has changed the International Encyclopedia of Unified Science from a world-wide project to an American movement, Prof. Charles W. Morris of the University of Chicago department of philosophy said yesterday.

Dr. Morris is an associate editor of the encyclopedia, and since the editor in chief, Otto Neurath, was interned on the Isle of Man by the British after his escape from invaded Holland, most of the work has been carried on at the university here.

The encyclopedia, an attempt to integrate philosophy and practical science more closely, is sponsored by the International Institute for the Unity of Sciences, which will hold its sixth international congress at the university next September.

15 or 20 Volumes Planned.

Two of the 15 to 20 volumes, each containing 10 monographs, are to be published by the University of Chicago Press as soon as possible.

Seven of the 10 monographs to be contained in the first volume already have been published independently by the University of Chicago Press, Dr. Morris said.

"The work is an effort of minds of a scientific temper to unify and integrate the methods and results of the sciences," explained. "It includes not only natural sciences but also sociohumanistic fields of intellectual endeavor.

Workers from Many Lands.

"When the project commenced our advisory committee consisted of men from Turkey, Austria, France, England, Poland, Denmark, and the United States. Most of these men are now in this country."

The institute formerly published the Journal of Unified Science in Germany but fled to Holland after the Nazis came to power. Publication of the journal was continued there until the German invasion.

Dr. Morris said he is continuing to correspond with Neurath, who was interned because of his Austrian passport. He said Neurath is permitted to receive only two letters a week.

FIND CHEMICAL TO KEEP HOLLY LEAVES INTACT

Washington, D. C., Dec. 31 [Special].—The bureau of plant industry of the United States department of agriculture has announced that Oregon experiment station horticulturists had found that a new chemical spray could make holly shatter-proof for several weeks so it could be shipped without leaves and berries falling off. Previously they had learned it would cause the red berries on uncut holly to set without pollination, a boon for greenhouse men growing potted holly for the Christmas trade.

The powerful chemical, which has caused the department of agriculture to issue a warning about its use until more detailed information about it has been assembled, is naphthalene acetic acid, a growth-regulating chemical sometimes described as a plant hormone substance.

The chemical is so effective that a spray of only one-half teaspoonful mixed with 100 gallons of water will prevent apples from dropping until they are fully matured. The Oregon scientists found that a spray of only one part naphthalene acetic acid to 10,000 parts of water would preserve holly.

LIQUOR CHARGES TOP CASES HEARD BY COMMISSIONS

Liquor law violations constituted nearly one-half of the cases brought before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker during 1940, according to figures made public yesterday. The total number of cases brought before Walker for arraignment and the setting of bonds was 687.

Next to liquor law violations, in order of numbers and importance, were postal violations, counterfeiting, narcotics violations, and cases under the jurisdiction of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The latter include principally violations of the Dyer motor vehicle act and the white slave law, with a few minor extortion cases.

About 95 per cent of the persons arraigned were held for grand jury action.

Women's Court Handles 15,225 Cases in 11 Months

During the first 11 months of 1940 the Women's court handled 15,225 cases, and sent 834 women to the Bridewell and 110 in the county jail, Judge Stephen Adamowski reported yesterday. He said improved conduct on the part of court audiences resulted in speedier disposition of cases.

PHYSICAL TESTS FOR DRAFT SHOW GAIN IN HEALTH

Nation Termed More Fit than in 1917.

Men of draft age in the United States today are far more physically fit than were those of 1917, it is stated in an editorial in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical association, published yesterday. The editorial analyzed the first official report on the results of physical examinations made by the nation's selective service boards.

The report analyzed was made by Col. Samuel J. Kopetzky, chief of the medical division of the selective service boards in New York City. It showed that of 1,643 draft registrants examined by New York's 120 local boards, 1,213 were accepted for general military service and 430 were rejected or marked for limited service.

88 Lack Sufficient Teeth.

Among the 430 were 88 rejected for insufficient teeth, 74 for defective vision, 66 for heart disease, 28 for infantile paralysis, 26 for underweight, 11 for overweight, and 2 for deficient height. Six were rejected because of syphilis and 90 were deferred for reexamination because they had positive reactions to syphilis tests.

"It has been urged that we are a nation of physical weaklings and that some sort of national health program is immediately necessary to improve our physical health," the editorial said.

"Actually, however, this sample of those rejected does not show any specific deterioration in the population. By comparison with previous records, it indicates that the general health of our nation is good.

Standards More Rigid.

"The standards of evaluation today are far more rigid than those which were utilized in 1917. The X-ray for determining the presence or absence of lung diseases and the modern technic for examining various portions of the body, laboratory methods for detecting changes in the blood, the Wassermann test, and similar methods of study were not used in examination of recruits in world war No. 1.

"In 1917-'18 about 10 per cent of the draftees were rejected because of manifest tuberculosis. The mortality from that disease has declined 75 per cent in the last quarter century among men of draft age.

"Among men of the ages of 21 to 35 the reduction in heart disease mortality among those holding policies in one insurance company was 40 per cent for white men and 60 per cent for Negroes.

Knowledge of Diet Increases.

"Our knowledge of diet, our greatly increased understanding of many diseases of the glands, the improvement in child health that has taken place in the last 20 years—all this evidence indicates that from the point of view of physical fitness we are a better nation now than we were in 1917.

"We are not a nation of weaklings. Among the 16 million men registered under the selective service act, there can be found without too intensive a combing a sufficient number for training not only this year, but in the years to come."

LEWIS INSTITUTE SETS NEW MARK IN ENROLLMENT

The winter quarter of the Lewis Institute of arts and sciences division of the Illinois Institute of Technology opens tomorrow with about 450 students returning to classes. The enrollment is the largest on record at the division. The quarter will end March 21.

Dr. C. L. Clarke, dean of the division, said several new courses are on the schedule. These include courses in applied ceramics, Chaucer, elementary Spanish, and vocational home economics.

40 CALIFORNIA COMMUNITIES GO TO TOWN TODAY

Occasion: Pasadena's Rose Festival.

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 31 [Special].—Nearly 40 California communities will be represented in the mile and a half floral procession of "America in flowers" to be presented as part of the 52d annual Tournament of Roses here tomorrow.

Twenty bands and 300 saddle horses will add zest to the show. About 1,500,000 spectators are expected.

All California Affair.

The Tournament of Roses has become an all-California spectacle rather than strictly a Pasadena one and is recognized out here as the formal inauguration of the winter season. The throngs pour in early in the morning, go into raptures over the flowers—roses are given preference—and see everything from George Washington on horseback to John Paul Jones' ship done in living blossoms.

Only a small portion of the crowds, the 90,000 that the Rose bowl will hold, watch the Rose bowl football game—this year Stanford against Nebraska—in the afternoon. Then the visitors go home and what they remember having seen is much of the Tournament of Roses and very little of Pasadena.

Started in 1890.

Started Jan. 1, 1890, as a New Year's picnic by a hunt club, the Tournament of Roses was essentially a community fête. It remains a community fête, but now it takes in many more communities. In all fundamentals this floral pageant, now the oldest of American folk festivals, maintains its character despite the fact that towns many miles from Pasadena are as interested in preparing for the Tournament of Roses as is the host city.

Particularly is this true of the smaller communities. Large cities like Los Angeles and San Francisco may appropriate $10,000 or $15,000 for a float and leave everything to a hired director in the hope that he will bring them back a sweepstakes cup or at least a divisional first prize. But likely enough it will be a small place like Santa Barbara or Burbank or Sierra Madre or Laguna Beach that will walk off with the honors with an entry which almost the whole town helped make.

IRISH TEST PEAT AS NEW SOURCE OF ELECTRICITY

War Lends Urgency to Experiments.

BY HUGH CURRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN [By Mail].—Ireland already is producing electric power from her water resources. The big hydroelectric project at Ardnacrusha, near Limerick city which was carried out by a German firm, was one of the biggest enterprises inaugurated by the Cosgrave government. It harnessed the water power of the river Shannon for the production of electricity.

Whether it proved more economical than production by coal is a moot point, but it has made it possible to produce electricity otherwise than from coal, of which this country has inadequate supplies. Now, because of the war and the danger of coal supplies being cut off or greatly reduced because of shipping difficulties, the urgency of developing alternative means is greatly increased.

Second Project Nearly Finished.

A second hydroelectric project now is nearing completion on the River Liffey, which enters the sea at Dublin. This undertaking, in addition to producing electricity, will provide Dublin with an assured supply of water. The River Vartry is the only existing source.

A reservoir extending over 5,000 acres has been completed on the upper reaches of the Liffey. From this Dublin will be able to get 20 million gallons of water a day.

A novel feature of the government's plans for increasing the production of electricity is the proposal to use peat in place of coal. Ireland has immense areas of bog land which it has not yet put to any effective use. Some years ago an attempt was made to produce peat, or turf, as a substitute for coal for domestic purposes, but this effort encountered much difficulty. The use of peat in the home required the institution of new types of grates, and the fire from peat was not so clean as that from coal.

Experiments Carried Out.

Experiments are now being carried out in one of the largest bogs in the midlands to see whether it is possible to use peat for the production of electric power. Between four and five million dollars has been voted by the government to pay for the experiments in Clonsast bog.

The immediate area consists of 4,000 acres which, it is estimated, can provide peat for at least twenty-five years. The generating plant will use 120,000 tons of peat each year. About 400 persons will be employed.

SECRET SERVICES IN CHICAGO TOPS 90% CONVICTIONS

The United States secret service department for this district hung up a record of 90.3 per cent convictions in counterfeiting cases and 97.5 per cent in check cases during 1940, according to a report issued yesterday by Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan, district head.

There were 188 counterfeiting cases reported in the district, of which 155 were closed. Out of the 72 arrests made there were 65 convictions. In 1,747 other cases reported, 1,542 were closed, and 197 convictions were obtained out of 202 arrests.

Cases in Renters' Court Are Fewest Since 1929

Fewer cases were handled by Renters' court last year than at any time since 1929, Judge Francis Borrelli said yesterday in submitting his annual report to the chief justice of Municipal court. During 1940 only 23,162 cases went thru the court, fewest since the 1929 low of 22,696.
